BIG 5 OUT OF PALESTINE INQUEST

Need 2 Weeks To Align House, Senate Bills

Labor Measure Is Sped To Conference

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—A massive coalition of Republicans and Democrats rammed through the Senate today a history-making bill to check strikes and other union activities. The vote was 68 to 24, enough to override a Presidential veto, if the lineup remains unchanged.

The measure was sped to a Senate-House Conference to adjust differences between it and an even more sweeping bill which the House passed earlier—also by more than the two-thirds required to cancel a veto.

Unions Protest

Passage followed storms of bitter protest by union leaders that Congress is out to crush organized labor. Those on the winning side argued that union leaders have become dangerously arrogant and that legislation is needed to redress injustices and economy-crippling strife.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee and the Labor Committee, estimated it will take 10 days to two weeks to iron out differences in the House and Senate Bills.

Then President Truman must make one of the most important decisions in recent American history.

Senators on the Conference Committee include Taft, Ball (R-Minn), Ives (R-NY), Murray (D-Mont) and Ellender, (DLa). The latter three argued for a milder version of labor legislation, but only Murray voted against the Senate's version on final passage.

Chairman Hartley (R-NJ) of the Labor Committee said he will ask the House tomorrow to send the bill to conference, where he intends to work for a measure "strong enough to override a veto."

"I feel quite confident we'll get a good compromise bill," he told a reporter.

After conferring with House Republican Leader Halleck (Ind), Hartley said President Truman will not be consulted on the possibility of drafting a compromise the Chief Executive might be willing to sign.

"My disposition," he said, "is to go along pretty much with the Senate bill. But we have plenty of room for trading, and I think we should retain the House ban on mass picketing and a 'bill of rights' for labor."

Bill of Rights Provision Inserted

The bill of rights provisions was inserted with the stated intent of protecting members from coercion or unjust practices of unions.

The House leadership agreed to name the three top Republicans and two top Democrats on the Labor Committee as conferees. They are Hartley, and Reps. Landis (R-Ind), Hoffman (R-Mich), Lesinski (D-Mich), and Barden (D-NC).

Both the Senate and House measures (1) permit the government to seek injunctions against national emergency strikes such as a coal tieup, (2) ban the closed shop, (3)

Federal Highway Act Extended, Beall Says

WASHINGTON, May 13, (AP) — Rep. Beall (R-Md) said today that a one-year extension of the post-war Federal Highway Act, approved yesterday by the House, would permit full participation by states in the program.

The highway act provides that the Federal Government furnish $500,000,000 yearly for roads for three years, states participating matching federal funds on a 50-50 basis.

The amendment passed by the House would extend the first year period for an additional 12 months. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Beall, ranking member of the House Subcommittee on Roads and Highways and former chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, said that "more than 50 per cent of the funds provided for the first year would have been lost," if the period had not been extended.

Beall said Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, had written him urging the extension and Beall said the Maryland road program, along with others in the country "would have been seriously handicapped" if no extension were granted.

May Sought Aid From Eisenhower, Letter Reveals

Appealed In Garsson Court Martial Case

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) — Evidence that Anwrew J. May appealed several times to Secretary of War Patterson for the munitions making Garssons — and wrote General Eisenhower on behalf of a court-martialed Garsson—was given today to the jury trying the ex-Congressman.

Patterson was a star witness for the government which charges that May, while chairman of the House Military Committee, took $55,000 in bribes for wartime favors to Murray and Henry Garsson, and their Washington agent, Joseph F. Freeman. All four are on trial.

A New York Banker, Henry G. Barber, executive vice president of the National Bronx Bank, testified that Freeman paid off four notes owed the bank by May, using proceeds from a $10,000 check made out to Murray Garsson.

Barber said Freeman appeared with the check in June, 1942, and retired four May notes owed since August, 1941, and totalling $5,261.24, including interest. The banker said he was told that Freeman brought the check because Garsson was ill.

The prosecution introduced two letters from May to Eisenhower in 1945 — and Eisenhower's profunctory reply. May asked the General, then Allied Commander in Europe, to review personally the court martial of Capt. Joseph Garsson, charged with refusal to obey a battlefield command. He is a son of Murray Garsson.

Eisenhower's two-sentenee letter advised he was referring the correspondence to court martial reviewing officers.

Capt. Garsson later obtained suspension of a court martial verdict which had ordered his discharge.

Patterson related that the 72-year-old May had asked him on March 24, 1945, to provide an "E" award to a Garsson firm, the Batavia (Ill.) Metal Products Company. Another time, he said, May protested withholding of $800,000 from the Erie Basin Metal Products Company, a Garsson concern. It had been held up pending contract renegotiations.

Hunger Strikes Are Feared In Germany

BERLIN, May 13, (AP) — United States military government quarters at Frankfurt expressed fear today that an outbreak of hunger strikes and demonstrations may develop in the American zone.

Official observers at strategic centers in the zone reported the danger of unrest was "greater than at any time since the end of the war" as the result of the critical food shortage in Western Germany.

Check Of O'Conor's Votes In 17 Counties Suggested

Sen. Says Markey's Claims Sustained

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iwa.) said today he will recommend to the Senate Rules Committee tomorrow a recount of 180,000 paper ballots in 17 Maryland counties in the contested election of Senator O'Conor (R-Md.).

Hickenlooper, who said he will resign tomorrow as chairman of the Senate Subcommittee which has been investigating O'Conor's election, said he did not speak for the rest of the committee.

He told reporters that "based on all information we have to date" claims made by D. John Markey, defeated Republican candidate, "that he would make substantial gains in the recount have been sustained."

Bricker Promises Aid

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said he will support Hickenlooper's recommendation. Senator Myers (D-Pa.) the other member of the three-man committee, said he will oppose the suggestion. O'Conor was not immediately available for comment.

O'Conor won the election with an official state margin of 2,232 votes. Markey claimed errors and irregularities and said a fair count would give him a margin of 10,000 to 15,000.

Hickenlooper said a check of voting machine totals made last December in Baltimore City and Montgomery County gave Markey, a retired brigadier general, 426 additional votes.

A recount of 60,000 paper ballots in five other counties was completed in late April and Hickenlooper said the results of this check showed a "trend in Markey's favor.' He added "I don't pretent to say that from this Markey will win the election."

Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), named Senator Brooks (R-Ill.), chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, as Hickenlooper's successor on the committee, was present at today's closed hearing, as was Francis T. Kelly, committee staff investigator, and Senator Tydings (R-Md.). Tydings made no comment to reporters.

Hickenlooper said he will recommend to the Rules Committee that "the other 17 counties be opened and ballots counted" and also that "the subcommittee, in order to expedite the count of ballots, use such steps as they determine in contested ballots to establish categories of error."

Can Set Pattern

By using "categories of error," Hickenlooper said, "a pattern can be set up so that challengers in the other 17 counties will have a little more guidance. They will know what is clearly bad and what is clearly good. Others will be of the maybe yes, maybe no category."

At a previous meeting Hicken-

Italian Premier Resigns For Third Time In 19 Months

De Gasperi May Get Chance At New Cabinet

ROME, May 13 (AP) — Alcide de Gasperi resigned as Premier of Italy today for the third time in 19 months as the result of a feud between his Centrist Christian Democratic Party and Communists and Socialists which ripped apart his three-party coalition cabinet.

Provisional President Enrico de Nicola received the cabinet's resignation this afternoon, just before the Constituent Assembly was to start debate on de Gasperi's rigorous program to combat a spiral of inflation. The aged President "reserved decision" as to his course of action.

Became Premier In 1945

Most observers thought that the lean, hawk-faced de Gasperi, who first became Premier December 10, 1945, would get a chance to form another government—if he wanted it.

The big questions were:

1. Would the Christian Democrat leader—worn by months of striving to keep an uneasy balance between his party and the left, and admittedly worried over the country's support—try again?

2. Would he or another premier attempt to govern without the powerful Italian Communist party and the pro-Communist wing of the Socialists?

In a radio address to the Italian nation tonight, de Gasperi appealed for confidence to bolster Italy's economy and admitted that his cabinet, because of "organizational difficulties," had failed to stem the decline of the lira, peg prices or eliminate the black market.

Insists On Measures

He insisted, however, that 10 of the 14 anti-inflation measures his ministry mapped recently had been or were being put into effect and that economy steps have been instituted.

De Gasperi's cabinet was the sixth Italian ministry to go into discard since the Allies occupied Rome in June, 1943.

The crisis had been brewing for days, and came to a head over the premier's announced plan to inform the assembly that he would launch a new economic program and broaden the base of government so as to include virtually all political factions in the country.

De Nicola began conferences tonight with political leaders on the formation of a new government.

As always in post-war Italian crises, the "three old men"—former Premiers Vittorio E. Orlando, 87; Francesco S. Nitti, 79; and Ivanoe Bonomi, 74—were being mentioned for the premiership.

Schacht Is Bitter At German Court

STUTTGART, Germany, May 13 (AP) — Hjalmar Schacht expressed bitterness toward German justice to day a few hours after a Denazification court convicted him as a major Nazi offender and sentenced him to eight years imprisonment in a labor camp. He will be put on a work gang if his health permits.

Thep inch-faced 70-year-old financial expert, who was acquitted seven months ago of war crimes charges before the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg, appeared confident that the sentence pronounced by the all-German court might still be reversed.

"Just you wait and see," he said to reporters. "How can you make a criminal out of a man whom Hitler put into a concentration camp?"

Schacht, who found the money for Hitler's autobahns, a hidden air force and the first armored divisions, hit back at the court's ruling that he knew of the Nazi conspiracy to wage aggressive war and helped it along with his financial schemes. The ruling, in fact, was in contradiction to the finding of the International Military Tribunal that he was unaware of the conspiracy.

The court did not take account of the year Schacht spent in a concentration camp because he was suspected of plotting the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler. The weight of the judgment was directed against his earlier activities.

His attorney, Fritz Schwamberger, said the conviction would be appealed promptly to the highest German court.

Denazification officers ordered confiscation of all but $1,000 of Schacht's personal fortune valued officially at $119,000.

Packard Prices Rise

DETROIT, May 13, (AP) — The Packard Motor Car Company today announced price increases ranging from $75 to $224, effective immediately, on all its current models of six and eight cylinder cars.

In announcing the increases, George T. Christopher, Packard president, expressed regret that the company could not reduce prices or maintain previous levels.

Chinese Reds Destroy Rail Line

PEIPING, May 13 (AP) —Chinese Communists today signaled the withdrawal of the Fifth Marine Regiment from Peiping by destroying several miles of the Peiping-Linyu rail line a few hours after 500 leathernecks passed over it.

Still waiting to use the line, however, were 350 more Marines.

The troops, all members of the Fifth Marine Regiment, had helped guard the Peiping-Tientsin section of the line since they came here 19 months ago and were welcomed with almost hysterical excitement by the Chinese. The railroad and a paralleling highway were essential communications routes for supplying the recently disbanded Peiping truce headquarters.

Col. Julian N. Frisbie, Springfield, Ill., commander of the Fifth Marines, and 500 men of his command rode the line from Peiping to Chinwangtao without incident and began boarding two transports for Guam and the United States.

Behind were 350 other members of the Fifth Regiment, who had taken a 75-vehicle convoy from Peiping to Tientsin. They loaded their vehicles onto boats for shipment to Chinwangtao and were preparing to board a train for their own final lap when they received news that the line had been wrecked in several places.

Chinese officials blamed Communist guerrillas, who many times in the past temporarily had disrupted sections of the railroad

NFTW Ends Phone Strike In 5 States

Western Electric Rejects Wage Offer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13, (AP) — Settlement of the 37-day strike by the National Federation of Telephone Workers against the five-state Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, subject to ratification by union members, was announced by a Federal Conciliation official tonight.

Conciliator Omar F. Hoskins, announcing conclusion of the agreement, told newsmen:

"This concludes, subject to the members' ratification, the whole NFTW strike in the far west."

The area affected included the three Pacific coast states, Nevada and part of Idaho.

Letter Written By Former House Banker Produced

Tells Rep. "We Are Guilty Of Fraud"

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The fund-shortage trial of Kenneth Romney, former sergeant-at-arms in the House of Representatives, today produced a letter in which Romney wrote a former Florida Congressman that "we have been jointly guilty of fraud."

The letter, to John H. Smithwick in 1931, also said:

"You have had the use of approximately $1,000,000 in the last seven years x x x. The checks held and 'kited' through this office would easily approximate $1,000,000 and made possible all of your operations in Florida and Maryland."

Romney, who ran the House "bank" in the seargent-at-arms' office for 16 years until the Republicans took over and investigated the office last January, is on trial charged with fraud and concealing a $143,836 shortage.

Plan For National Strike Is Reported

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 13 (AP) —A nation-wide 24-hour general strike in protest against labor legislation was reported under consideration today by a representative of the Longshoremens' Association AFL but national headquarters of the AFL and CIO said they knew nothing about such a plan.

Al Chittenden, president of the New Orleans Local of the Longshoremens' Association (AFL), said labor leaders were planning mass meetings on May 21 throughout the country to consider a general workstoppage as a protest against pending legislation.

Chittenden was here for a Longshoremens' convention.

In Washington, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany of the AFL said he had "never heard" of the proposal. A spokesman at CIO headquarters in Washington said the national office "knows nothing about such a plan."

Union Disagrees On Company Offer

WASHINGTON, May 13, (AP)—The Western Electric Company made its first wage offer today to striking workers but the union rejected it and disagreed with the company on what was offered.

S. P. Schwartz, Labor Relations manager for the installation division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company Manufacturing subsidiary, issued a statement describing the offer as follows:

Basic wage increases ranging between $2.40 and $3.20 a week, plus an average of $1.03 a week in "special payments" such as added compensation when workers move from place to place.

Schwartz said the total thus was $3.43 to $4.23 a week, depending on geographical location.

Ernest Weaver of Chicago, president of the Association of Communication Equipment Workers, a union of 20,000 installation men, told newsmen earlier that the basic wage offer ranged from zero to $3.20.

There was also disagreement on what the union is demanding.

Weaver said the union wants a wage structure starting at $1 an hour and rising automatically to $2.05 an hour in five years. He said this structure would mean immediate pay raises ranging between $2 and $12 a week.

Schwartz said this was "incorrect," and that the union's proposed wage structure means that the union demanded a flat increase of $12 a week.

Schwartz said this increase, "with the change in wage structure demanded by the union, would require wage increases of from $12 to $32 per week, and these figures do not include the union's demands for increased special payments."

Truman Portal Pay Message Is Expected

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — The White House announced today that President Truman will send a message to Congress tomorrow on the controversial bill outlawing most portal pay claims.

Charles G. Ross, Presidential secretary, gave no inkling of Mr. Truman's decision.

"There will be either a veto message or a memorandum of approval," Ross told newsmen.

Mr. Truman has until midnight tomorrow to sign or veto the measure, which has been criticized by union leaders such as AFL President William Green as a "pernicious" blow at labor's gains and praised by industrial spokesmen as a life-saver for business.

17 Are Hurt As Wind Hits Trailer Camp

42 Wheeled Homes Damaged In Ohio

FINDLAY, O., May 13 (AP) — A tornado razed a trailer camp near here today injuring 17 persons — three seriously — and destroying some 42 of the wheeled residences.

In Findlay itself, three city employes were injured when the storm smashed the city barn housing street cleaning equipment. Two women were injured in other parts of the city.

Three ambulances rushed the injured to Findlay Hospital after the twister leveled the camp. Three of the 45 trailers were left standing but these, too, were damaged.

Corporal T. A. Brindle of the State Highway Patrol estimated the casualties.

Strikes At 4 P. M.

The tornado roared in from the Southwest at 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) and was preceded by a heavy hailstorm. Some of the hailstones were described as about one and three-quarter inches in diameter.

The storm shut off electric power to half this city of 22,000 population. Trees were blown over and roofs whisked from their fastenings.

Full impact of the storm, however, fell on the trailer camp at the Eastern limits of the city.

Lifts Roof Off Trailer

Mrs. C. L. Wakefield, who lives in the camp, told newsmen the twister lifted off the roof of her trailer porch and then churned up the dwelling of her daughter, Mrs. Kyle Linger several yards distant.

"My daughter was getting supper in the trailer and before I knew it she and her daughter Carol Sue, 5, were pinned beneath the wreckage."

"I rushed over and broke through the side and pulled them out," Mrs. Wakefield said.

All-White Jury Seated In Negro Lynching Trial

31 Men To Be Tried For Murdering Youth

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 13 (AP)—South Carolina, where negroes are not permitted to vote in the decisive Democratic primaries and where "white supremacy" is sometimes a political campaign cry, began an unprecedented mass trial today of 31 white men charged with lynching a young negro.

An all-white male jury was seated shortly before noon to hear the state's case against 28 taxi drivers and three business men of Greenville, accused of the February 17 pre-dawn abduction of 24-year old Willie Earle from a Pickens county jail and his later slaying on a quiet country road across from a slaughter house near here. Earle was held on suspicion in connection with the stabbing of T. W. Brown, local taxi driver, who later died.

Defense Attorney Tom Wofford announced he would contest the admission into state's evidence of statements by some of the defendants. He said he understood the prosecution would rely upon the testimony of officers as to the alleged statements.

J. Robert Martin, Jr., 37-year-old judge, refused a motion by Wofford that the prosecuting witnesses be segregated.

The first witness, Dr. J. T. Converse, county physician, testified Earle was killed by a shotgun wound in the head. He said none of the five stab wounds on his body would have caused death. He told the jury he could not be certain whether the negro had been shot more than once.

Never before have as many as 31 white men been brought into court for an offense against a negro.

The jury was completed this morning. Eight textile workers—two salesmen—a shipping clerk, and a farmer, comprise the jury.

42 Are Missing

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 13—(AP)—Forty-two persons were reported missing tonight after a motor launch sank in the Gulf of Nicoya near Puntarenas. About 110 other passengers were saved.

U. N. Names 11 Small Nations To Investigate

Action Represents Victory Of U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—With the Arab states abstaining in protest, the United Nations Assembly's political committee late today excluded the Big Five from membership on the Palestine inquiry commission. It then named 11 smaller countries as the U.N. group to investigate the Holy Land problems this summer.

The inquiry group named by the committee is composed of Czechoslovakia, Canada, The Netherlands, Peru, Uruguay, Iran, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Guatemala, Australia and India.

The Arab-country delegations — Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia—abstained on all the critical ballots at the afternoon session in evident pursuit of the declaration by their leaders that they might even walk out of the U.N. Palestine Assembly and might refuse to co-operate in the U.N. inquiry.

Victory For U. S.

The action represented a victory for the United States, which had maintained from the start of the assembly April 28 that the Big Five should not take part in the U.N. investigation. The committee decisions now go to the 55-nation assembly for final approval.

In a final Arab protest against the turn of the committee's decisions, Dr. Charles Malik, Lebanon, reserved the position of his government on the whole Palestine matter before the assembly.

Syria, Iraq, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia quickly followed suit after Malik told the committee:

"I am unable to subscribe to it (the committee report) one way or the other and I reserve the right of my government regarding every future occasion."

The full committee, by a 39 to 3 vote, finally endorsed the list of 11 members of the commission. There were 10 abstentions. The committee adjourned at 5:45 p. m. (E.D.T.)

The Arabs suffered another in a series of setbacks this morning when the committee completed instructions to the inquiry commission without mentioning independence for Palestine as an objective, a point on which the Arabs have insisted.

The committee this afternoon, in a rapid series of votes:

1. Defeated a Russian proposal for the inquiry commission to have the same membership as the 11-nation security council, including the Big Five.

Russian Proposal Defeated

2. Defeated an alternate Russian proposal for a commission of 11 members, constituted along the geographic lines like those in the Security Council but not having the same membership of small nations.

3. Defeated a Polish proposal for a commission of the Big Five and six smaller nations, also on a geographic basis.

4. Approved an Australian motion for an 11-nation commission excluding the five great powers.

Arab leaders declared grimly that their five delegations might walk out of the United Nations Palestine Assembly and that the Arab world might refuse to co-operate in any U.N. inquiry into the troubled Holy Land.

The Arab spokesman talked unofficially but with grave emphasis as the assembly's Political Committee batted down attempts by Russia and India, supported by the Arab countries, to write a suggestion for independence of Palestine into orders drawn up for a special U.N. inquiry commission.

Sailor Sought In Woman's Death

LOS ANGELES, May 13—(AP)—Search was under way tonight, Police Capt. Loren Q. Martin said, for a 21-year-old sailor who left a Long Beach Cafe with Mrs. Elizabeth Trelstad, 37-year-old mother of three, shortly before she died—fifth victim of the "Black Dahlia" series of sex slayings.

Martin said two bartenders and two patrons of the cafe had identified Mrs. Trelstad as a patron Sunday night. They said she departed in company with the sailor, whose age was taken from the Navy identification card he displayed to obtain a drink.

Cash-In Date Of Sugar Stamp 12 Moved Up To June 1 From July 1

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The government today moved up the cash-in date of the next sugar ration stamp from July 1 to June 1, but said it must last for five months.

The stamp, spare No. 12, will be good for 10 pounds.

An Agriculture Department announcement said it must last until Oct. 31, when rationing and price controls expire.

Today's action was taken, the department said, to speed sugar into consumer channels before the heavy movement of wheat and other commodities this summer burdens transportation facilities.

Supplies from a big Cuban crop are piling up in Eastern refinery centers to create a "temporary surplus," partly because consumers have been slow to cash in spare stamp No. 11 which became valid April 1 for 10 pounds.

The action came as many in the sugar industry predicted either an end of rationing before Oct. 31 or an increase in the ration because of improved supply prospects and slowness of some European countries to take Cuban supplies.

The government has promised individual consumers 35 pounds this year compared with 25 last year.

Vitamin "C" Acts Like Popeye's Spinach When It Gets Into Blood

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP) — Vitamin C acts like Popeye's spinach when the vitamin gets into the blood. The white blood cells take a bite of the C and then grab and literally squeeze the life out of disease germs by engulfing them, a natural process known as phagocytosis.

This discovery, described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists, possibly explains why physicians have been prescribing Vitamin C as a preventative of common colds and why surgeons give it before operations to promote faster healing of wounds.

The germ-killing experiments, financed by the United States Public Health Service, were done at the University of Michigan by Ada May Ames and Dr. W. J. Nungester of the Department of Bacteriology.

White cells taken from guinea pigs were placed in test tubes containing germs. When the pigs were deficient in vitamin C, the white cells were sluggish, and only 30 to 35 per cent of them attacked the test tube germs.

But after the pigs had been fed adequate Vitamin C, this vitamin appeared inside the white cells and 80 to 90 per cent of them grabbed their germs.

BIG 5 OUT OF PALESTINE INQUEST

Need 2 Weeks To Align House, Senate Bills

Labor Measure Is Sped To Conference

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—A massive coalition of Republicans and Democrats rammed through the Senate today a history-making bill to check strikes and other union activities. The vote was 68 to 24, enough to override a Presidential veto, if the lineup remains unchanged.

The measure was sped to a Senate-House Conference to adjust differences between it and an even more sweeping bill which the House passed earlier—also by more than the two-thirds required to cancel a veto.

Unions Protest

Passage followed storms of bitter protest by union leaders that Congress is out to crush organized labor. Those on the winning side argued that union leaders have become dangerously arrogant and that legislation is needed to redress injustices and economy-crippling strife.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee and the Labor Committee, estimated it will take 10 days to two weeks to iron out differences in the House and Senate Bills.

Then President Truman must make one of the most important decisions in recent American history.

Senators on the Conference Committee include Taft, Ball (R-Minn), Ives (R-NY), Murray (D-Mont) and Ellender, (DLa). The latter three argued for a milder version of labor legislation, but only Murray voted against the Senate's version on final passage.

Chairman Hartley (R-NJ) of the Labor Committee said he will ask the House tomorrow to send the bill to conference, where he intends to work for a measure "strong enough to override a veto."

"I feel quite confident we'll get a good compromise bill," he told a reporter.

After conferring with House Republican Leader Halleck (Ind), Hartley said President Truman will not be consulted on the possibility of drafting a compromise the Chief Executive might be willing to sign.

"My disposition," he said, "is to go along pretty much with the Senate bill. But we have plenty of room for trading, and I think we should retain the House ban on mass picketing and a 'bill of rights' for labor."

Bill of Rights Provision Inserted

The bill of rights provisions was inserted with the stated intent of protecting members from coercion or unjust practices of unions.

The House leadership agreed to name the three top Republicans and two top Democrats on the Labor Committee as conferees. They are Hartley, and Reps. Landis (R-Ind), Hoffman (R-Mich), Lesinski (D-Mich), and Barden (D-NC).

Federal Highway Act Extended, Beall Says

WASHINGTON, May 13, (AP) — Rep. Beall (R-Md) said today that a one-year extension of the post-war Federal Highway Act, approved yesterday by the House, would permit full participation by states in the program.

The highway act provides that the Federal Government furnish $500,000,000 yearly for roads for three years, states participating matching federal funds on a 50-50 basis.

The amendment passed by the House would extend the first year period for an additional 12 months. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Beall, ranking member of the House Subcommittee on Roads and Highways and former chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, said that "more than 50 per cent of the funds provided for the first year would have been lost," if the period had not been extended.

Beall said Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, had written him urging the extension and Beall said the Maryland road program, along with others in the country "would have been seriously handicapped" if no extension were granted.

May Sought Aid From Eisenhower, Letter Reveals

Appealed In Garsson Court Martial Case

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) — Evidence that Anwrew J. May appealed several times to Secretary of War Patterson for the munitions making Garssons — and wrote General Eisenhower on behalf of a court-martialed Garsson—was given today to the jury trying the ex-Congressman.

Patterson was a star witness for the government which charges that May, while chairman of the House Military Committee, took $55,000 in bribes for wartime favors to Murray and Henry Garsson, and their Washington agent, Joseph F. Freeman. All four are on trial.

A New York Banker, Henry G. Barber, executive vice president of the National Bronx Bank, testified that Freeman paid off four notes owed the bank by May, using proceeds from a $10,000 check made out to Murray Garsson.

Barber said Freeman appeared with the check in June, 1942, and retired four May notes owed since August, 1941, and totalling $5,261.24, including interest. The banker said he was told that Freeman brought the check because Garsson was ill.

The prosecution introduced two letters from May to Eisenhower in 1945 — and Eisenhower's profunctory reply. May asked the General, then Allied Commander in Europe, to review personally the court martial of Capt. Joseph Garsson, charged with refusal to obey a battlefield command. He is a son of Murray Garsson.

Eisenhower's two-sentenee letter advised he was referring the correspondence to court martial reviewing officers.

Capt. Garsson later obtained suspension of a court martial verdict which had ordered his discharge.

Patterson related that the 72-year-old May had asked him on March 24, 1945, to provide an "E" award to a Garsson firm, the Batavia (Ill.) Metal Products Company. Another time, he said, May protested withholding of $800,000 from the Erie Basin Metal Products Company, a Garsson concern. It had been held up pending contract renegotiations.

Hunger Strikes Are Feared In Germany

BERLIN, May 13, (AP) — United States military government quarters at Frankfurt expressed fear today that an outbreak of hunger strikes and demonstrations may develop in the American zone.

Official observers at strategic centers in the zone reported the danger of unrest was "greater than at any time since the end of the war" as the result of the critical food shortage in Western Germany.

Check Of O'Conor's Votes In 17 Counties Suggested

Sen. Says Markey's Claims Sustained

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iwa.) said today he will recommend to the Senate Rules Committee tomorrow a recount of 180,000 paper ballots in 17 Maryland counties in the contested election of Senator O'Conor (R-Md.).

Hickenlooper, who said he will resign tomorrow as chairman of the Senate Subcommittee which has been investigating O'Conor's election, said he did not speak for the rest of the committee.

He told reporters that "based on all information we have to date" claims made by D. John Markey, defeated Republican candidate, "that he would make substantial gains in the recount have been sustained."

Bricker Promises Aid

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said he will support Hickenlooper's recommendation. Senator Myers (D-Pa.) the other member of the three-man committee, said he will oppose the suggestion. O'Conor was not immediately available for comment.

O'Conor won the election with an official state margin of 2,232 votes. Markey claimed errors and irregularities and said a fair count would give him a margin of 10,000 to 15,000.

Hickenlooper said a check of voting machine totals made last December in Baltimore City and Montgomery County gave Markey, a retired brigadier general, 426 additional votes.

A recount of 60,000 paper ballots in five other counties was completed in late April and Hickenlooper said the results of this check showed a "trend in Markey's favor.' He added "I don't pretent to say that from this Markey will win the election."

Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), named Senator Brooks (R-Ill.), chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, as Hickenlooper's successor on the committee, was present at today's closed hearing, as was Francis T. Kelly, committee staff investigator, and Senator Tydings (R-Md.). Tydings made no comment to reporters.

Hickenlooper said he will recommend to the Rules Committee that "the other 17 counties be opened and ballots counted" and also that "the subcommittee, in order to expedite the count of ballots, use such steps as they determine in contested ballots to establish categories of error."

Can Set Pattern

By using "categories of error," Hickenlooper said, "a pattern can be set up so that challengers in the other 17 counties will have a little more guidance. They will know what is clearly bad and what is clearly good. Others will be of the maybe yes, maybe no category."

Italian Premier Resigns For Third Time In 19 Months

De Gasperi May Get Chance At New Cabinet

ROME, May 13 (AP) — Alcide de Gasperi resigned as Premier of Italy today for the third time in 19 months as the result of a feud between his Centrist Christian Democratic Party and Communists and Socialists which ripped apart his three-party coalition cabinet.

Provisional President Enrico de Nicola received the cabinet's resignation this afternoon, just before the Constituent Assembly was to start debate on de Gasperi's rigorous program to combat a spiral of inflation. The aged President "reserved decision" as to his course of action.

Became Premier In 1945

Most observers thought that the lean, hawk-faced de Gasperi, who first became Premier December 10, 1945, would get a chance to form another government—if he wanted it.

The big questions were:

1. Would the Christian Democrat leader—worn by months of striving to keep an uneasy balance between his party and the left, and admittedly worried over the country's support—try again?

2. Would he or another premier attempt to govern without the powerful Italian Communist party and the pro-Communist wing of the Socialists?

In a radio address to the Italian nation tonight, de Gasperi appealed for confidence to bolster Italy's economy and admitted that his cabinet, because of "organizational difficulties," had failed to stem the decline of the lira, peg prices or eliminate the black market.

Insists On Measures

He insisted, however, that 10 of the 14 anti-inflation measures his ministry mapped recently had been or were being put into effect and that economy steps have been instituted.

De Gasperi's cabinet was the sixth Italian ministry to go into discard since the Allies occupied Rome in June, 1943.

The crisis had been brewing for days, and came to a head over the premier's announced plan to inform the assembly that he would launch a new economic program and broaden the base of government so as to include virtually all political factions in the country.

De Nicola began conferences tonight with political leaders on the formation of a new government.

As always in post-war Italian crises, the "three old men"—former Premiers Vittorio E. Orlando, 87; Francesco S. Nitti, 79; and Ivanoe Bonomi, 74—were being mentioned for the premiership.

Schacht Is Bitter At German Court

STUTTGART, Germany, May 13 (AP) — Hjalmar Schacht expressed bitterness toward German justice to day a few hours after a Denazification court convicted him as a major Nazi offender and sentenced him to eight years imprisonment in a labor camp. He will be put on a work gang if his health permits.

Thep inch-faced 70-year-old financial expert, who was acquitted seven months ago of war crimes charges before the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg, appeared confident that the sentence pronounced by the all-German court might still be reversed.

"Just you wait and see," he said to reporters. "How can you make a criminal out of a man whom Hitler put into a concentration camp?"

Schacht, who found the money for Hitler's autobahns, a hidden air force and the first armored divisions, hit back at the court's ruling that he knew of the Nazi conspiracy to wage aggressive war and helped it along with his financial schemes. The ruling, in fact, was in contradiction to the finding of the International Military Tribunal that he was unaware of the conspiracy.

The court did not take account of the year Schacht spent in a concentration camp because he was suspected of plotting the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler. The weight of the judgment was directed against his earlier activities.

His attorney, Fritz Schwamberger, said the conviction would be appealed promptly to the highest German court.

Packard Prices Rise

DETROIT, May 13, (AP) — The Packard Motor Car Company today announced price increases ranging from $75 to $224, effective immediately, on all its current models of six and eight cylinder cars.

In announcing the increases, George T. Christopher, Packard president, expressed regret that the company could not reduce prices or maintain previous levels.

Chinese Reds Destroy Rail Line

PEIPING, May 13 (AP) —Chinese Communists today signaled the withdrawal of the Fifth Marine Regiment from Peiping by destroying several miles of the Peiping-Linyu rail line a few hours after 500 leathernecks passed over it.

Still waiting to use the line, however, were 350 more Marines.

The troops, all members of the Fifth Marine Regiment, had helped guard the Peiping-Tientsin section of the line since they came here 19 months ago and were welcomed with almost hysterical excitement by the Chinese. The railroad and a paralleling highway were essential communications routes for supplying the recently disbanded Peiping truce headquarters.

Col. Julian N. Frisbie, Springfield, Ill., commander of the Fifth Marines, and 500 men of his command rode the line from Peiping to Chinwangtao without incident and began boarding two transports for Guam and the United States.

Behind were 350 other members of the Fifth Regiment, who had taken a 75-vehicle convoy from Peiping to Tientsin. They loaded their vehicles onto boats for shipment to Chinwangtao and were preparing to board a train for their own final lap when they received news that the line had been wrecked in several places.

Chinese officials blamed Communist guerrillas, who many times in the past temporarily had disrupted sections of the railroad

NFTW Ends Phone Strike In 5 States

Letter Written By Former House Banker Produced

Tells Rep. "We Are Guilty Of Fraud"

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The fund-shortage trial of Kenneth Romney, former sergeant-at-arms in the House of Representatives, today produced a letter in which Romney wrote a former Florida Congressman that "we have been jointly guilty of fraud."

The letter, to John H. Smithwick in 1931, also said:

"You have had the use of approximately $1,000,000 in the last seven years x x x. The checks held and 'kited' through this office would easily approximate $1,000,000 and made possible all of your operations in Florida and Maryland."

Romney, who ran the House "bank" in the seargent-at-arms' office for 16 years until the Republicans took over and investigated the office last January, is on trial charged with fraud and concealing a $143,836 shortage.

Western Electric Rejects Wage Offer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13, (AP) — Settlement of the 37-day strike by the National Federation of Telephone Workers against the five-state Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, subject to ratification by union members, was announced by a Federal Conciliation official tonight.

Conciliator Omar F. Hoskins, announcing conclusion of the agreement, told newsmen:

"This concludes, subject to the members' ratification, the whole NFTW strike in the far west."

Plan For National Strike Is Reported

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 13 (AP) —A nation-wide 24-hour general strike in protest against labor legislation was reported under consideration today by a representative of the Longshoremens' Association AFL but national headquarters of the AFL and CIO said they knew nothing about such a plan.

Al Chittenden, president of the New Orleans Local of the Longshoremens' Association (AFL), said labor leaders were planning mass meetings on May 21 throughout the country to consider a general workstoppage as a protest against pending legislation.

Chittenden was here for a Longshoremens' convention.

In Washington, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany of the AFL said he had "never heard" of the proposal. A spokesman at CIO headquarters in Washington said the national office "knows nothing about such a plan."

Union Disagrees On Company Offer

WASHINGTON, May 13, (AP)—The Western Electric Company made its first wage offer today to striking workers but the union rejected it and disagreed with the company on what was offered.

S. P. Schwartz, Labor Relations manager for the installation division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company Manufacturing subsidiary, issued a statement describing the offer as follows:

Basic wage increases ranging between $2.40 and $3.20 a week, plus an average of $1.03 a week in "special payments" such as added compensation when workers move from place to place.

Schwartz said the total thus was $3.43 to $4.23 a week, depending on geographical location.

Ernest Weaver of Chicago, president of the Association of Communication Equipment Workers, a union of 20,000 installation men, told newsmen earlier that the basic wage offer ranged from zero to $3.20.

There was also disagreement on what the union is demanding.

Weaver said the union wants a wage structure starting at $1 an hour and rising automatically to $2.05 an hour in five years. He said this structure would mean immediate pay raises ranging between $2 and $12 a week.

Schwartz said this was "incorrect," and that the union's proposed wage structure means that the union demanded a flat increase of $12 a week.

Schwartz said this increase, "with the change in wage structure demanded by the union, would require wage increases of from $12 to $32 per week, and these figures do not include the union's demands for increased special payments."

Truman Portal Pay Message Is Expected

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — The White House announced today that President Truman will send a message to Congress tomorrow on the controversial bill outlawing most portal pay claims.

Charles G. Ross, Presidential secretary, gave no inkling of Mr. Truman's decision.

"There will be either a veto message or a memorandum of approval," Ross told newsmen.

Mr. Truman has until midnight tomorrow to sign or veto the measure, which has been criticized by union leaders such as AFL President William Green as a "pernicious" blow at labor's gains and praised by industrial spokesmen as a life-saver for business.

17 Are Hurt As Wind Hits Trailer Camp

42 Wheeled Homes Damaged In Ohio

FINDLAY, O., May 13 (AP) — A tornado razed a trailer camp near here today injuring 17 persons — three seriously — and destroying some 42 of the wheeled residences.

In Findlay itself, three city employes were injured when the storm smashed the city barn housing street cleaning equipment. Two women were injured in other parts of the city.

Three ambulances rushed the injured to Findlay Hospital after the twister leveled the camp. Three of the 45 trailers were left standing but these, too, were damaged.

Corporal T. A. Brindle of the State Highway Patrol estimated the casualties.

Strikes At 4 P. M.

The tornado roared in from the Southwest at 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) and was preceded by a heavy hailstorm. Some of the hailstones were described as about one and three-quarter inches in diameter.

The storm shut off electric power to half this city of 22,000 population. Trees were blown over and roofs whisked from their fastenings.

Full impact of the storm, however, fell on the trailer camp at the Eastern limits of the city.

Lifts Roof Off Trailer

Mrs. C. L. Wakefield, who lives in the camp, told newsmen the twister lifted off the roof of her trailer porch and then churned up the dwelling of her daughter, Mrs. Kyle Linger several yards distant.

"My daughter was getting supper in the trailer and before I knew it she and her daughter Carol Sue, 5, were pinned beneath the wreckage."

"I rushed over and broke through the side and pulled them out," Mrs. Wakefield said.

All-White Jury Seated In Negro Lynching Trial

31 Men To Be Tried For Murdering Youth

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 13 (AP)—South Carolina, where negroes are not permitted to vote in the decisive Democratic primaries and where "white supremacy" is sometimes a political campaign cry, began an unprecedented mass trial today of 31 white men charged with lynching a young negro.

An all-white male jury was seated shortly before noon to hear the state's case against 28 taxi drivers and three business men of Greenville, accused of the February 17 pre-dawn abduction of 24-year old Willie Earle from a Pickens county jail and his later slaying on a quiet country road across from a slaughter house near here. Earle was held on suspicion in connection with the stabbing of T. W. Brown, local taxi driver, who later died.

Defense Attorney Tom Wofford announced he would contest the admission into state's evidence of statements by some of the defendants. He said he understood the prosecution would rely upon the testimony of officers as to the alleged statements.

J. Robert Martin, Jr., 37-year-old judge, refused a motion by Wofford that the prosecuting witnesses be segregated.

The first witness, Dr. J. T. Converse, county physician, testified Earle was killed by a shotgun wound in the head. He said none of the five stab wounds on his body would have caused death. He told the jury he could not be certain whether the negro had been shot more than once.

Never before have as many as 31 white men been brought into court for an offense against a negro.

The jury was completed this morning. Eight textile workers—two salesmen—a shipping clerk, and a farmer, comprise the jury.

42 Are Missing

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 13—(AP)—Forty-two persons were reported missing tonight after a motor launch sank in the Gulf of Nicoya near Puntarenas. About 110 other passengers were saved.

U. N. Names 11 Small Nations To Investigate

Action Represents Victory Of U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—With the Arab states abstaining in protest, the United Nations Assembly's political committee late today excluded the Big Five from membership on the Palestine inquiry commission. It then named 11 smaller countries as the U.N. group to investigate the Holy Land problems this summer.

The inquiry group named by the committee is composed of Czechoslovakia, Canada, The Netherlands, Peru, Uruguay, Iran, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Guatemala, Australia and India.

The Arab-country delegations — Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia—abstained on all the critical ballots at the afternoon session in evident pursuit of the declaration by their leaders that they might even walk out of the U.N. Palestine Assembly and might refuse to co-operate in the U.N. inquiry.

Victory For U. S.

The action represented a victory for the United States, which had maintained from the start of the assembly April 28 that the Big Five should not take part in the U.N. investigation. The committee decisions now go to the 55-nation assembly for final approval.

In a final Arab protest against the turn of the committee's decisions, Dr. Charles Malik, Lebanon, reserved the position of his government on the whole Palestine matter before the assembly.

Syria, Iraq, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia quickly followed suit after Malik told the committee:

"I am unable to subscribe to it (the committee report) one way or the other and I reserve the right of my government regarding every future occasion."

The full committee, by a 39 to 9 vote, finally endorsed the list of 11 members of the commission. There were 10 abstentions. The committee adjourned at 5:45 p. m. (E.D.T.)

The Arabs suffered another in a series of setbacks this morning when the committee completed instructions to the inquiry commission without mentioning independence for Palestine as an objective, a point on which the Arabs have insisted.

The committee this afternoon, in a rapid series of votes:

1. Defeated a Russian proposal for the inquiry commission to have the same membership as the 11-nation security council, including the Big Five.

Russian Proposal Defeated

2. Defeated an alternate Russian proposal for a commission of 11 members, constituted along the geographic lines like those in the Security Council but not having the same membership of small nations.

3. Defeated a Polish proposal for a commission of the Big Five and six smaller nations, also on a geographic basis.

4. Approved an Australian motion for an 11-nation commission excluding the five great powers.

Arab leaders declared grimly that their five delegations might walk out of the United Nations Palestine Assembly and that the Arab world might refuse to co-operate in any U.N. inquiry into the troubled Holy Land.

The Arab spokesman talked unofficially but with grave emphasis as the assembly's Political Committee batted down attempts by Russia and India, supported by the Arab countries, to write a suggestion for independence of Palestine into orders drawn up for a special U.N. inquiry commission.

Sailor Sought In Woman's Death

LOS ANGELES, May 13—(AP)—Search was under way tonight, Police Capt. Loren Q. Martin said, for a 21-year-old sailor who left a Long Beach Cafe with Mrs. Elizabeth Trelstad, 37-year-old mother of three, shortly before she died—fifth victim of the "Black Dahlia" series of sex slayings.

Martin said two bartenders and two patrons of the cafe had identified Mrs. Trelstad as a patron Sunday night. They said she departed in company with the sailor, whose age was taken from the Navy identification card he displayed to obtain a drink.

Cash-In Date Of Sugar Stamp 12 Moved Up To June 1 From July 1

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The government today moved up the cash-in date of the next sugar ration stamp from July 1 to June 1, but said it must last for five months.

The stamp, spare No. 12, will be good for 10 pounds.

An Agriculture Department announcement said it must last until Oct. 31, when rationing and price controls expire.

Today's action was taken, the department said, to speed sugar into consumer channels before the heavy movement of wheat and other commodities this summer burdens transportation facilities.

Supplies from a big Cuban crop are piling up in Eastern refinery centers to create a "temporary surplus," partly because consumers have been slow to cash in spare stamp No. 11 which became valid April 1 for 10 pounds.

The action came as many in the sugar industry predicted either an end of rationing before Oct. 31 or an increase in the ration because of improved supply prospects and slowness of some European countries to take Cuban supplies.

The government has promised individual consumers 35 pounds this year compared with 25 last year.

Vitamin "C" Acts Like Popeye's Spinach When It Gets Into Blood

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP) — Vitamin C acts like Popeye's spinach when the vitamin gets into the blood. The white blood cells take a bite of the C and then grab and literally squeeze the life out of disease germs by engulfing them, a natural process known as phagocytosis.

This discovery, described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists, possibly explains why physicians have been prescribing Vitamin C as a preventative of common colds and why surgeons give it before operations to promote faster healing of wounds.

The germ-killing experiments, financed by the United States Public Health Service, were done at the University of Michigan by Ada May Ames and Dr. W. J. Nungester of the Department of Bacteriology.

White cells taken from guinea pigs were placed in test tubes containing germs. When the pigs were deficient in vitamin C, the white cells were sluggish, and only 30 to 35 per cent of them attacked the test tube germs.

But after the pigs had been fed adequate Vitamin C, this vitamin appeared inside the white cells and 80 to 90 per cent of them grabbed their germs.

Senate To Vote On Foreign Aid Measure Today

Bill Expected To Pass With Margin

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Senate agreed today to vote at 2 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow on a $350,000,000 Foreign Relief Bill which Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Foreign elations Committee said is "indispensable to millions of war victims."

Indications are that the measure, urged by President Truman and the State Department, will be approved by a considerable margin. The House has passed the bill after trimming it to $200,000,000.

As Vandenberg obtained the agreement to vote, he said he knew of no one who wanted to speak against it. He said, however, that some amendments might be offered.

Plans to vote today were blocked by Senator Ellender (D-La) who asked for more time to study the measure.

Ellender said he wants to see whether it will be possible to write in provisions to assure that money and supplies will go only to hungry people. He said he learned for the first time from Vandenberg during the debate that from 80 to 85 per cent of the relief will go through normal commercial channels which will make a profit of it.

Vandenberg replied that when an entire nation is desperately short of food, "relief for one citizen under those circumstances is relief just as much as relief for another."

"I submit that there is nothing in this bill to feed anyone but the hungry," Vandenberg said. "A person can be hungry without being indigent."

The Senate wrote in an amendment to earmark up to $5,000,000 of the total amount for transportation of relief supplies raised by voluntary, non-profit organizations in this country.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) said he may also offer an amendment which would deny any of the money to Russia and nations "clearly dominated economically and politically" by Russia.

B. And P. Women Hear Speaker, Install Officers

The Business and Professional Women's Club installed officers, formulated plans for the visit of a national chairman, collected articles for its Polish orphan and heard a talk on "The Art of Advertising," by Wilbur Bishop, at a dinner meeting last night at Central YMCA.

Miss Anna Nicht, retiring president, used the club's collect as the theme for her installation and urged working "shoulder to shoulder" to build a better world.

New officers are Miss Anne W. Tennant, president; Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, first vice-president; Miss Nicht, second vice-president, who was installed by Miss Nan Livingstone; Miss Kathleen Swann, treasurer and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, secretary.

Defining advertising as "the father of mass production," Mr. Bishop explained that advertising is the art of influencing people to think or act favorably toward a product or to leave a favorable impression about one's business. He listed the various forms of advertising in newspapers, commercials on radio, neon signs and personal forms, and explained that although the normal job of advertising is to sell merchandise to pay a profit for the man paying for the advertisement, that during the war advertising was used for the opposite effect.

Qualifications for a good ad he said were not necessarily on art or literary form alone but must be seen, be read, create a desire and induce the reader to act. The job of advertising is to bring the buyer and seller together, he declared, and explained that the whole range of human emotions are used in various appeals to influence the public to buy a certain product, so all wants and instincts are traded upon by copywriters—the want to eat, to be healthy, for leisure, to collect and possess, to escape from pain and suffering, to love and be loved, to be noticed by others, to be looked upon with favor, to be comfortable and to protect the children and family.

In concluding Mr. Bishop showed some ads he clipped from magazines to illustrate his points and showed the steps in newspaper ad procedure from the layout to the finished art work, engraving and placing in the forms by the printer.

Miss Marian Bevans and Miss Gloria Bohn were welcomed as new members. The program was in charge of the new Service committee, composed of Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Nell Pyle and Miss Theresa Nicht. Miss Mary Mane Sowerby collected articles for her Polish orphan project and will send a box this week.

Miss Julia Cole Fauber, national co-ordinating program chairman, from the national office of the B. and P. Women, New York, will be the speaker at the meeting at 5:30 May 27, at which time she will suggest programs for the following year.

Mexico Gets $100,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — The United States today made available $100,000,000 to Mexico—half of it for immediate industrial development and the other half to help maintain the present value of Mexican money.

Announcement of economic help for the neighboring Republic followed by less than two weeks the visit of Mexican President Miquel Aleman to the United States.

Vessel Disappears

LISBON, Portugal, May 13 (AP)—The 600-ton Portugese freighter Portucale disappeared mysteriously with her crew of 16 off the Portugese coast early today, leaving only an oil slick on the water. Ships and planes searching the area after hearing the Portucale's SOS said the ship either struck a mine or exploded. The freighter sailed from Lisbon yesterday with war material for Santa Maria, Azores Islands.

Detroit Police Fear Gang War Following Shooting Of Baraky

Woman Companion Goes To Police

DETROIT, May 13—(AP)—A small-time gambler was shot to death in gangland-style on a street early today, giving police fears of a possible underworld war shortly after a crackdown on an $8,000,000 gaming syndicate.

Hours after Fred A. Baraky, 33, met death from five bullet shots, his woman companion, who had fled in fright, came to police with a story of an apparent ambush on Detroit's far East side about 2:30 a. m.

Baraky's killer fired from virtual point-blank range, then darted to a black sedan parked nearby and containing three other men, witnesses said. The car sped away.

The victim's companion, Mrs. Dorothy Cole, 33, a tavern waitress, came to police with an attorney after authorities had begun a search for her.

Mrs. Cole, said she knew Baraky but slightly as a patron at the tavern. She said she had gone with Baraky and "another young man" to a bowling alley and bar.

Mrs. Cole said she and Baraky departed a short time later.

As she and Baraky walked toward his car, Mrs. Cole said, she heard "some sound like the backfire of an automobile."

She said, "Fred, who was holding my arm, began to slump down.

"I saw some flashes. Then a man ran up from the middle of the street and shot at close range."

Baraky's shooting followed a round up of a score of men in what police said was the smashing of a mutuels syndicate which netted $8,000,000 a year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 13—(AP)—Miss Marguerit Stitley, Woodsboro was crowned University of Maryland May Day Queen No. 25 today, and many of her regal predecessors were on the campus to see her ascend the throne.

Punishment Asked In Yugoslav Case

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The State Department said today the United States has asked for punishment of Yugoslav officials responsible for a "disagreeable incident" in which an American diplomat was stripped of his camera, films and dentification cards.

The treatment of the Diplomat, John M. Cabot of the Massachusetts Cabots, added a new point of friction to American relations with Marshal Tito's pro-Communist regime. However, there was an official Yugoslav expresssion of regret, which the Department accepted

Cabot, charge d'affaires at Belgrade, reported that when he and other embassy officials visited the town of Pec on May 2, they were detained and deprived of cameras, films and cards over their protests.

Presumably, Cabot advised, he was suspected of having photographed military installations at another town, Mitrovitza. This he denied but said he might have taken pictures of a ruined castle.

A subsequent embassy protest resulted in return of cameras and cards, but a State department spokesman said he understands the films were not returned.

Cabot 47, has been top United States diplomatic representative at Belgrade since the departure of former Ambassador Richard C. Patterson six months ago after repeated difference with Tito's government.

Navy Will Have Super Jet Planes Within Five Years

Admiral Says Great Progress Being Made

PEARL HARBOR, May 13 (AP) — Within five years, most of the Navy's carrier borne airpower will be composed of superspeed jet propelled planes, one of the Navy's top airmen said today.

Vice Adm. Harold B. Sallada, deputy commander in chief of the Pacific and former chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said in an interview that great progress already has been made in this direction.

"This move will mean scrapping our old ideas of carrier warfare" he said. "We are having to learn new deck techniques and new air tactics in handling fast jet planes.

"In about a year we really will get underway with jet tests aboard carriers to supplement tests being made now with a lesser number of planes. These preliminary tests have been extremely satisfactory and we are satisfied that jet planes can be adapted to carrier operations."

Two of the Navy's jet planes—the FJ, made by North American, and the F6U, made by Vought—have speed about equal to the Army's P80 Shooting Star, which has been clocked at more than 550 miles an hour, the Admiral said.

Preliminary testing is being carried out at the Naval air station in Maryland.

Sallada said the new jet models are not in production in any quantity but a limited quantity contract for the McDonald jets had been approved by the Navy. The McDonald plant is in St. Louis.

Auto Production Falls

DETROIT, May 13, (AP) — The production this week of approximately 55,000 passenger cars was indicated today as the nation's motorcar industry continued to battle sheet steel shortages that kept seven automobile body building plants closed and restricted many others to far less than capacity operations.

Passenger car output last month averaged almost 80,000 units a week, last week, as the stockpiles of steel began to dwindle, it fell to 70,000.

William B. Bankhead of Alabama was brought into the trial in testimony by Albert B. Fangmeyer, former assistant cashier in Romney's office.

Fangmeyer said he had been "told" that Romney had discussed shortages in the bank's funds with higher authorities on capitol hill and had been advised to keep quiet. He said he had been told the matter was discussed with Bankhead, but had no direct knowledge of the supposed higher-level conferences.

The government also introduced testimony through Fangmeyer to show that Romney set up a "kickback" system in the sergeant-at-arms office under which he took rebates on the salaries of various bookkeepers, including relatives.

Senate-House Agree On Greek-Turk Bill

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) — A Senate-House Committee agreed today on final terms for the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid legislation.

The committee's action must be approved by House and Senate. The House will act first.

Both Senate and House approved legislation designed to carry out the general principle of President Truman's plan to bolster the Greeks and Turks against Communism. The measures differed slightly, however, and the Senate-House Committee was appointed to adjust the differences.

In the form the committee approved, the measure requires Senate confirmation of chiefs of missions sent to Greece and Turkey.

It also requires FBI investigation of all civilian personnel to be assigned to administrative tasks in the two countries, and that full publicity be given the work done to provide economic assistance.

Senate To Vote On Foreign Aid Measure Today

Bill Expected To Pass With Margin

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Senate agreed today to vote at 2 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow on a $350,000,000 Foreign Relief Bill which Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Foreign elations Committee said is "indispensable to millions of war victims."

Indications are that the measure, urged by President Truman and the State Department, will be approved by a considerable margin. The House has passed the bill after trimming it to $200,000,000.

As Vandenberg obtained the agreement to vote, he said he knew of no one who wanted to speak against it. He said, however, that some amendments might be offered.

Plans to vote today were blocked by Senator Ellender (D-La) who asked for more time to study the measure.

Ellender said he wants to see whether it will be possible to write in provisions to assure that money and supplies will go only to hungry people. He said he learned for the first time from Vandenberg during the debate that from 80 to 85 per cent of the relief will go through normal commercial channels which will make a profit of it.

Vandenberg replied that when an entire nation is desperately short of food, "relief for one citizen under those circumstances is relief just as much as relief for another."

"I submit that there is nothing in this bill to feed anyone but the hungry," Vandenberg said. "A person can be hungry without being indigent."

The Senate wrote in an amendment to earmark up to $5,000,000 of the total amount for transportation of relief supplies raised by voluntary, non-profit organizations in this country.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) said he may also offer an amendment which would deny any of the money to Russia and nations "clearly dominated economically and politically" by Russia.

B. And P. Women Hear Speaker, Install Officers

The Business and Professional Women's Club installed officers, formulated plans for the visit of a national chairman, collected articles for its Polish orphan and heard a talk on "The Art of Advertising," by Wilbur Bishop, at a dinner meeting last night at Central YMCA.

Miss Anna Nicht, retiring president, used the club's collect as the theme for her installation and urged working "shoulder to shoulder" to build a better world.

New officers are Miss Anne W. Tennant, president; Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, first vice-president; Miss Nicht, second vice-president, who was installed by Miss Nan Livingstone; Miss Kathleen Swann, treasurer and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, secretary.

Defining advertising as "the father of mass production," Mr. Bishop explained that advertising is the art of influencing people to think or act favorably toward a product or to leave a favorable impression about one's business. He listed the various forms of advertising in newspapers, commercials on radio, neon signs and personal forms, and explained that although the normal job of advertising is to sell merchandise to pay a profit for the man paying for the advertisement, that during the war advertising was used for the opposite effect.

Qualifications for a good ad he said were not necessarily on art or literary form alone but must be seen, be read, create a desire and induce the reader to act. The job of advertising is to bring the buyer and seller together, he declared, and explained that the whole range of human emotions are used in various appeals to influence the public to buy a certain product, so all wants and instincts are traded upon by copywriters—the want to eat, to be healthy, for leisure, to collect and possess, to escape from pain and suffering, to love and be loved, to be noticed by others, to be looked upon with favor, to be comfortable and to protect the children and family.

In concluding Mr. Bishop showed some ads he clipped from magazines to illustrate his points and showed the steps in newspaper ad procedure from the layout to the finished art work, engraving and placing in the forms by the printer.

Miss Marian Bevans and Miss Gloria Bohn were welcomed as new members. The program was in charge of the new Service committee, composed of Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Nell Pyle and Miss Theresa Nicht. Miss Mary Mane Sowerby collected articles for her Polish orphan project and will send a box this week.

Miss Julia Cole Fauber, national co-ordinating program chairman, from the national office of the B. and P. Women, New York, will be the speaker at the meeting at 5:30 May 27, at which time she will suggest programs for the following year.

Mexico Gets $100,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 13 — (AP) — The United States today made available $100,000,000 to Mexico—half of it for immediate industrial development and the other half to help maintain the present value of Mexican money.

Announcement of economic help for the neighboring Republic followed by less than two weeks the visit of Mexican President Miquel Aleman to the United States.

Vessel Disappears

LISBON, Portugal, May 13 (AP)—The 600-ton Portugese freighter Portucale disappeared mysteriously with her crew of 16 off the Portugese coast early today, leaving only an oil slick on the water. Ships and planes searching the area after hearing the Portucale's SOS said the ship either struck a mine or exploded. The freighter sailed from Lisbon yesterday with war material for Santa Maria, Azores Islands.

Detroit Police Fear Gang War Following Shooting Of Baraky

Woman Companion Goes To Police

DETROIT, May 13—(AP)—A small-time gambler was shot to death in gangland-style on a street early today, giving police fears of a possible underworld war shortly after a crackdown on an $8,000,000 gaming syndicate.

Hours after Fred A. Baraky, 33, met death from five bullet shots, his woman companion, who had fled in fright, came to police with a story of an apparent ambush on Detroit's far East side about 2:30 a. m.

Baraky's killer fired from virtual point-blank range, then darted to a black sedan parked nearby and containing three other men, witnesses said. The car sped away.

The victim's companion, Mrs. Dorothy Cole, 33, a tavern waitress, came to police with an attorney after authorities had begun a search for her.

Mrs. Cole, said she knew Baraky but slightly as a patron at the tavern. She said she had gone with Baraky and "another young man" to a bowling alley and bar.

Mrs. Cole said she and Baraky departed a short time later.

As she and Baraky walked toward his car, Mrs. Cole said, she heard "some sound like the backfire of an automobile."

She said, "Fred, who was holding my arm, began to slump down.

"I saw some flashes. Then a man ran up from the middle of the street and shot at close range."

Baraky's shooting followed a round up of a score of men in what police said was the smashing of a mutuels syndicate which netted $8,000,000 a year.

Only One Answer To Building Boom Failure

There is, to be sure, a smattering of home construction in Cumberland, but the anticipated building boom has never materialized in this city, and where it did get under way it is subsiding, and with it the hopes of millions of Americans who seek, and need, new homes. It is subsiding because, the experts say, prices are so high that many families cannot or will not buy.

Prices of new homes are 70 to 80 per cent higher than before the war, the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company found in a survey. A house which cost $5,000 in 1940 costs $9,000 today. In most cities a $9,000 house, formerly $5,000 is just about the cheapest that can be built. Many families would have to pay more to get what they need or want. The most young families—which are in the greatest need of housing—$9,000 is a lot of money. So, according to reports they are sitting tight and waiting for prices to come down. And where many of them are sitting is quite uncomfortable.

You may ask, can prices be brought down to a level where the average American can afford to buy a home? Yes, they can, but they won't, unless the building industry, and building labor, do an about-face.

High wages are chiefly responsible for today's high cost of building. High wages not only in the building trades, but in the industries supplying materials. All down the line. Cutting wages, however, is not the answer to the problem. One important reason is that it couldn't be done.

The alternative—the only one that most thinking persons can see—is greater efficiency in the building industry. Much greater use of prefabrication, and other labor-saving methods, to reduce the cost of building a home. By and large, the construction industry has ignored the mass production methods that have made the auto and other products available to the average man. Houses are built by hand, board by board and brick by brick, much as they were built hundreds of years ago.

Of course, a house cannot be built on an assembly line. But parts can be made in factories and fitted together in short order on the site. Labor costs would be much lower, and contractors could shave their profits because they could build more houses. Building labor has, in most instances, consistently opposed this practice, fearing loss of jobs. Building contractors have not been overly enthusiastic about it.

It is contended, however, that the system would create more jobs, by making it possible for more persons to buy homes. There would be a vast market for houses if the price was right. And contractors certainly should make more money.

Unless some radical change is made, America will fast become a vast overcrowded slum, while the building industry sits on its high prices.

In listing nations which will want loans from Uncle Sam, Henry Wallace didn't perform an outstanding feat. Any schoolboy could copy the names he finds on a world map.

G. O. P. Policy Needed On Governmental Spending

Senator Taft, as chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, has announced that he will appoint a sub-committee to meet with a similar group from the House to consider what the party should do about a number of measures calling for increased governmental expenditures. Among them are an assortment of bills on housing, health, education, social security, etc., etc.

Mr. Taft believes there should be a Republican policy on these matters at a time when the majority is trying to cut the President's $37,500,000,000 budget. For his part, he is ready to abide by the decisions of the joint body although he has sponsored legislation providing federal aid for housing, health and education.

In fact, none of these is on the list of "must" legislation approved by the Republican policy-makers in the Senate.

There is no doubt that the GOP leaders in the two branches of Congress should try to get together on these questions. If they can agree, the whole fiscal problem should be much less difficult to solve than it now seems—and so far it has not been possible for the joint committee on the budget to compromise the differences between the Senate and House.

Political considerations are the sole barrier to a prompt decision. If the party should abandon social, etc., legislation to balance the budget and apply something against the debt while cutting taxes, it will invite a storm of criticism from leftists that will be out of all proportion to their numbers. If it does not cut taxes and governmental expenditures drastically, it will renege on last year's campaign promises.

Decisions must be made. They should be made now for the guidance of Republicans who cannot know, as things are, what effect their votes on specific issues will have on the party's over-all program.

Six Men On A Raft

Tossing on the waves of the South Pacific today is a raft similar to those used by the prehistoric Indians of Peru. It is 50 feet long, 20 feet wide, made of cork-like balsa wood, equipped with a clumsy square sail and an oar for rudder. The six young scientists aboard it hope to make Tahiti by mid-August.

A raft may seem a strange ocean going vessel. But the men, like Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer when they braved the Mississippi, are counting on the current to take them where they're going. The sail is merely to get them back on their course if they drift away from the Humboldt current before they reach their destination.

It is their theory that the storied South Sea Islands were first inhabited by South American aborigines who, in rafts like this one, drifted by accident or design until they struck land. If the feat can be performed today, the theory will gain prestige.

Floating under a blazing Pacific sun for months on end will hardly be the lark it may seem to those currently in the grip of Spring fever. But these men will have plenty to do—making oceanographic observations, testing Navy lifesaving and communications equipment, operating their two-way radio, catching fish for supper.

They'll have a story to tell when they come home.

BUMS, HOBOES, AND TRAMPS

RECENTLY Strauss wrote on the homeless man and prepared a composite picture of the typical vagrant. The average age is 45 and he is not married; a small number had walked to the altar but lost their spouses thru divorce, desertion, or death. The tramp will usually tell of leaving home at an early age, often following the death of one or both parents or because of inability to get along with the family. As a rule, he left school between the 6th and 7th grades; he was generally born in this country and of a father who had a skilled trade. Our friend, however, never was much for working but will take transient jobs to make just enough money for food and liquor.

The knight of the road has been studied extensively by sociologists but much of their behavior patterns and attitudes remains a mystery because so many complex factors are involved. Between 80 and 90 per cent give a long and painful history of alcoholism and there has always been a question whether they drink because they are homeless or homeless because they drink.

These gentlemen are extreme examples of asocial tendencies or undersocialization. For them, adjustment to normal activities or participation in social or family affairs are impossible. A large percentage were deprived of such opportunities early in life and have made no move to combat the situation because they lack appreciation of affection, security, and prestige. They avoid all entanglements associated with home, employment, church, and civic programs. Only a few begin this type of existence because of physical handicaps or mental retardation. Others are simply afflicted with wanderlust or prefer casual work. But they always quit their jobs just as they did home and school. Some have had bitter experiences and do not care to return to society because of the fear of failure, ridicule, or punishment.

Most of these unfortunates start as periodic tipplers and gradually become steady boozers. They give all the excuses for addiction that are customary for the alcoholic—plus. Many claim that indulgence helps their loneliness and provides recreation as, when intoxicated, they forget that they have neither material wealth nor standing in the community. Others glibly blame their deplorable circumstances on the "liquor habit." Actually, these are flimsy excuses as they drink for the same reason that they become vagrants. It is part of their peculiar personality make-up and supplies them with the only means of adjustment available to them. They have no desire to mend their ways and will co-operate with the authorities only when forced to do so; charity is accepted so long as there are no strings attached to the handouts.

Their only home is jail, a park bench, a flophouse, or bed in a shelter or mission. They have no close friends even tho drinking companions are selected for they are not lone imbibers in contrast to alcoholics in higher stratas of society. But their buddies may drop out of sight overnight and are never missed.

Some of these lost souls are saved, but as a rule, rehabilitation is impossible. It is difficult to undo the bad effect of the early environment of the homeless population. Herein lies the difference between the problem drinker who usually manages to maintain business connections and a home life.

A BULGE

F. T. writes: What is Meckel's diverticulum?

REPLY

A small, pocketlike dilatation in the intestine, near the appendix. Should it become infected, the symptoms may simulate appendicitis. Usually, the abnormality is discovered during an operation, at which time it can be repaired.

SKIN INFECTION

F. A. writes: Is impetigo contagious?

REPLY

Yes, highly so, but the disorder is not spread in the same way as the common cold or other airborne diseases. Personal contact is necessary.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

California gas stations, in a drive for new business, are giving away hundreds of prizes to try to lure customers to their pumps—and it's really ridiculous.

I met a friend of mine staggering into his house loaded with a refrigerator, new radio, washing machine, vacuum cleaner and lawnmower. I asked him, "Popular quiz show?" And he answered: "No—lonely gas station attendant."

I knew he wasn't kidding because I stopped at a gas station this morning and got a new set of tires, a dozen golf balls, an electric razor and a case of champagne. And I only went in to use the phone.

It's really amazing how things have changed. Now when the attendant comes over to your car, he asks, "Air? Water? Nylons?"

And it's really wonderful all the additional services they're giving the customers. Now every time I stop at a gas station I get my yoyo oiled and my shoulder pads blown up free of charge.

I know one place that doesn't even wash you car any more. They give it a bubble bath.

One gas station has been giving away so many gifts they've taken down their horse trademark and put up one of Santa Claus' reindeers.

And the way things look now, Art Linkletter, Bob Hawk and Ralph Edwards don't have to worry about their future in radio. They can always set up a few pumps and go into business.

President Truman Rectifies Old Wrong To Francis Biddle But Appointment To U. N. Group Is In Committee; North DaKota Fights For Representation

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—When this columnist was young and new at the game, it always rankled to have to admit making mistakes. With the seasoning of the years, however, he has found that it pays to admit them. After all, human beings can be wrong.

Just two years ago this month I told the story of how Harry Truman had fired Francis Biddle as attorney general because of his deep-dyed loyalty to Kansas City's boss Pendergast and his resentment against Biddle for having opposed the appointment of several Pendergast friends. Among other things, Biddle had refused a parole to Boss Pendergast, also had insisted on the reappointment of Maurice Millegan—the U. S. district attorney who sent Pendergast to jail. Also Biddle had held out against appointing Fred Canfield, Truman's old sergeant in World War I, as U. S. Marshall in Kansas City.

Whereupon Truman, newly become president of the United States, fired Biddle without even the courtesy of talking to him personally. The story made Tumran appear to be a very vengeful man.

While it is true that Truman still has a deep loyalty to his Pendergast friends and also that he fired Biddle, I am now convinced that it is not true, as previously reported, that the President nurses such deep grudges against those who opposed his old Missouri cohorts.

At any rate, some inside things have happened recently which show that he is doing everything possible to undo any wrong he may have done to Biddle.

Truman Supports Biddle

Last January, Mr. Truman sent to the Senate the name of Francis Biddle to be U. S. representative on the United Nations Social and Economic Council. And in the Senate Biddle's name has lain ever since—thanks to Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. Three months have passed and the Senator from Michigan has not reported Biddle's name out of committee.

Many Presidents of the United States, discouraged at the opposition of so powerful a Senator, especially one who has cooperated on other foreign policy matters, would have withdrawn Biddle's name. In fact, Truman has been urged to do so. Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who belongs to the Felix Frankfurter school (in vigorous opposition to Biddle), has advised Biddle's withdrawal. Acheson has even wanted to appoint George Harrison in his place, and has suggested that Biddle undertake the codifying of United States laws instead.

Senator Vandenberg has also intimated to Truman that he will block Biddle's appointment indefinitely.

Truman, however, has not been cowed. The answer of the man who once fired Biddle, presumably because of pique regarding Pendergast, was a letter to Vandenberg stating that he had absolutely no intention of withdrawing Biddle's name.

It is now reported that Truman might be willing to send Biddle as ambassador to France—provided Biddle is willing to make the switch. But if Biddle wants to continue the fight for the United Nations post, the President has made it clear he will back him to the limit.

It seems only fair to report these facts about Harry Truman, which I hereby do.

North Dakota's Cold Shoulder

A significant drama took place behind the white doors of the President's private office the other day. It featured the story of a big-little state—North Dakota—battling for its contended judicial rights.

Senators William Langer, Milton Young and Representative Charles Robertson of North Dakota—a big state with a scanty population—called on President Truman to protest the cold-shouldering of their state in the appointment of a Missourian, Federal District Judge John Collett, to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"We don't have anything personal against John Collett, Mr. President," argued Langer, "But we think someone from North Dakota should have received that appointment. North Dakota has been a state for 57 years and in all that time it never has had a man on the Eighth Circuit bench."

Langer added that in the same period every other state in the Eighth Circuit area had been represented on the court. Missouri, the President's own state, has had five appointments, Langer said; Minnesota and Iowa, three each, and South Dakota, two. Nebraska had been represented and so had Arkansas, to the best of his knowledge, he said.

"Well, I'll admit you've got good case," replied Truman. "I've been in Congress myself and I know how you feel about this matter. But I just had to go through with the appointment of Judge Collett. He's an excellent choice. I don't think I could have found a better man."

The President didn't elaborate on whether the fact that Collett was an old Missouri sidekick and director of economic stabilization had anything to do with that selection. He stressed the "vast amount of work (legal cases) coming from Missouri" to the Eighth Circuit Court as an added factor in Collett's favor.

Then he added to his callers:

"I did what I thought was right and I hope, as a personal favor to me, that you won't make an issue of this."

When the President asks a personal favor of members of Congress, even three Republicans such as Langer, Young and Robertson, he is not often turned down. So the North Dakota trio promised not to press their protest publicly.

They left the White House with an intimation that Truman would recognize North Dakota's claim to future court vacancies—but only an intimation, not a promise.

Note—Senator Truman and Judge Collett used to occupy adjoining offices together in the federal building in Kansas City. Since Truman's office never had a phone, he used to step in to use Collett's. Thus they got acquainted.

Mrs. Roosevelt's "Economic Plan For Whole World" Is Considered

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is one of those people who want "an economic plan for the whole world."

It must give one a warm glow to be always on the side of the angels with lovely ideas like "planning the world." I glow occasionally, but not continually. My old stop-light always flashes the signal: "Stop! Look! Listen!", and my glow is sicklied o'er by the pale cast of thought.

But brushing doubt aside, and eager to help in all good works, may I mention a few odd jobs that really need doing on the plan's foundation? If the whole world has an economic plan, it will need, for one thing, a steady supply of coal. So, just as a precaution, I suggest that Mrs. Roosevelt get a binding promise from John L. Lewis that there will never be any interruption in the coal supply! We will all be very grateful to her if she gets John to sign up.

Uncle Joe Stalin Planner

Then there's Uncle Joe Stalin, a planner of long experience. Uncle Joe is a devoted member of the United Nations, but occasionally has his querulous moods. No doubt, we should excuse them as due to the infirmities of age, because he is a big-hearted guy as we know so well. However, he has vetoed plans of some of his brothers nine times in the space of one year. This throws things out of whack and hurts our feelings.

So, what to do? Should we plan to agree to Joe's plan, or plan to get him to agree to ours? Maybe he would reconsider if Mrs. Roosevelt, or Elliott, were to put the matter up to him.

Then, of course, the "World Plan" won't run with all cylinders hitting sweet until the planners agree on Palestine, India, Poland, Spain, Greece and Turkey, where considerable disagreement continues to be reported.

Coming closer home, there's the city-owned New York subway. Its planners left out some gadget because its five cent fares run deficits of millions of dollars every year. No politicians have the nerve to take on the pressure group of subway riders who vote to force others to pay half of their fares. Mrs. Roosevelt should stop this racket. Otherwise, the "World Plan" may also go broke, and for similar reasons.

An economic plan for the whole world is a right smart undertaking. To begin with, it calls for a redistribution of America's wealth. For nobody "dry behind the ears" (if there are any such folk now-a-days), believes the other planners would plan unless they get "theirs" out of "ours." Some of the world's politicians are not as noble as Mrs. Roosevelt, I fear.

They would demand unlimited immigration; the division along fraternal lines of the world's petroleum, gold, coal, rubber, etc.; political priorities of raw materials; the allocation of manufacturing and farming down to the last factory and quarter-section; the fixing of prices and rents on a world scale so no one in the brotherhood would be charged more than the other. This, in turn, would call for a wage-fixing sub-plan and the signatures, thereto, of the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L.!

As this super-stupendous plan takes shape, I look forward to visiting the World Capitol. I want, especially, to see the world's biggest building, thirty times the size of the Pentagon. This will house the Department of World Plans with not less than 12,000,000 government planners, all planning together without discord or vetoes. It will be worth seeing!

United Nations Just Paper Affair; No Enforcement Power

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 13—Has the United Nations been "oversold" to the American people as an agency that can preserve peace when, as a matter of fact, it is powerless to do so?

If the public generally has a wrong impression, this is hardly surprising in view of the fact that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, herself a member of the U. S. delegation, doesn't seem to know that the U.N. cannot use military means lawfully against a major power.

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote the other day that she was troubled by a decision of the United Nations military staff committee and was "waiting anxiously to read something further to clarify it." She then added:

"I understood it (the decision) in the following way— that the proposed international police force would be large enough and strong enough to coerce any of the smaller nations which might become aggressive, but would not be strong enough to take action against one of the great powers. . . .

Veto Must Be Nullified

"One might say, of course, that the use of the veto in the Security Council would make it practically impossible ever to take action against one of the great powers. But I have always taken it for granted that, if the United Nations decided that a nation had committed an aggressive act, no use of the veto could protect that nation in wrong-doing, whether that nation was large or small."

Unfortunately, Mrs. Roosevelt understood wrongly and so have millions of other well-intentioned American citizens who said after San Francisco that a remarkable Charter had been written which would preserve peace. The truth is the use of the veto makes it impossible to employ military forces against one of the major powers. The military staffs have given up the idea of a big international police force because it could never be brought into action lawfully under the United Nations Charter. One vote in the Security Council by any major power can block the use of such an international force.

This may come as a surprise to Mrs. Roosevelt who, as a member of the U. S. delegation to the U. N., probably should have been educated on this point long ago by Senator Austin or whoever keeps the public statements of the members of the delegation from deviating from actualities.

But the sad truth is that the U. N. can't coerce any of the large powers—either the United States or Russia or any other nation which can defend itself with substantial military forces. Maybe the U. S. Senate would never have consented to ratification of the U. N. charter if it had in it a provision permitting the international forces of the U. N. to coerce the United States. Maybe Russia wouldn't have joined. Anyway, the military staff committee accepted realistically the fact that a veto is a veto and decided to study something in the nature of a small-sized police force to keep smaller nations from making international nuisances of themselves.

All Military Teeth Intended

This is about all the military teeth the U. N. Charter really permits. In fairness to those who wrote the document, it may be said that they reasoned this way: If a force had to be set up to discipline Russia or the United States, neither nation would agree to give up the veto that prevents the use of such an Army, Navy or air establishment. Also if any nation used its veto against such a force, war would ensue anyhow and the peaceful objectives of the U. N. would be nullified.

What Mrs. Roosevelt may have had in the back of her mind, and what many people wished for, was a plan whereby world controversies would be submitted to investigation and judgment by a majority vote of the Security Council and some way would be found to require all powers to accept such a verdict. The U. N. Charter does provide that the veto power cannot be used by a major power to block mere inquiry or the publication of the findings of an investigating commission set up by the Security Council. When it comes, however, to compelling any nation to accept such findings, then the U. N. is just a paper affair and has no power of enforcement. This is regrettable but it is true.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Representative Clarence Brown have introduced a measure in Congress to reorganize the Executive Branch of the Government with the view to promote economy, efficiency, and improved service in the transaction of the public business in the departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices, independent establishments, and instrumentalities by limiting expenditures to the lowest amount consistent with the efficient performance of essential services, activities, and functions; eliminating duplication and overlapping of services, activities, and functions; consolidating or abolishing services, activities, and functions of a similar nature; and defining and limiting executive functions, services, and activities.

A Commission is to be appointed which would make recommendations to Congress, consisting of 12 members, four each appointed by the President, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, two from the particular branch of the government, two from private life.

This has been an urgent question for many years and has never, in the past, been handled with any success, largely because the departments of government seek to perpetuate themselves and use every type of political influence to achieve this end. Politicians in Congress wish to protect their patronage; heads of departments seek to keep their departments as large as possible. Actually, the Government of the United States is a wasteful, inefficient organization that does not provide a dollar of work for a dollar spent, that permits unconscionable duplication and that protects such feather-bedding, time-wasting and juggling of accounts as no private enterprise could tolerate, or as, to put it another way, the Government would not tolerate in any private enterprise.

Senator Lodge said that "there are actually 150 members of boards and commissions, 15 heads of departments and major agencies, five people in the Executive Office of the President, seven people in the White House staff proper, 11 persons in those emergency agencies which are still functioning, and three persons pertaining to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who all have direct access to the President of the United States."

Actually, no corporation of any size could be operated on that basis. Senator Ferguson added: ". . . if they were reporting for a period of 30 minutes, it would take him (the President) three months." Senator Byrd once stated: ". . . It is inconceivable that the departments and old line agencies extended to 777 component parts at the height of the war should now need to expand still further to require 920 principal component parts. There is no justification for having 1,200 field offices in New York, 1,000 in Chicago, and over 500 each in Philadelphia and Los Angeles, to mention only a few."

Senator Lodge quoted Representative Wigglesworth as providing data that there are no less than 29 agencies lending Government funds, three agencies insuring deposits, 34 engaged in the acquisition of land, 16 engaged in wildlife preservation, 10 in Government construction, nine in credit and finance, 12 in home and community planning, 10 in materials and construction, 28 in welfare matters, 14 engaged in forestry matters, four in bank examinations, and 65 agencies engaged in gathering statistics.

I think I have quoted enough to show that Senator Lodge has proposed a bill that should be passed. His Commission idea is sound because it includes the Executive, Congress and the public in a joint effort. This will solve one of the major difficulties of the past. The point is that the American Government is run without system or plan except within the broad lines laid out by the Constitution.

Several methods might be employed:

1. The hacksaw method of cutting off agencies without plan is as bad as creating agencies without plan. This will not produce greater efficiency; it may even result in increased confusion;

2. The method of making the suit fit the cloth is often suggested, by which, instead of allocating $6,000,000,000 to the Executive, another amount, say $5,000,000,000, would be voted and the President would then have to deal with the problem as one of provident Administration. This is the method now generally being pursued and has virtue in the present state of administrative inflation;

3. Senator Lodge's method, which involves a systematic, scientific overhauling of the administration of government to achieve permanent improvement and increased efficiency.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Educational Beginnings

Education does not begin with the primary classes, where children only are admitted. Education has its start when we begin to think for ourselves, when we begin to observe, form opinions, and assert our independence.

Many a man's schooling ended before he had become acquainted with his "teen age." No high school, or college course can guarantee education to a man or woman. Living does that. Many a one has attained eminence without either. The classroom is but a map with the roads marked out. Each one of us must decide upon what road we shall take, and settle upon our destination.

Lessons are illustrated to us along every roadside, upon busy streets, and among crowds. Every new day is a leaf in experience. Every contact the shadow of a thought. Ideas may be kneaded in the manner of the baker who prepares our bread. Education is the process of constantly being led out of ourselves into the ways of the world, and then being useful there.

A person who is master of himself may be called an educated man. He is the one who will venture and take risks. He will banish all fear from his path. He will have faith in himself, and he will look forward with confidence. He will demonstrate the substance of character.

Never do any of us become fully educated. It is a life process. Often its beginnings do not appear until the will, the mind, and the heart have become ripe with experience and understanding. Then the flowering begins!

There is no greater lesson to be learned in life than the one of a sense of values—and it should be learned as early in life as possible. Millions fritter away their lives upon details and wasteful enterprises, only to learn, when life is mostly spent, that they missed an early, accurate appraisal of these values. It's the "good name" and the one increasing, useful purpose, that outlive all strivings for mere wealth, or personal acclaim.

The one who learns early to help himself has his life alphabet well in hand. Neither Harvard, Yale, nor any other great institution, could offer a better starting point toward an educational career. Such a one will sturdily climb—and help many another up as well!

Only One Answer To Building Boom Failure

There is, to be sure, a smattering of home construction in Cumberland, but the anticipated building boom has never materialized in this city, and where it did get under way it is subsiding, and with it the hopes of millions of Americans who seek, and need, new homes. It is subsiding because, the experts say, prices are so high that many families cannot or will not buy.

Prices of new homes are 70 to 80 per cent higher than before the war, the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company found in a survey. A house which cost $5,000 in 1940 costs $9,000 today. In most cities a $9,000 house, formerly $5,000 is just about the cheapest that can be built. Many families would have to pay more to get what they need or want. The most young families—which are in the greatest need of housing—$9,000 is a lot of money. So, according to reports they are sitting tight and waiting for prices to come down. And where many of them are sitting is quite uncomfortable.

You may ask, can prices be brought down to a level where the average American can afford to buy a home? Yes, they can, but they won't, unless the building industry, and building labor, do an about-face.

High wages are chiefly responsible for today's high cost of building. High wages not only in the building trades, but in the industries supplying materials. All down the line. Cutting wages, however, is not the answer to the problem. One important reason is that it couldn't be done.

The alternative—the only one that most thinking persons can see—is greater efficiency in the building industry. Much greater use of prefabrication, and other labor-saving methods, to reduce the cost of building a home. By and large, the construction industry has ignored the mass production methods that have made the auto and other products available to the average man. Houses are built by hand, board by board and brick by brick, much as they were built hundreds of years ago.

Of course, a house cannot be built on an assembly line. But parts can be made in factories and fitted together in short order on the site. Labor costs would be much lower, and contractors could shave their profits because they could build more houses. Building labor has, in most instances, consistently opposed this practice, fearing loss of jobs. Building contractors have not been overly enthusiastic about it.

It is contended, however, that the system would create more jobs, by making it possible for more persons to buy homes. There would be a vast market for houses if the price was right. And contractors certainly should make more money.

Unless some radical change is made, America will fast become a vast overcrowded slum, while the building industry sits on its high prices.

In listing nations which will want loans from Uncle Sam, Henry Wallace didn't perform an outstanding feat. Any schoolboy could copy the names he finds on a world map.

G. O. P. Policy Needed On Governmental Spending

Senator Taft, as chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, has announced that he will appoint a sub-committee to meet with a similar group from the House to consider what the party should do about a number of measures calling for increased governmental expenditures. Among them are an assortment of bills on housing, health, education, social security, etc., etc.

Mr. Taft believes there should be a Republican policy on these matters at a time when the majority is trying to cut the President's $37,500,000,000 budget. For his part, he is ready to abide by the decisions of the joint body although he has sponsored legislation providing federal aid for housing, health and education.

In fact, none of these is on the list of "must" legislation approved by the Republican policy-makers in the Senate.

There is no doubt that the GOP leaders in the two branches of Congress should try to get together on these questions. If they can agree, the whole fiscal problem should be much less difficult to solve than it now seems—and so far it has not been possible for the joint committee on the budget to compromise the differences between the Senate and House.

Political considerations are the sole barrier to a prompt decision. If the party should abandon social, etc., legislation to balance the budget and apply something against the debt while cutting taxes, it will invite a storm of criticism from leftists that will be out of all proportion to their numbers. If it does not cut taxes and governmental expenditures drastically, it will renege on last year's campaign promises.

Decisions must be made. They should be made now for the guidance of Republicans who cannot know, as things are, what effect their votes on specific issues will have on the party's over-all program.

Six Men On A Raft

Tossing on the waves of the South Pacific today is a raft similar to those used by the prehistoric Indians of Peru. It is 50 feet long, 20 feet wide, made of cork-like balsa wood, equipped with a clumsy square sail and an oar for rudder. The six young scientists aboard it hope to make Tahiti by mid-August.

A raft may seem a strange ocean going vessel. But the men, like Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer when they braved the Mississippi, are counting on the current to take them where they're going. The sail is merely to get them back on their course if they drift away from the Humboldt current before they reach their destination.

It is their theory that the storied South Sea Islands were first inhabited by South American aborigines who, in rafts like this one, drifted by accident or design until they struck land. If the feat can be performed today, the theory will gain prestige.

Floating under a blazing Pacific sun for months on end will hardly be the lark it may seem to those currently in the grip of Spring fever. But these men will have plenty to do—making oceanographic observations, testing Navy lifesaving and communications equipment, operating their two-way radio, catching fish for supper.

They'll have a story to tell when they come home.

BUMS, HOBOES, AND TRAMPS

RECENTLY Strauss wrote on the homeless man and prepared a composite picture of the typical vagrant. The average age is 45 and he is not married; a small number had walked to the altar but lost their spouses thru divorce, desertion, or death. The tramp will usually tell of leaving home at an early age, often following the death of one or both parents or because of inability to get along with the family. As a rule, he left school between the 6th and 7th grades; he was generally born in this country and of a father who had a skilled trade. Our friend, however, never was much for working but will take transient jobs to make just enough money for food and liquor.

The knight of the road has been studied extensively by sociologists but much of their behavior patterns and attitudes remains a mystery because so many complex factors are involved. Between 80 and 90 per cent give a long and painful history of alcoholism and there has always been a question whether they drink because they are homeless or homeless because they drink.

These gentlemen are extreme examples of asocial tendencies or undersocialization. For them, adjustment to normal activities or participation in social or family affairs are impossible. A large percentage were deprived of such opportunities early in life and have made no move to combat the situation because they lack appreciation of affection, security, and prestige. They avoid all entanglements associated with home, employment, church, and civic programs. Only a few begin this type of existence because of physical handicaps or mental retardation. Others are simply afflicted with wanderlust or prefer casual work. But they always quit their jobs just as they did home and school. Some have had bitter experiences and do not care to return to society because of the fear of failure, ridicule, or punishment.

Most of these unfortunates start as periodic tipplers and gradually become steady boozers. They give all the excuses for addiction that are customary for the alcoholic—plus. Many claim that indulgence helps their loneliness and provides recreation as, when intoxicated, they forget that they have neither material wealth nor standing in the community. Others glibly blame their deplorable circumstances on the "liquor habit." Actually, these are flimsy excuses as they drink for the same reason that they become vagrants. It is part of their peculiar personality make-up and supplies them with the only means of adjustment available to them. They have no desire to mend their ways and will co-operate with the authorities only when forced to do so; charity is accepted so long as there are no strings attached to the handouts.

Their only home is jail, a park bench, a flophouse, or bed in a shelter or mission. They have no close friends even tho drinking companions are selected for they are not lone imbibers in contrast to alcoholics in higher stratas of society. But their buddies may drop out of sight overnight and are never missed.

Some of these lost souls are saved, but as a rule, rehabilitation is impossible. It is difficult to undo the bad effect of the early environment of the homeless population. Herein lies the difference between the problem drinker who usually manages to maintain business connections and a home life.

A BULGE

F. T. writes: What is Meckel's diverticulum?

REPLY

A small, pocketlike dilatation in the intestine, near the appendix. Should it become infected, the symptoms may simulate appendicitis. Usually, the abnormality is discovered during an operation, at which time it can be repaired.

SKIN INFECTION

F. A. writes: Is impetigo contagious?

REPLY

Yes, highly so, but the disorder is not spread in the same way as the common cold or other airborne diseases. Personal contact is necessary.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

California gas stations, in a drive for new business, are giving away hundreds of prizes to try to lure customers to their pumps—and it's really ridiculous.

I met a friend of mine staggering into his house loaded with a refrigerator, new radio, washing machine, vacuum cleaner and lawnmower. I asked him, "Popular quiz show?" And he answered: "No—lonely gas station attendant."

I knew he wasn't kidding because I stopped at a gas station this morning and got a new set of tires, a dozen golf balls, an electric razor and a case of champagne. And I only went in to use the phone.

It's really amazing how things have changed. Now when the attendant comes over to your car, he asks, "Air? Water? Nylons?"

And it's really wonderful all the additional services they're giving the customers. Now every time I stop at a gas station I get my yoyo oiled and my shoulder pads blown up free of charge.

I know one place that doesn't even wash you car any more. They give it a bubble bath.

One gas station has been giving away so many gifts they've taken down their horse trademark and put up one of Santa Claus' reindeers.

And the way things look now, Art Linkletter, Bob Hawk and Ralph Edwards don't have to worry about their future in radio. They can always set up a few pumps and go into business.

President Truman Rectifies Old Wrong To Francis Biddle But Appointment To U. N. Group Is In Committee; North DaKota Fights For Representation

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—When this columnist was young and new at the game, it always rankled to have to admit making mistakes. With the seasoning of the years, however, he has found that it pays to admit them. After all, human beings can be wrong.

Just two years ago this month I told the story of how Harry Truman had fired Francis Biddle as attorney general because of his deep-dyed loyalty to Kansas City's boss Pendergast and his resentment against Biddle for having opposed the appointment of several Pendergast friends. Among other things, Biddle had refused a parole to Boss Pendergast, also had insisted on the reappointment of Maurice Millegan—the U. S. district attorney who sent Pendergast to jail. Also Biddle had held out against appointing Fred Canfield, Truman's old sergeant in World War I, as U. S. Marshall in Kansas City.

Whereupon Truman, newly become president of the United States, fired Biddle without even the courtesy of talking to him personally. The story made Tumran appear to be a very vengeful man.

While it is true that Truman still has a deep loyalty to his Pendergast friends and also that he fired Biddle, I am now convinced that it is not true, as previously reported, that the President nurses such deep grudges against those who opposed his old Missouri cohorts.

At any rate, some inside things have happened recently which show that he is doing everything possible to undo any wrong he may have done to Biddle.

Truman Supports Biddle

Last January, Mr. Truman sent to the Senate the name of Francis Biddle to be U. S. representative on the United Nations Social and Economic Council. And in the Senate Biddle's name has lain ever since—thanks to Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. Three months have passed and the Senator from Michigan has not reported Biddle's name out of committee.

Many Presidents of the United States, discouraged at the opposition of so powerful a Senator, especially one who has cooperated on other foreign policy matters, would have withdrawn Biddle's name. In fact, Truman has been urged to do so. Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who belongs to the Felix Frankfurter school (in vigorous opposition to Biddle), has advised Biddle's withdrawal. Acheson has even wanted to appoint George Harrison in his place, and has suggested that Biddle undertake the codifying of United States laws instead.

Senator Vandenberg has also intimated to Truman that he will block Biddle's appointment indefinitely.

Truman, however, has not been cowed. The answer of the man who once fired Biddle, presumably because of pique regarding Pendergast, was a letter to Vandenberg stating that he had absolutely no intention of withdrawing Biddle's name.

It is now reported that Truman might be willing to send Biddle as ambassador to France—provided Biddle is willing to make the switch. But if Biddle wants to continue the fight for the United Nations post, the President has made it clear he will back him to the limit.

It seems only fair to report these facts about Harry Truman, which I hereby do.

North Dakota's Cold Shoulder

A significant drama took place behind the white doors of the President's private office the other day. It featured the story of a big-little state—North Dakota—battling for its contended judicial rights.

Senators William Langer, Milton Young and Representative Charles Robertson of North Dakota—a big state with a scanty population—called on President Truman to protest the cold-shouldering of their state in the appointment of a Missourian, Federal District Judge John Collett, to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"We don't have anything personal against John Collett, Mr. President," argued Langer, "But we think someone from North Dakota should have received that appointment. North Dakota has been a state for 57 years and in all that time it never has had a man on the Eighth Circuit bench."

Langer added that in the same period every other state in the Eighth Circuit area had been represented on the court. Missouri, the President's own state, has had five appointments, Langer said; Minnesota and Iowa, three each, and South Dakota, two. Nebraska had been represented and so had Arkansas, to the best of his knowledge, he said.

"Well, I'll admit you've got good case," replied Truman. "I've been in Congress myself and I know how you feel about this matter. But I just had to go through with the appointment of Judge Collett. He's an excellent choice. I don't think I could have found a better man."

The President didn't elaborate on whether the fact that Collett was an old Missouri sidekick and director of economic stabilization had anything to do with that selection. He stressed the "vast amount of work (legal cases) coming from Missouri" to the Eighth Circuit Court as an added factor in Collett's favor.

Then he added to his callers:

"I did what I thought was right and I hope, as a personal favor to me, that you won't make an issue of this."

When the President asks a personal favor of members of Congress, even three Republicans such as Langer, Young and Robertson, he is not often turned down. So the North Dakota trio promised not to press their protest publicly.

They left the White House with an intimation that Truman would recognize North Dakota's claim to future court vacancies—but only an intimation, not a promise.

Note—Senator Truman and Judge Collett used to occupy adjoining offices together in the federal building in Kansas City. Since Truman's office never had a phone, he used to step in to use Collett's. Thus they got acquainted.

Mrs. Roosevelt's "Economic Plan For Whole World" Is Considered

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is one of those people who want "an economic plan for the whole world."

It must give one a warm glow to be always on the side of the angels with lovely ideas like "planning the world." I glow occasionally, but not continually. My old stop-light always flashes the signal: "Stop! Look! Listen!", and my glow is sicklied o'er by the pale cast of thought.

But brushing doubt aside, and eager to help in all good works, may I mention a few odd jobs that really need doing on the plan's foundation? If the whole world has an economic plan, it will need, for one thing, a steady supply of coal. So, just as a precaution, I suggest that Mrs. Roosevelt get a binding promise from John L. Lewis that there will never be any interruption in the coal supply! We will all be very grateful to her if she gets John to sign up.

Uncle Joe Stalin Planner

Then there's Uncle Joe Stalin, a planner of long experience. Uncle Joe is a devoted member of the United Nations, but occasionally has his querulous moods. No doubt, we should excuse them as due to the infirmities of age, because he is a big-hearted guy as we know so well. However, he has vetoed plans of some of his brothers nine times in the space of one year. This throws things out of whack and hurts our feelings.

So, what to do? Should we plan to agree to Joe's plan, or plan to get him to agree to ours? Maybe he would reconsider if Mrs. Roosevelt, or Elliott, were to put the matter up to him.

Then, of course, the "World Plan" won't run with all cylinders hitting sweet until the planners agree on Palestine, India, Poland, Spain, Greece and Turkey, where considerable disagreement continues to be reported.

Coming closer home, there's the city-owned New York subway. Its planners left out some gadget because its five cent fares run deficits of millions of dollars every year. No politicians have the nerve to take on the pressure group of subway riders who vote to force others to pay half of their fares. Mrs. Roosevelt should stop this racket. Otherwise, the "World Plan" may also go broke, and for similar reasons.

An economic plan for the whole world is a right smart undertaking. To begin with, it calls for a redistribution of America's wealth. For nobody "dry behind the ears" (if there are any such folk now-a-days), believes the other planners would plan unless they get "theirs" out of "ours." Some of the world's politicians are not as noble as Mrs. Roosevelt, I fear.

They would demand unlimited immigration; the division along fraternal lines of the world's petroleum, gold, coal, rubber, etc.; political priorities of raw materials; the allocation of manufacturing and farming down to the last factory and quarter-section; the fixing of prices and rents on a world scale so no one in the brotherhood would be charged more than the other. This, in turn, would call for a wage-fixing sub-plan and the signatures, thereto, of the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L.!

As this super-stupendous plan takes shape, I look forward to visiting the World Capitol. I want, especially, to see the world's biggest building, thirty times the size of the Pentagon. This will house the Department of World Plans with not less than 12,000,000 government planners, all planning together without discord or vetoes. It will be worth seeing!

United Nations Just Paper Affair; No Enforcement Power

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 13—Has the United Nations been "oversold" to the American people as an agency that can preserve peace when, as a matter of fact, it is powerless to do so?

If the public generally has a wrong impression, this is hardly surprising in view of the fact that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, herself a member of the U. S. delegation, doesn't seem to know that the U.N. cannot use military means lawfully against a major power.

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote the other day that she was troubled by a decision of the United Nations military staff committee and was "waiting anxiously to read something further to clarify it." She then added:

"I understood it (the decision) in the following way— that the proposed international police force would be large enough and strong enough to coerce any of the smaller nations which might become aggressive, but would not be strong enough to take action against one of the great powers. . . .

Veto Must Be Nullified

"One might say, of course, that the use of the veto in the Security Council would make it practically impossible ever to take action against one of the great powers. But I have always taken it for granted that, if the United Nations decided that a nation had committed an aggressive act, no use of the veto could protect that nation in wrong-doing, whether that nation was large or small."

Unfortunately, Mrs. Roosevelt understood wrongly and so have millions of other well-intentioned American citizens who said after San Francisco that a remarkable Charter had been written which would preserve peace. The truth is the use of the veto makes it impossible to employ military forces against one of the major powers. The military staffs have given up the idea of a big international police force because it could never be brought into action lawfully under the United Nations Charter. One vote in the Security Council by any major power can block the use of such an international force.

This may come as a surprise to Mrs. Roosevelt who, as a member of the U. S. delegation to the U. N., probably should have been educated on this point long ago by Senator Austin or whoever keeps the public statements of the members of the delegation from deviating from actualities.

But the sad truth is that the U. N. can't coerce any of the large powers—either the United States or Russia or any other nation which can defend itself with substantial military forces. Maybe the U. S. Senate would never have consented to ratification of the U. N. charter if it had in it a provision permitting the international forces of the U. N. to coerce the United States. Maybe Russia wouldn't have joined. Anyway, the military staff committee accepted realistically the fact that a veto is a veto and decided to study something in the nature of a small-sized police force to keep smaller nations from making international nuisances of themselves.

All Military Teeth Intended

This is about all the military teeth the U. N. Charter really permits. In fairness to those who wrote the document, it may be said that they reasoned this way: If a force had to be set up to discipline Russia or the United States, neither nation would agree to give up the veto that prevents the use of such an Army, Navy or air establishment. Also if any nation used its veto against such a force, war would ensue anyhow and the peaceful objectives of the U. N. would be nullified.

What Mrs. Roosevelt may have had in the back of her mind, and what many people wished for, was a plan whereby world controversies would be submitted to investigation and judgment by a majority vote of the Security Council and some way would be found to require all powers to accept such a verdict. The U. N. Charter does provide that the veto power cannot be used by a major power to block mere inquiry or the publication of the findings of an investigating commission set up by the Security Council. When it comes, however, to compelling any nation to accept such findings, then the U. N. is just a paper affair and has no power of enforcement. This is regrettable but it is true.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Representative Clarence Brown have introduced a measure in Congress to reorganize the Executive Branch of the Government with the view to promote economy, efficiency, and improved service in the transaction of the public business in the departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices, independent establishments, and instrumentalities by limiting expenditures to the lowest amount consistent with the efficient performance of essential services, activities, and functions; eliminating duplication and overlapping of services, activities, and functions; consolidating or abolishing services, activities, and functions of a similar nature; and defining and limiting executive functions, services, and activities.

A Commission is to be appointed which would make recommendations to Congress, consisting of 12 members, four each appointed by the President, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, two from the particular branch of the government, two from private life.

This has been an urgent question for many years and has never, in the past, been handled with any success, largely because the departments of government seek to perpetuate themselves and use every type of political influence to achieve this end. Politicians in Congress wish to protect their patronage; heads of departments seek to keep their departments as large as possible. Actually, the Government of the United States is a wasteful, inefficient organization that does not provide a dollar of work for a dollar spent, that permits unconscionable duplication and that protects such feather-bedding, time-wasting and juggling of accounts as no private enterprise could tolerate, or as, to put it another way, the Government would not tolerate in any private enterprise.

Senator Lodge said that "there are actually 150 members of boards and commissions, 15 heads of departments and major agencies, five people in the Executive Office of the President, seven people in the White House staff proper, 11 persons in those emergency agencies which are still functioning, and three persons pertaining to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who all have direct access to the President of the United States."

Actually, no corporation of any size could be operated on that basis. Senator Ferguson added: ". . . if they were reporting for a period of 30 minutes, it would take him (the President) three months." Senator Byrd once stated: ". . . It is inconceivable that the departments and old line agencies extended to 777 component parts at the height of the war should now need to expand still further to require 920 principal component parts. There is no justification for having 1,200 field offices in New York, 1,000 in Chicago, and over 500 each in Philadelphia and Los Angeles, to mention only a few."

Senator Lodge quoted Representative Wigglesworth as providing data that there are no less than 29 agencies lending Government funds, three agencies insuring deposits, 34 engaged in the acquisition of land, 16 engaged in wildlife preservation, 10 in Government construction, nine in credit and finance, 12 in home and community planning, 10 in materials and construction, 28 in welfare matters, 14 engaged in forestry matters, four in bank examinations, and 65 agencies engaged in gathering statistics.

I think I have quoted enough to show that Senator Lodge has proposed a bill that should be passed. His Commission idea is sound because it includes the Executive, Congress and the public in a joint effort. This will solve one of the major difficulties of the past. The point is that the American Government is run without system or plan except within the broad lines laid out by the Constitution.

Several methods might be employed:

1. The hacksaw method of cutting off agencies without plan is as bad as creating agencies without plan. This will not produce greater efficiency; it may even result in increased confusion;

2. The method of making the suit fit the cloth is often suggested, by which, instead of allocating $6,000,000,000 to the Executive, another amount, say $5,000,000,000, would be voted and the President would then have to deal with the problem as one of provident Administration. This is the method now generally being pursued and has virtue in the present state of administrative inflation;

3. Senator Lodge's method, which involves a systematic, scientific overhauling of the administration of government to achieve permanent improvement and increased efficiency.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Educational Beginnings

Education does not begin with the primary classes, where children only are admitted. Education has its start when we begin to think for ourselves, when we begin to observe, form opinions, and assert our independence.

Many a man's schooling ended before he had become acquainted with his "teen age." No high school, or college course can guarantee education to a man or woman. Living does that. Many a one has attained eminence without either. The classroom is but a map with the roads marked out. Each one of us must decide upon what road we shall take, and settle upon our destination.

Lessons are illustrated to us along every roadside, upon busy streets, and among crowds. Every new day is a leaf in experience. Every contact the shadow of a thought. Ideas may be kneaded in the manner of the baker who prepares our bread. Education is the process of constantly being led out of ourselves into the ways of the world, and then being useful there.

A person who is master of himself may be called an educated man. He is the one who will venture and take risks. He will banish all fear from his path. He will have faith in himself, and he will look forward with confidence. He will demonstrate the substance of character.

Never do any of us become fully educated. It is a life process. Often its beginnings do not appear until the will, the mind, and the heart have become ripe with experience and understanding. Then the flowering begins!

There is no greater lesson to be learned in life than the one of a sense of values—and it should be learned as early in life as possible. Millions fritter away their lives upon details and wasteful enterprises, only to learn, when life is mostly spent, that they missed an early, accurate appraisal of these values. It's the "good name" and the one increasing, useful purpose, that outlive all strivings for mere wealth, or personal acclaim.

The one who learns early to help himself has his life alphabet well in hand. Neither Harvard, Yale, nor any other great institution, could offer a better starting point toward an educational career. Such a one will sturdily climb—and help many another up as well!

Mr. Idleman announced the winners of the annual Golden Horseshoe contest, and commended the Burlington pupils for winning three of the four county awards. They were Doris Jean Bane, Delores Ann Stickley and James Oates. The winners will go to Charleston, W. You would foot the bill!

Look out! There's another big railroad wage demand headed your way!

The non-operating unions alone—whose members do not actually operate trains—are demanding a flat increase of 20 cents an hour. These demands would cost the railroads of the country five hundred sixty-eight million dollars a year!

Last year. these employes had an increase of 18½ cents an hour. This was their third major wage increase since 1939. Their average weekly pay has gone up 75%, as against a cost-of-living rise of 54%.

Since 1939, railroad wage and material costs have gone up more than three times as much as freight rates, and five times as much as passenger fares. That is why in 1946, with the largest peacetime traffic in history, the net income of railroads went down to the equivalent of only 2¾% of the net property investment.

What About 1947?

Even with the recent freight rate increase, preliminary figures indicate that the railroads will make only about the same low return in 1947 as in 1946. This will be because:

—the wage increase made in 1946 will be in effect for all of 1947;
—special payroll taxes on railroads have recently been increased;
—and passenger traffic has declined.

New High School Building Sought In Grantsville

Present Plant Is Termed Inadequate

GRANTSVILLE, May 13 (Special to News)—Stating that the present plant is inadequate to take care of the present and future needs of the community, the Grantsville School Building Committee has recommended in a report that a new building to house the junior and senior high school classes be built.

Marshall C. Brown, secretary of the committee and principal of Grantsville High School, outlined the report at a public meeting held in that community last week.

Brown pointed out that since 1930 the school population has increased from 269 to 567, exclusive of the 40 seventh grade pupils who should be in the Grantsville Junior High School instead of in the various elementary schools in the vicinity, making an increase of 298 pupils, with only one new classroom added when the building was renovated in 1937.

Needs Are Listed

The report stated that there is no cafeteria, no seating capacity in the library, which consists merely of space in which to store books; no music room (music classes are held on the stage of the auditorium) and only limited shop facilities.

Brown said it would be desirable to offer a commercial curriculum, more industrial arts, a course in physical education and an art course, but that crowded conditions make such expansions impossible.

By 1950, the report estimated the present two-story brick structure will be "barely adequate" for the 356 pupils in the elementary school, grades 1 to 6. On the basis of past enrollment and probable future population trends, by 1951 there will be approximately 400 high school pupils and by 1961 approximately 500 high school pupils.

At present the elementary school and junior and senior high school are housed in one building. The building committee urged that a new building be erected for the junior and senior high school, with the elementary pupils remaining in the present building.

Merle Garlitz, vocational agriculture teacher, discussed the need for a new detached building, a combined classroom and shop, to replace the present quarters for vocational agriculture clases, pointing out that 85 per cent of the boys in upper grades are attending those classes.

Miss Eloise Borror, home economics teacher, said her department, which now has one room, needs three modernized rooms for sewing, cooking and utility purposes. Ninety per cent of girls in the upper classes are taking home economics.

Support Promised

F. E. Rathbun, county superintedent of schools, said that the Garrett County Board of Education is wholeheartedly in support of a new school building program for Grantsville and other county communities.

Miss Elizabeth Amery, Baltimore, state supervisor of home economics, discussed the importance of home economics today, and praised the teachers for their interest in obtaining better educational facilities for the students.

Another speaker was State Senator Lawrence Fraley, who recalled that the Garrett County Commissioners have been authorized in a bill passed during the recent legislature session to issue $1,500,000 in bonds for the Garrett County school program, without a referendum.

He said that a levy of five cents on the tax rate would raise about $10,000 in the county, and that under the school building incentive fund the state would contribute $36,000 to make $46,000 available for application to the principal of the bond issue. The county's share of revenue from race tracks next year is estimated at about $37,000, which could be applied to the interest.

Guests at the meeting included Delegates Jasper Myers, George Coddington and Ronald McIntyre, and County Commissioners Stewart Stahl, Jones Sines, Charles Miller and O. T. Graser.

Other members of the Building Committee are Harvey Gortner, chairman; C. O. Bender, William Winterberg and Stahl.

FATHER AND SONS, ALL EAGLES—When Richard S. Aman was initiated into Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, with the Mother's Day class on Sunday he became the eighth member of his family to join the organization. Pictured above are George W. Aman, Sr., 247 North Mechanic Street (seated), and his seven sons, all members of the order. Left to right are Charles A., Raymond F., George Jr., George, Sr., Robert C., Richard S. and Joseph F. Aman. John A. Aman is standing in front of his brother, Richard. Members believe the membership of the father and seven sons gives the local lodge a national record from the standpoint of family membership. Other lodges have had a father and six sons as members but no records have been found where a father and seven sons were members of the same lodge. Present membership of Cumberland Aerie is 3,230.

Drivers Pay Fines Or Forfeit Bonds

Five motor vehicle operators were fined or forfeited bonds in Police Court and Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Harry B. Twigg, Route 1, Oldtown Road, was fined $5 on a careless driving charge following his arrest Monday night on Virginia Avenue. Clarence Hemis, 404 Furnace Street, and William Valentine, 13 Weber Street, forfeited $10 bond each on careless driving charges.

In Trial Magistrates Court Elmore O. Hartman, 310 Bellevue Heights, forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of failing to halt at a stop sign at the intersection of Route 40 and Cash Valley Road May 7. Louis R. Stevenson, 37 Weber Street, was fined $6.45 on a charge of operating at a speed greater than reasonable and proper last Wednesday on Route 220 at Bowling Green.

Revised Estimate

him that the proposed route from the intersection of Johnson and Greene Streets on the west to Maryland Avenue at Emily Street on the east is the only one which it will approve for the viaduct.

Requardt said that engineers who have studied Cumberland's traffic problem during the past 10 or 15 years are generally agreed that an overhead viaduct is the best solution. He said the structure would be attractively built and would not detract from the city's appearance, as has been claimed by some critics of the project.

Smith suggested that property beneath the viaduct might be used to provide additional parking space.

Besides Smith and Mayor Post, others attending the meeting were Commissioners William J. Edwards and Myers G. Light; James Alfred Avirett, commission chairman, and Benjamin W. O'Rourke; and Charles J. Bruce, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Union Continues Talks With Cocktail Lounge

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 723, Waitresses Union, which is seeking a contract with the Maryland Cocktail Lounge, said he hopes to work out an agreement at a conference with the firm today.

Union threats to picket the lounge last week brought a blast from Anton Squillari, manager, who declared none of his waitresses were members of the union and that picketing would only keep the bartender from crossing the line.

Mike Roth, international representative of the Meat Cutters Union, said Local 322 will meet tonight to hear a report on contract negotiations with the Swift and Company plant here.

One county employe remarked yesterday, "this will be a good way to find out if people in this county want voting machines. If 2,500 sign the petitions asking for a referendum, the people can vote on the question. If the signatures are not obtained, that will be sufficient evidence that the people want them and the commissioners will have to buy them at once."

Designs Jet Engine

The local engineer has developed an engine for the ship, and his trip to Dayton, will also include a visit to the National Advisory Committee of Aeronautics Engine Laboratory at Cleveland, Ohio, to get additional data on the jet engine he has designed.

Golladay is quite enthused with the prospects of his new plane and the model he has completed seems to have many interesting and unusual features. He has had considerable experience in designing air planes, and since the war ended, has worked on this particular idea.

He is experienced in the field, having been graduated from Parks Air College, East St. Louis, Ill., and took advanced training at Curtis Wright Technical Institute, Glendale, Calif. He later worked as a designer at Glenn L. Martin Company, Baltimore; Fairfield Aircraft, Hagerstown; Aircraft Division Armstrong Cork Company, Lancaster, Pa.; Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Company; Curtis Wright Aircraft, Columbus, Ohio, and McDonnell Aircraft St. Louis, Mo., and Memphis, Tenn.

New High School Building Sought In Grantsville

Present Plant Is Termed Inadequate

GRANTSVILLE, May 13 (Special to News)—Stating that the present plant is inadequate to take care of the present and future needs of the community, the Grantsville School Building Committee has recommended in a report that a new building to house the junior and senior high school classes be built.

Marshall C. Brown, secretary of the committee and principal of Grantsville High School, outlined the report at a public meeting held in that community last week.

Brown pointed out that since 1930 the school population has increased from 269 to 567, exclusive of the 40 seventh grade pupils who should be in the Grantsville Junior High School instead of in the various elementary schools in the vicinity, making an increase of 298 pupils, with only one new classroom added when the building was renovated in 1937.

Needs Are Listed

The report stated that there is no cafeteria, no seating capacity in the library, which consists merely of space in which to store books; no music room (music classes are held on the stage of the auditorium) and only limited shop facilities.

Brown said it would be desirable to offer a commercial curriculum, more industrial arts, a course in physical education and an art course, but that crowded conditions make such expansions impossible.

By 1950, the report estimated the present two-story brick structure will be "barely adequate" for the 356 pupils in the elementary school, grades 1 to 6. On the basis of past enrollment and probable future population trends, by 1951 there will be approximately 400 high school pupils and by 1961 approximately 500 high school pupils.

At present the elementary school and junior and senior high school are housed in one building. The building committee urged that a new building be erected for the junior and senior high school, with the elementary pupils remaining in the present building.

Merle Garlitz, vocational agriculture teacher, discussed the need for a new detached building, a combined classroom and shop, to replace the present quarters for vocational agriculture clases, pointing out that 85 per cent of the boys in upper grades are attending those classes.

Miss Eloise Borror, home economics teacher, said her department, which now has one room, needs three modernized rooms for sewing, cooking and utility purposes. Ninety per cent of girls in the upper classes are taking home economics.

Support Promised

F. E. Rathbun, county superintedent of schools, said that the Garrett County Board of Education is wholeheartedly in support of a new school building program for Grantsville and other county communities.

Miss Elizabeth Amery, Baltimore, state supervisor of home economics, discussed the importance of home economics today, and praised the teachers for their interest in obtaining better educational facilities for the students.

Another speaker was State Senator Lawrence Fraley, who recalled that the Garrett County Commissioners have been authorized in a bill passed during the recent legislature session to issue $1,500,000 in bonds for the Garrett County school program, without a referendum.

He said that a levy of five cents on the tax rate would raise about $10,000 in the county, and that under the school building incentive fund the state would contribute $36,000 to make $46,000 available for application to the principal of the bond issue. The county's share of revenue from race tracks next year is estimated at about $37,000, which could be applied to the interest.

Guests at the meeting included Delegates Jasper Myers, George Coddington and Ronald McIntyre, and County Commissioners Stewart Stahl, James Sines, Charles Miller and O. T. Graser.

Other members of the Building Committee are Harvey Gortner, chairman; C. O. Bender, William Winterberg and Stahl.

FATHER AND SONS, ALL EAGLES—When Richard S. Aman was initiated into Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, with the Mother's Day class on Sunday he became the eighth member of his family to join the organization. Pictured above are George W. Aman, Sr., 247 North Mechanic Street (seated), and his seven sons, all members of the order. Left to right are Charles A., Raymond F., George Jr., George, Sr., Robert C., Richard S. and Joseph F. Aman. John A. Aman is standing in front of his brother, Richard. Members believe the membership of the father and seven sons gives the local lodge a national record from the standpoint of family membership. Other lodges have had a father and six sons as members but no records have been found where a father and seven sons were members of the same lodge. Present membership of Cumberland Aerie is 3,230.

him that the proposed route from the intersection of Johnson and Greene Streets on the west to Maryland Avenue at Emily Street on the east is the only one which it will approve for the viaduct.

Requardt said that engineers who have studied Cumberland's traffic problem during the past 10 or 15 years are generally agreed that an overhead viaduct is the best solution. He said the structure would be attractively built and would not detract from the city's appearance, as has been claimed by some critics of the project.

Smith suggested that property beneath the viaduct might be used to provide additional parking space.

Besides Smith and Mayor Post, others attending the meeting were Commissioners William J. Edwards and Myers G. Light; James Alfred Avirett, commission chairman, and Benjamin W. O'Rourke; and Charles J. Bruce, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

One county employe remarked yesterday, "this will be a good way to find out if people in this county want voting machines. If 2,500 sign the petitions asking for a referendum, the people can vote on the question. If the signatures are not obtained, that will be sufficient evidence that the people want them and the commissioners will have to buy them at once."

A GOOD FOUNDATION HELPS BUILD CURVES

BY BETTY CLARK
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

"Put Your Best Figure Forward" ought to be the slogan of American womanhood, because so many of them spoil an otherwise attractive figure by ill-judgment in selecting foundation garments.

Some of the best American figures are burdened down, strapped in, belted and buckled so that bumps appear where they shouldn't and an attractive curve here and there is laced and squeezed flat.

If this is a fault with women who have good figures, it is certainly more of a fault with the fleshy girls. And it all stems from the old American custom of squeezing a size 40 into a size 14 and a size 14 into a size 10. Women labor under the misapprehension that if they put their frames into a dress size or two smaller, they will immediately take on sylph-like proportions.

Some girls seem to have made up their minds to go through life tugging at their girdles. They shimmy into the elastic armor, and this often can take 15 or 20 minutes, and then a few minutes later they start pulling and yanking at the girdle from all sides. This lasts throughout the day until the girdle is doffed at bedtime.

If the garment slides or is so tight you can't bend in it, there must be something wrong with the fit. A little more effort in selecting the proper fit would eliminate bulges, creases, slipping and tightness.

The little tire roll which appears at the waistline is usually caused by a girdle that is not long enough or which is so tight that it slides up. This problem is also accented by the tight brassiere which causes a roll of flesh directly above and below it.

Brassieres can be ill-fitting in other ways. Girls who have attractive bosoms but are "uplift" conscious, in seeking brassieres to point up their charms, are likely to look a little ridiculous. A good corset maker can perform miracles with a poor figure and can shape a good figure into hour-glass proportions with very little effort.

So it shouldn't be necessary to go through life girdle-straining when you can look slimmer and more attractive in a perfectly fitted girdle and bra.

A vendetta, in its original sense, was the custom by which the nearest kinsman of a murdered man undertook to continue the quarrel and avenge the death. Later it became an obligation for the entire family to assume.

Funny How Bunny Proves No Rummy At Making Money

BUNNY MAN—Roy M. Decker
AP Newsfeatures

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Bunny breeding is more than a hobby to Roy M. Decker, who for 30 years has been associated with Pennsylvania State College as a county farm agent and agricultural extension teacher.

Almost everything about a rabbit—from tail to ears—helps to make the hobby a profitable one for Decker.

The meat brings good prices, says Decker. In addition:

He sells the hides, or uses them in making fur-lined mittens.

The tails make ornaments for milady's headgear, or end up as part of draw strings on shopping bags.

Tabs for hand-made moccasins are made from the ears.

The feet make good mounts for pocket thermometers.

"And," he adds, "there's nothing like having a rabbit's foot in your pocket for good luck."

The genial Decker isn't planning to retire soon but when he does he expects to devote his time to making money with "bunnies, broilers and berries."

He owns a farm in nearby Monroe county and contemplates establishment of a freezing and packing business in rabbit meat, goat steaks and berries.

"We have much to learn from rabbits," Decker says. "They're almost intelligent enough to talk and they are a profitable hobby."

Drunken Driver's Auto Impounded

Pleading guilty to a drunken driving charge Monday a Romney, W. Va., man's car was impounded for six months, his license revoked for six months and a fine of $30.84 was imposed by Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell, Romney.

Trooper F. H. Tribett, West Virginia State Police, said Martin B. Turner, Rio Route, Romney, was arrested Saturday on a drunken driving charge and pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday.

"We're going to break up driving under the influence of liquor," the trooper said, and stiff sentences appears to be the best way.

Compensation Appeal Case Dismissed

A civil appeal case resulting from a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission, scheduled to be heard in Circuit Court this morning has been dismissed according to attorneys.

The action had been docketed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, after the Commission awarded $23 weekly compensation to Edgar W. Bridges, 940 Gay Street represented by James Alfred Avirett. Bridges, who said at the hearing before the Commission here, that his weekly earnings had been $52.50, claimed he was injured while at work.

Bridges was employed at the B. & O. rolling mill on February 1, 1946, when he contends he "strained" himself while using a large metal bar, and that it affected his heart.

The case had been set for a hearing before a jury this morning, but the appeal was dismissed by action of William A. Gunter, attorney for the railroad.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Here's What To Do When Mother Doesn't Like The Boy Friend

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

What's a girl to do when her mother doesn't like her boy friend and does everything she can do to break up the friendship?

Well, the first thing for her to do is to give her mother's viewpoint some fair thought; to make an honest effort to see whether or not there might be something in it.

Not every mother who tries to persuade her daughter to give up a particular boy friend does so out of mere meanness or narrow-mindedness. Sometimes she really has a reason, and a good one, for her attitude, and if a girl has the sense to give this reason its due, she may, thereby, save herself much unhappiness later, when sad experience has taught her that her mother's judgment was sounder than her own.

This is not to lose sight of the fact that there certainly are mothers who don't have good reasons for their interference with their daughters' friends among the boys. It is perfectly true that there are some who are so afraid of having their children grow up, marry and leave them, that they will use every low trick they can think of to alienate any man or any girl who gives a second glance at their daughters or their sons.

But unless and until these sons and daughters have definite grounds for believing that their mother's behavior has motives of this kind behind it, they should give her the benefit of the doubt. And giving her the benefit of the doubt means being willing to listen as fairly as possible to what she has to say.

A twenty-year-old girl who writes me of this type of problem, in which her mother is trying to break up her romance, suggests, without being aware that she is giving herself away, that there might be something on her mother's side. This is what she says:

"About two months ago, I met a boy who fell deeply in love with me, and for awhile I loved him also. I have been seeing him three and four nights a week, and my mother doesn't approve of it. She doesn't like him, and every night when I come in late, after being out with him, she starts scolding, and it makes me mad to think that she might start when he is around also. Everyone else in my family likes him, and thinks he is nice, and I don't see why she can't.

"I know she thinks I'm too young, but I know our age doesn't mean anything when you've found the right one. There are a lot of other reasons why she doesn't like him, but I won't go into it any further, because to me it's a lot of silliness.

"That's the third specialist I've had, and the only thing they agreed on was the cost of their visit."

"What can I do? Please advise me before it's too late and I might do something I'd regret all my life. He phones me often for dates, and I always manage to be at the phone, or near it, when it's time for him to call, because I'm afraid my mother might answer and say I'm not home, even though I am. Do you think I should find something he either does or says, and hold it against him and not see him again?"

Now, in the first place, this girl stops short and shies away when she comes to what appears to be the crux of the matter—her mother's specific objection to her young man. There are a lot of reasons why her mother feels as she does, she admits, but she "won't go into them," because they seem silly to her. But obviously they don't seem silly to her mother, and it's entirely within the realm of possibility that some of them might not seem silly to me, either. Certainly I'm not going to put all the blame on this mother, as this girl wants me to do, with out knowing what the things are to which the mother objects.

I'll admit that the mother isn't handling the matter very tactfully. I'll go further than that and agree that she seems, in fact to be handling it very badly indeed. But even so, I think this girl would do well to examine her mother's objections fairly and see which of them has commonsense and wisdom on her side. Once she has found that out, it will be easier to decide what the next step should be.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Here's What To Do When Mother Doesn't Like The Boy Friend

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

What's a girl to do when her mother doesn't like her boy friend and does everything she can do to break up the friendship?

Well, the first thing for her to do is to give her mother's viewpoint some fair thought; to make an honest effort to see whether or not there might be something in it.

Not every mother who tries to persuade her daughter to give up a particular boy friend does so out of mere meanness or narrow-mindedness. Sometimes she really has a reason, and a good one, for her attitude, and if a girl has the sense to give this reason its due, she may, thereby, save herself much unhappiness later, when sad experience has taught her that her mother's judgment was sounder than her own.

This is not to lose sight of the fact that there certainly are mothers who don't have good reasons for their interference with their daughters' friends among the boys. It is perfectly true that there are some who are so afraid of having their children grow up, marry and leave them, that they will use every low trick they can think of to alienate any man or any girl who gives a second glance at their daughters or their sons.

But unless and until these sons and daughters have definite grounds for believing that their mother's behavior has motives of this kind behind it, they should give her the benefit of the doubt. And giving her the benefit of the doubt means being willing to listen as fairly as possible to what she has to say.

A twenty-year-old girl who writes me of this type of problem, in which her mother is trying to break up her romance, suggests, without being aware that she is giving herself away, that there might be something on her mother's side. This is what she says:

"About two months ago, I met a boy who fell deeply in love with me, and for awhile I loved him also. I have been seeing him three and four nights a week, and my mother doesn't approve of it. She doesn't like him, and every night when I come in late, after being out with him, she starts scolding, and it makes me mad to think that she might start when he is around also. Everyone else in my family likes him, and thinks he is nice, and I don't see why she can't.

"I know she thinks I'm too young, but I know our age doesn't mean anything when you've found the right one. There are a lot of other reasons why she doesn't like him, but I won't go into it any further, because to me it's a lot of silliness.

"What can I do? Please advise me before it's too late and I might do something I'd regret all my life. He phones me often for dates, and I always manage to be at the phone, or near it, when it's time for him to call, because I'm afraid my mother might answer and say I'm not home, even though I am. Do you think I should find something he either does or says, and hold it against him and not see him again?"

Now, in the first place, this girl stops short and shies away when she comes to what appears to be the crux of the matter—her mother's specific objection to her young man. There are a lot of reasons why her mother feels as she does, she admits, but she "won't go into them," because they seem silly to her. But obviously they don't seem silly to her mother, and it's entirely within the realm of possibility that some of them might not seem silly to me, either. Certainly I'm not going to put all the blame on this mother, as this girl wants me to do, without knowing what the things are to which the mother objects.

I'll admit that the mother isn't handling the matter very tactfully. I'll go further than that and agree that she seems, in fact to be handling it very badly indeed. But even so, I think this girl would do well to examine her mother's objections fairly and see which of them has commonsense and wisdom on her side. Once she has found that out, it will be easier to decide what the next step should be.

Ryan Terms Legion Search Unreasonable

Police officers have the right to inspect places where liquor is sold but the search must be reasonable, according to Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg.

Charles A. Cole, post commander, said the organization will seek damages from the City of Frostburg on the grounds that two policemen forced entrance into the club rooms on East Main Street and damaged property.

Ryan said it has not yet been decided how much in damages will be sought and added that criminal action is contemplated as well. "The post is not so much interested in money," said Ryan, "as it is the principle of the thing."

He declared: "It looks to us like a case of unlawful breaking and entering of private property. The search was unreasonable because officers had visited the place only 15 or 20 minutes before and found nothing out of order. This was an unreasonable and arbitrary entry where no consideration was shown. The Constitution gives protection against that regardless of what the local liquor law may provide."

Mexican Border Vets May Receive Pension

Under a bill introduced by Senator Capehart, which is now before the Senate Finance committee, Allegany county men who served 90 days or more on the Mexican border between May 9, 1916, and April 6, 1917, may receive pensions and other benefits, John E. Barnett, of Cumberland, who was among the 119 members of Company G on the border, said yesterday.

Barnett said he received a copy of the bill from Senator Tydings, who also served with the First Maryland Infantry on the border.

Beer Permit Awarded

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board has granted a Class D beer license for six days to John J. Dormio, for the American Legion Drum Corps at St. Michael's Hall, Frostburg. The temporary permit is good May 12 to 17, inclusive.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hiser, Petersburg, W. Va., observed their Golden (50th) wedding anniversary on May 4 and 5 with their children and families gathered for a buffet luncheon at the Hiser home here. Mr. and Mrs. Hiser were married near Pansy, May 5, 1897 by Rev. Mr. Fultz, of the Methodist Church, Petersburg, and established a home in Davis, W. Va., where he was employed by the Blackwater Lumber Corporation. They later moved to the home community of Hiser and some years later moved to Petersburg. Some years ago he was elected assessor of Grant County, which office he still holds.

Board Denies Bus Drivers Benefits

The Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board has rejected an appeal of Potomac Edison Company bus drivers and mechanics for jobless pay benefits while they were on strike, starting March 6 and lasting 27 days, according to a report in the case received yesterday by Francis A. Kenney, manager of the UCB office here.

A hearing in the case was conducted here a short time ago by R. J. Doyle, special examiner for the board. The board decided that a work stoppage existed due to a labor dispute and that benefits could not be paid under terms of the unemployment compensation act.

Union members contended that the action of the PE in refusing to arbitrate the dispute constituted a lockout and they should receive jobless benefits, but the board held refusal of PE to arbitrate did not in any way alter the facts in the case. Even if the company had locked out the workers by refusing to arbitrate, the situation would be the same, the board stated.

Separated 23 Years Court Grants Divorce

A divorce decree was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, granting a divorce to Lynn Ferguson, this city, from Marie Ferguson, Elkins, W. Va. It was shown in the case that the couple married at Keyser, W. Va., February 23, 1923, had one child, now an adult, and have been separated nearly 23 years.

A bill of complaint, seeking divorce was docketed by Alice F. King, vs. Alexander C. King.

Wright Is Acquitted

H. M. Wright, Wiley Ford, W. Va., postmaster, was acquitted of a charge of reckless driving at a hearing before Justice of the Peace C. J. Phillips in Ridgeley Monday night. The charge was preferred by Police Chief Jesse R. Elkins after the car Wright was driving careened against an embankment and then crashed against another car near Ridgeley April 11.

Lonaconing Man Passes Law Test

BALTIMORE, May 13 (AP)—Theodore Sherbow, 23-year-old son of Judge Joseph Sherbow of Baltimore's Supreme Bench, scored the highest grade among 42 successful applicants for licenses to practice law in Maryland, it was announced today.

Sherbow will be graduated next month from the University of Maryland Law School.

The next four highest grades were scored by Donald B. Leach of Baltimore, Charles Hopkins Reed, Jr.—of Bel Air and Carl F. Gottschalk of Baltimore, who were tied, Clayton A. Dietrick of Baltimore and Michael Pue Crocker of Bel Air.

The other successful applicants included:

James Schuyler Getty, Lonaconing.

Fogle Arrested On Damage Charge

Arrested yesterday morning on two warrants charging him with assault and willfully damaging and tampering with an automobile Saturday night, Wilbur E. Fogle, 216 Piedmont Avenue, was freed under $300 bond pending a hearing today.

Police said Fogle, who has been apprehended several times on motor charges, allegedly broke a window in the car of William Graham, Roberts Street.

Ordinary soap and water are best for cleaning spun aluminum ice buckets, cheese trays and fruit baskets. Abrasives mar the finish.

List Of City-Owned Lots Being Prepared

As the City Engineering Department continued yesterday to prepare a list of city-owned lots which the Mayor and Council plans to offer for sale, it was reported that a check of Ward Six shows about 80 lots which may be offered.

The lots have been taken over by the city in tax sales. In some cases only the amount of county and state taxes plus interest has been filed against the lots as well as taxes.

Bus Stop Restored

A West Side stop on the Potomac Edison's Patterson Avenue-Mapleside bus route was restored yesterday morning when buses began stopping at Beall Street and Patterson Avenue, breaking the long stretch between Allegany Street and Avirett Avenue. The stop was eliminated in 1943 to conserve gasoline during the war.

Motorist Is Fined On Wrong Tag Charge

Baker B. Lease, Route 46, south of Fort Ashby, W. Va., was fined $14.60 Monday at a hearing before Magistrate C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with improper plates. He was arrested Sunday by Cpl. R. R. Karrickhoff.

Edward Junior Judy, Limestone, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited $14.60 bond on a charge of driving without an operator's license, and Robert E. Powell, address not available, forfeited the same bond for allowing an unlicensed person to operate the vehicle. They were arrested Sunday by Trooper L. E. Proudfoot.

Bus Workers Will Get Wage Increase

Ending a strike which began January 15, an agreement providing for a wage increase of approximately 12 cents an hour for drivers and maintenance men of the Somerset Bus Company has been reached, and service is scheduled to resume tomorrow.

The company operates routes out of Somerset to Cumberland, Johnstown and Pittsburgh and plans to extend service between Johnstown and Connellsville.

The new contract signed by Oscar E. Reitz, president and general manager of the bus company, provides a basic wage of 95 cents per hour for drivers with more than six months and 85 cents for less than six months' service.

The operators will receive 40 cents per hour layover time in excess of two hours. They will be paid time and one-half for working on the sixth and seventh days of a work week.

A minimum of $25 per week is provided for an extra driver on duty. With layover time added, the drivers in the highest pay bracket will receive the equivalent of about $1.02 per hour under the new wage agreement.

Maintenance men in the bus company's garage will be classified under the new agreement and the following wage rate established: Class A mechanic, $1 per hour; Class B, 90 cents; mechanic's helper, 85 cents, and utility men, 75 cents. In addition they will receive overtime for work over 40 hours per week.

The 32 drivers and maintenance men voted to accept the proposal at a meeting Saturday afternoon and a few hours later Reitz signed the contract.

In addition to the pay boost, provisions of the new contract give the union maintenance of membership with the company. Men serving more than 10 years with the concern will receive three weeks vacation with pay each year.

It has been found that insanity is more prevalent among civilized peoples than among primitive groups.

Bus Workers Will Get Wage Increase

Ending a strike which began January 15, an agreement providing for a wage increase of approximately 12 cents an hour for drivers and maintenance men of the Somerset Bus Company has been reached, and service is scheduled to resume tomorrow.

The company operates routes out of Somerset to Cumberland, Johnstown and Pittsburgh and plans to extend service between Johnstown and Connellsville.

The new contract signed by Oscar E. Reitz, president and general manager of the bus company, provides a basic wage of 95 cents per hour for drivers with more than six months and 85 cents for less than six months' service.

The operators will receive 40 cents per hour layover time in excess of two hours. They will be paid time and one-half for working on the sixth and seventh days of a work week.

A minimum of $25 per week is provided for an extra driver on duty. With layover time added, the drivers in the highest pay bracket will receive the equivalent of about $1.02 per hour under the new wage agreement.

Maintenance men in the bus company's garage will be classified under the new agreement and the following wage rate established: Class A mechanic, $1 per hour; Class B, 90 cents; mechanic's helper, 85 cents, and utility men, 75 cents. In addition they will receive overtime for work over 40 hours per week.

The 32 drivers and maintenance men voted to accept the proposal at a meeting Saturday afternoon and a few hours later Reitz signed the contract.

In addition to the pay boost, provisions of the new contract give the union maintenance of membership with the company. Men serving more than 10 years with the concern will receive three weeks vacation with pay each year.

Keyser Will Not Have To Hold Primary May 20

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., May 13—Over the weekend, it had been apparent that a primary election would be necessary in the municipal election contest with three candidates for mayor in the race, but the withdrawal of C. S. Briley, Monday, made the primary unnecessary.

Briley, a well known World War I veteran and active Legionnaire, filed his papers at about 10:30 p. m. Saturday, slightly more than an hour before the deadline. His withdrawal today narrows the field to Joseph B. Nowatski, and John C. Freeland, incumbent. Briley gave no reason for his withdrawal.

With only two candidates for council, and but one seat to fill, and only two for mayor, with one to be elected, the primary which would have been held on May 20, will not be necessary, City Clerk A. A. Jordan explained.

The two candidates for council include Frank W. Mott, incumbent, and Harold J. Snyder, a local engineer.

The general election will be held June 3.

Four Arrests Made

Over the weekend city officers made three arrests for drunkenness and one for a hit-and-run offense. In each case the offender posted a cash forfeit for his appearance before the police court. The hit-and-run driver was Mr. Kitzmiller, of Vindex, who ran down Mark Iodini, 17, who was riding a bicycle. Young Iodini escaped injury. Kitzmiller was apprehended by the Piedmont police and returned to Keyser. There were five meter violations. Meter collections for the week amounted to $196.08.

Attend Conference

Earl Martin, Antioch; Justina Webb, Burlington; James Preaskorn, Ridgeley, and Betty Price Malone and Guy Stewart, Keyser, have returned from Jacksons Mill, where they attended the West Virginia State All-Star conference. The All-Star organization is an honorary branch of the 4-H Clubs, composed chiefly by older club members and young people who have done outstanding service for the clubs throughout the state.

TODAY'S GAME
Allegany at Paw Paw

Shaking off the effects of the jolt they received Monday when their seven-game winning streak was smashed by Fort Hill, Coach Brother Declan's LaSalle High School tossers provided a nice surprise yesterday when they upset Beall High School, defending champions of the Tri-County Conference, by the score of 5 to 4 in Frostburg.

Beall had enjoyed a six-game winning streak and yesterday's setback was the first of the current campaign for Coach Ed Finzel's Mountain City warriors.

By winning LaSalle knocked Beall out of first place in the conference and went into a tie with Fort Hill for the loop leadership, each school having copped five games and lost one.

Stowell Hits Homer

The score was knotted at 3-3 going into the final frame when the Explorers chased two runs over the platter and Beall finished only one run in the rear when Pitcher Max Stowell belted a home run to left-center.

Jimmie Delaney got a life on an infield error to open the seventh for LaSalle. After Jimmie Collins walked, Close flied to Best. Joe Reissig singled, scoring Delaney. Johnny Esposito fanned and when Third Sacker Dunn committed an error on Evans' throw to get Collins off third base, the latter raced home with what proved to be the winning run.

Delaney Whiffs 15

Delaney opened the last half of the seventh by whiffing Crump and Evans. Then Stowell knocked a home run. The LaSalle speedball artist concluded his brilliant performance by striking out Murray to end the game. A total of 15 batsmen went down on strikes before Delaney's slants. He fanned at least one batsmen in every inning and struck out the side in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings. In the fourth and fifth he fired the third strike past six straight batters. Every Beall player but Scott fanned at least once.

Stowell struck out eleven LaSalle batters, yielded seven hits and obtained two of the four hits given up by Stowell. Reissig and Genevie collected four of LaSalle's seven safeties. Box:

Allegany Noses Out Hyndman 5-4 On Powers' Hit

Tommy's Blow Wins Game In 7th Frame

Noyes "Tommy" Powers, Allegany High School's slugging shortstop, whose home run enabled the Campers to beat Johnny Waltman and Hyndman High School in the Pennsylvania town on April 28, provided a "clutch" single in the seventh and final inning to give Coach Hubert Radcliffe's Blue and White tossers a 5 to 4 verdict over the Keystone Staters yesterday in a return tilt at Campobello.

The victory gave AHS a record of three wins against two losses in the Tri-County Conference race and kept the West Siders in the running for the title.

In yesterday's contest Tom Powers was sailing along nicely for six innings at the close of which AHS held a 4-0 lead. Then Hyndman hammered four runs over the platter in the top half of the 7th to knot the count at 4-all.

Allegany squeezed out the win in its half of the final stanza when Powers touched Waltman for the deciding hit which scored Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who had been inserted to run for Don Lewis. The latter reached base on a fielder's choice.

Jamison yielded seven hits and stuck out six. Waltman gave up nine safeties and fanned eleven. It marked the fourth straight time this season that Hyndman went down to defeat at the hands of a Cumberland school. Waltman, incidentally, has lost three of the games.

Allegany is scheduled to play a conference game at Paw Paw, W. Va., today. Box:

Shaking off the effects of the jolt they received Monday when their seven-game winning streak was smashed by Fort Hill, Coach Brother Declan's LaSalle High School tossers provided a nice surprise yesterday when they upset Beall High School, defending champions of the Tri-County Conference, by the score of 5 to 4 in Frostburg.

Beall had enjoyed a six-game winning streak and yesterday's setback was the first of the current campaign for Coach Ed Finzel's Mountain City warriors.

By winning LaSalle knocked Beall out of first place in the conference and went into a tie with Fort Hill for the loop leadership, each school having copped five games and lost one.

Stowell Hits Homer

The score was knotted at 3-3 going into the final frame when the Explorers chased two runs over the platter and Beall finished only one run in the rear when Pitcher Max Stowell belted a home run to left-center.

Jimmie Delaney got a life on an infield error to open the seventh for LaSalle. After Jimmie Collins walked, Close flied to Best. Joe Reissig singled, scoring Delaney. Johnny Esposito fanned and when Third Sacker Dunn committed an error on Evans' throw to get Collins off third base, the latter raced home with what proved to be the winning run.

Delaney Whiffs 15

Delaney opened the last half of the seventh by whiffing Crump and Evans. Then Stowell knocked a home run. The LaSalle speedball artist concluded his brilliant performance by striking out Murray to end the game. A total of 15 batsmen went down on strikes before Delaney's slants. He fanned at least one batsmen in every inning and struck out the side in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings. In the fourth and fifth he fired the third strike past six straight batters. Every Beall player but Scott fanned at least once.

Stowell struck out eleven LaSalle batters, yielded seven hits and obtained two of the four hits given up by Stowell. Reissig and Genevie collected four of LaSalle's seven safeties. Box:

Allegany Noses Out Hyndman 5-4 On Powers' Hit

Tommy's Blow Wins Game In 7th Frame

Noyes "Tommy" Powers, Allegany High School's slugging shortstop, whose home run enabled the Campers to beat Johnny Waltman and Hyndman High School in the Pennsylvania town on April 28, provided a "clutch" single in the seventh and final inning to give Coach Hubert Radcliffe's Blue and White tossers a 5 to 4 verdict over the Keystone Staters yesterday in a return tilt at Campobello.

The victory gave AHS a record of three wins against two losses in the Tri-County Conference race and kept the West Siders in the running for the title.

In yesterday's contest Tom Powers was sailing along nicely for six innings at the close of which AHS held a 4-0 lead. Then Hyndman hammered four runs over the platter in the top half of the 7th to knot the count at 4-all.

Allegany squeezed out the win in its half of the final stanza when Powers touched Waltman for the deciding hit which scored Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who had been inserted to run for Don Lewis. The latter reached base on a fielder's choice.

Jamison yielded seven hits and stuck out six. Waltman gave up nine safeties and fanned eleven. It marked the fourth straight time this season that Hyndman went down to defeat at the hands of a Cumberland school. Waltman, incidentally, has lost three of the games.

Allegany is scheduled to play a conference game at Paw Paw, W. Va., today. Box:

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—John Lawther's tight zone defense is not very popular with Penn State's basketball opponents but still other coaches like to know how it operates. Miss Eleanor Rizer, of the physical education department of the board of education, will be in charge of the girls' games tournament which will also get under way Friday morning at 11 o'clock on the Allegany High School athletic field, Campobello.

Approximately 225 girls will participate in the games, Ramey said.

Eddie Arcaro Presses Longden In Money Won

NEW YORK, (AP) — Johnny Longden breaks a couple of American records every time he wins a race—but Eddie Arcaro is close on his heels in one department, that of money won by his mounts.

Jockey Longden has ridden over 2,600 winners since he marked his first year in the saddle with a single winner in 1927. Only England's Gordon Richards, who has passed the 3,000 mark, has booted home more horses. Arcaro, too, has passed the 2,000 mark, but is more than 500 winners behind Longden.

Through 1946, Longden's winners had won purses totaling $5,298,425, an all-time record. Arcaro's mounts have won $5,157,007, and another year like 1946, when Johnny rolled up $1,018,365, will put him ahead in that department.

When Bill See tossed a no-hit game against the Midland Red Sox on Sunday, the Westvaco ace marked up his fourth straight triumph of the current season and extended his scoreless innings pitched to twenty-two.

The slim righthander from Keyser last yielded a run in the first inning of the Barton-Westvaco game on May 4. He hurled seven innings in that game, blanking the Bartonites over the last six heats.

Last Saturday Bill worked seven innings against Frostburg and pitched shutout ball as the Pulpmen won.

Then he came back on Sunday to hurl nine innings of runless and hitless ball against Midland.

He has appeared in four of the five games played by Westvaco to date and has yielded two runs, 10 hits and struck out 41 batsmen in 32 innings.

Last season he won nine games and lost one and then pitched Westvaco to victory in the Bi-State loop's Shaughnessy series and the post-season series with the Cumberland American Legion.

Here's See's record to date:

Against	IP	R.	H.	So.	Score
Mt. Savage	9	1	6	16	14-1
Barton	7	1	2	8	10-1
Frostburg	7	0	2	6	14-1
Midland	9	0	0	11	3-0
Totals	32	2	10	41

Since the 1946-47 amateur boxing season opened here last October 7, a total of 8,574 persons have paid $10,346.30 to witness 15 shows, an average of 571 cash customers and $689.75 per show.

The American Legion, Police Boys' Club and the Royale Athletic Club (formerly the South Cumberland Athletic Club) have each held five shows over the seven months' period.

The three top gates of the season are credited to the Royale A. C., of which Presley W. "Red" Mauk is the matchmaker.

The RAC reported the season's high of 1,125 paid and gate receipts of $1,326.50 for its last show on May 5. The same club reported 1,007 paid and $1,185.50 on March 24 and 813 paid and receipts of $949 on January 27.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county public schools, says that $5,000 will be expended before the 1947 football season on improvements at the Fort Hill stadium.

Most of the work will be done beneath the concrete stands and will include alterations to the dressing rooms and the installation of a hot water heating unit for showers.

He intimated that the electric football scoreboard purchased by public contributions amounting to over $3,000 will be ready for installation about June.

Don't be surprised if Coach Bill Hahn lists an invitational night track and field meet for the stadium in 1948.

Hahn believes a track meet in which schools from all over the tri-state district will compete will attract a large crowd under the arcs.

The start and finish of all track events can be run off in front of the grandstand and field contests can be staged in the oval directly in front of the stand.

The recent death of John Marean, of the city engineering department, marked the passing of one of Cumberland's star pitchers during the period extending from 1910 to 1918.

Marean twirled for Col. Nelson W. Russler's Cumberland Colts at old South End Park (now Taylor Field) and his brother Bill played first base. Other well known local players of that era were Bill Brode, Russell "Mike" Diehl, Nate Dreyer, Hugh Markwood, Johnny Stafford, "Lefty" Smith, Frank "Jock" Lippold, Charley "Hun" Lippold, Clarence Schafer, Humphrey "Hump" Johnson, "Sonny" Geatz and "Peewee" Fuller.

Attending last Sunday's game at South End brought back memories of the days when Russler's Dobbins played there and used the rear of his barber shop near Virginia and Laing Avenues for a dressing room.

Yes, the same old Colonel was broadcasting last Sunday's game from a sound truck. He cut his first teeth on a baseball and that's a good many years ago.

The Grafton (W. Va.) Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning to present several boxing shows again this summer, the first being scheduled for Memorial Day.

On that date an eight-bout card will be staged at the Grafton High School athletic field. John Zan, of Morgantown, will be the matchmaker.

Pendleton county farmers have quite a problem on their hands.

Bears have destroyed large numbers of sheep in the county this spring and since the animals are protected by law, there is little the farmers can do to defend their property. Some farmers have disposed of their flocks rather than put up with the depredations.

Persons in the affected area are hopeful that restrictions against killing the predators will be lifted.

Eighty-six county and community fairs will be held in the State of Pennsylvania this year.

The long list includes the Bedford County Fair at Bedford, August 4-9, and the Somerset Fair at Meyersdale, September 1-6.

Ted Williams Poles Two Homers For Boy "Burned At The Stake"

MALDEN, Mass, May 13 (AP) — Before today's ball game—in which the Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 19-6—Ted Williams and Pitcher Joe Dodson visited Glenny Brann, 11-year-old legless youngster who asked the Boston slugger to hit a home run.

"I'll try, Glenny, and if I do you'll know I hit it for you," Ted told the boy confined to Malden Hospital after he and Dobson gave the boy a ball and bat.

Ted not only hit a home run, he hit two, both into the screen atop the high fence which stretches from the left field foul line to the center field bleachers.

They were the first home runs the kid has hit in Boston this season and the first he ever hit to left field in Fenway Park.

Little Glenny also has a treat in store from the Cleveland Indians.

President Bill Veeck, who suffered amputation of one leg after an accident overseas, has written the youngster that a new Indians' cap is on the way to him.

Glenny's limbs were amputated after he was "burned at the stake" in a game by thoughtless playmates.

Irish Champ Wins

NEW YORK, May 13, (AP) — Pat O'Connor, 159 3-4, County Cork, Eire, knocked out Lou Rousse, 157, New York, at 2:16 of the fourth round of the scheduled eight-round feature at the Park Arena tonight. O'Connor, Irish middleweight champion, was making his New York debut, having won four previous fights in this country.

Nels Fenton of Jackson, Mich., recently returned with his hound Little Joe after an all day chase which Reynard led his trailers over a circuitous 25-mile route. The fox escaped.

CHICAGO, May 13 — (AP) — Earl Torgeson, rookie first baseman, led the Boston Braves to a 7 to 4 victory over the Chicago Cubs today, in the first game of the Braves' Western tour before 11,167 in Wrigley Field.

"Torgy" drove in five runs with a home run, two doubles and a single in five times up. The homer, which came with two on, was his eighth of the season and his sixth in the last nine games. He now has a runs-batted-in total of 26 to top the National League in that department. Box:

Since the 1946-47 amateur boxing season opened here last October 7, a total of 8,574 persons have paid $10,346.30 to witness 15 shows, an average of 571 cash customers and $689.75 per show.

The American Legion, Police Boys' Club and the Royale Athletic Club (formerly the South Cumberland Athletic Club) have each held five shows over the seven months' period.

The three top gates of the season are credited to the Royale A. C., of which Presley W. "Red" Mauk is the matchmaker.

The RAC reported the season's high of 1,125 paid and gate receipts of $1,326.50 for its last show on May 5. The same club reported 1,007 paid and $1,185.50 on March 24 and 813 paid and receipts of $949 on January 27.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county public schools, says that $5,000 will be expended before the 1947 football season on improvements at the Fort Hill stadium.

Most of the work will be done beneath the concrete stands and will include alterations to the dressing rooms and the installation of a hot water heating unit for showers.

He intimated that the electric football scoreboard purchased by public contributions amounting to over $3,000 will be ready for installation about June.

Don't be surprised if Coach Bill Hahn lists an invitational night track and field meet for the stadium in 1948.

Hahn believes a track meet in which schools from all over the tri-state district will compete will attract a large crowd under the arcs.

The start and finish of all track events can be run off in front of the grandstand and field contests can be staged in the oval directly in front of the stand.

The recent death of John Marean, of the city engineering department, marked the passing of one of Cumberland's star pitchers during the period extending from 1910 to 1918.

Marean twirled for Col. Nelson W. Russler's Cumberland Colts at old South End Park (now Taylor Field) and his brother Bill played first base. Other well known local players of that era were Bill Brode, Russell "Mike" Diehl, Nate Dreyer, Hugh Markwood, Johnny Stafford, "Lefty" Smith, Frank "Jock" Lippold, Charley "Hun" Lippold, Clarence Schafer, Humphrey "Hump" Johnson, "Sonny" Geatz and "Peewee" Fuller.

Attending last Sunday's game at South End brought back memories of the days when Russler's Dobbins played there and used the rear of his barber shop near Virginia and Laing Avenues for a dressing room.

Yes, the same old Colonel was broadcasting last Sunday's game from a sound truck. He cut his first teeth on a baseball and that's a good many years ago.

The Grafton (W. Va.) Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning to present several boxing shows again this summer, the first being scheduled for Memorial Day.

On that date an eight-bout card will be staged at the Grafton High School athletic field. John Zan, of Morgantown, will be the matchmaker.

Pendleton county farmers have quite a problem on their hands.

Bears have destroyed large numbers of sheep in the county this spring and since the animals are protected by law, there is little the farmers can do to defend their property. Some farmers have disposed of their flocks rather than put up with the depredations.

Persons in the affected area are hopeful that restrictions against killing the predators will be lifted.

Eighty-six county and community fairs will be held in the State of Pennsylvania this year.

The long list includes the Bedford County Fair at Bedford, August 4-9, and the Somerset Fair at Meyersdale, September 1-6.

Ted Williams Poles Two Homers For Boy "Burned At The Stake"

MALDEN, Mass, May 13 (AP) — Before today's ball game—in which the Red Sox outslugged the Chicago White Sox 19-6—Ted Williams and Pitcher Joe Dodson visited Glenny Brann, 11-year-old legless youngster who asked the Boston slugger to hit a home run.

"I'll try, Glenny, and if I do you'll know I hit it for you," Ted told the boy confined to Malden Hospital after he and Dobson gave the boy a ball and bat.

Ted not only hit a home run, he hit two, both into the screen atop the high fence which stretches from the left field foul line to the center field bleachers.

They were the first home runs the kid has hit in Boston this season and the first he ever hit to left field in Fenway Park.

Little Glenny also has a treat in store from the Cleveland Indians.

President Bill Veeck, who suffered amputation of one leg after an accident overseas, has written the youngster that a new Indians' cap is on the way to him.

Glenny's limbs were amputated after he was "burned at the stake" in a game by thoughtless playmates.

Irish Champ Wins

NEW YORK, May 13, (AP) — Pat O'Connor, 159 3-4, County Cork, Eire, knocked out Lou Rousse, 157, New York, at 2:16 of the fourth round of the scheduled eight-round feature at the Park Arena tonight. O'Connor, Irish middleweight champion, was making his New York debut, having won four previous fights in this country.

Nels Fenton of Jackson, Mich., recently returned with his hound Little Joe after an all day chase which Reynard led his trailers over a circuitous 25-mile route. The fox escaped.

Earl Torgeson's Hitting Features Braves' Victory

Swats Eighth Homer, Bats In Five Runs

CHICAGO, May 13 — (AP) — Earl Torgeson, rookie first baseman, led the Boston Braves to a 7 to 4 victory over the Chicago Cubs today, in the first game of the Braves' Western tour before 11,167 in Wrigley Field.

"Torgy" drove in five runs with a home run, two doubles and a single in five times up. The homer, which came with two on, was his eighth of the season and his sixth in the last nine games. He now has a runs-batted-in total of 26 to top the National League in that department. Box:

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

What a lot of beefing you hear these days!

Guys with small dough are beefing about the high cost of butter. Guys with big dough are beefing about the high cost of taxes. Lonely gals are complaining they can't find husbands. Married ones are complaining, period.

Billy Rose

Of course, much of this is what the English call "fun and games." The gripe is an easy way to get poison out of the system, and there's no harm in it unless you do it while the rest of the family is listening to Fred Allen.

But occasionally the anvil chorus makes me a little ear-weary. I get to wishing I could hook my finger through the beefer's buttonhole and tell him about Harry Murdock.

In cold type, the story of Harry's tough luck may be hard to believe. It may read like a Welsh rarebit dream. But cross my heart, it happened the way I'm going to tell it.

Amalgamated Beefers of the World, please note.

Harry Murdock was a theatre manager. Around 1930 the theatre business went blah and Harry lost his job. For the next ten years he raked leaves for the WPA, peddled Christmas cards, and got eyestrain reading classified ads. His family seldom saw meat except in the butcher's window.

One day his eight-year-old boy started running a fever. The kid had picked up the only case of a rare Asiatic disease recorded in this country in half a century. The boy came out of it alive, but with steel braces on his legs.

In April of '42 Harry finally got a job—assistant manager of a movie theatre. The following week he got the long and narrow envelope with the letter which began, "Greetings . . . ." The induction center doctor counted his eyes and fingers and passed him. Harry quit his job, sold his few sticks of furniture and arranged for his kid and missus to bunk with his mother. He was sent to Camp Upton for processing. Passed his physical there. Changed from his ill-fitting blue serge to a worse-fitting olive drab and packed off to Camp Blanding, outside Jacksonville. There the medico slapped him on the back, and Harry winced. Two days later he was discharged. Sacroiliac.

Back home he got a job clerking in a brewery. Filled in forms and wrote up reports. Three weeks later the FBI marched in and arrested everyone connected with the books. The ex-beer barons on the board of directors had carried over into Repeal their distaste for paying Federal taxes. Bewildered Harry was convicted and sent to jail for a year.

Good behavior lopped off four months. The train back to town was crowded with troops and Harry stood on the platform. Coming into Penn Station, the train lurched. Harry fell through the open door against a baggage truck. Broken arm.

Six weeks later some friends threw a party to celebrate the removal of Harry's plaster cast. The doctor who had set it took on a whiskey sour too many. "Good as new," he announced, holding up Harry's arm. To prove his point, he gave the arm a sharp smack with the flat of his hand. It bounced off the mantelpiece. Broken again.

The next thing that happened to Harry Murdock will read like loony bin stuff. The odds against it were a trillion zillion to one.

When his wing mended, Fortune's stepchild got a job selling programs at the race track. He went to work at 1:00 o'clock. At 3:00 o'clock that day a fellow bought a program, handed Harry ten dollars, and rushed off without waiting for change. Harry ran after the guy but lost him in the crowd. He was standing with the ten-spot in his hand when another program-peddler sidled up and said, "Just heard one of the owners talking about his horse, Gypsy Jim, in the last race. Says he's had Gypsy Jim under wraps, and he's a cinch to win. Ought to pay about forty to one."

At the end of the seventh race, Harry put his white coat in the locker, went to the ten-dollar window and bought a ticket on Gypsy Jim to win. Then he went down to the rail to root him in. Gypsy Jim broke on top. At the quarter he was leading by one length, at the half by three. Coming down the homestretch he was running by himself.

Suddenly a piece of newspaper blew out on the track. It flattened itself against Gypsy Jim's nose. The frightened horse bucked, threw the jockey, broke for the outside rail and tried to jump it. A flying hoof knocked a spectator senseless.

You guessed it — it was Harry Murdock.

Now what was that you were beefing about?

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Talent Cartel

Ingrid Bergman, I read in "Variety," has run up a record gross of $820,000 in the Maxwell Anderson play "Joan of Lorraine," which will soon close. Miss Bergman is on her way to Hollywood where she will do Joan of Arc in the movies. According to "Variety," she was the 1946 feminine box office champion. Four of her pictures earned a total of $21,750,000, an average of $5,437,000 per picture.

Ingrid Bergman

The Ford Motor Company — I'm still quoting "Variety" here — is now contemplating a full hour dramatic radio program which would alternate with the N. B. C. Symphony and would star Miss Bergman. This is just an idea; it hasn't come off yet. I cite all these excessive financial figures as an example of the growing and, in many respects, alarming cartelization of talent. Or perhaps personality is the word I'm groping for. When and if Miss Bergman enters radio, she will be a leading personality in three of the foremost media of show business. Beyond those three, of course, lies singing with a band, a jukebox and—though I can't quite fit her in — the flea circus. There aren't many other worlds to conquer in show business.

Now let's turn to some other personalities. The only person who out-grosses Miss Bergman in pictures (I'm back in "Variety" again) is Bing Crosby, who averaged $6,000,000 a picture for three pictures. Mr. Crosby also has a radio program and sells records in vast quantities. Almost any branch of show business would like to have him.

Well, Miss Bergman is one of the great actresses of our time, both on the stage and screen. She has never projected very well in radio and it's doubtful that she ever will. There are dozens of unknown radio actresses who could do a better job, though they couldn't attract as many listeners. Mr. Crosby, who is fundamentally a singer, became a screen actor or, to put it more accurately, a screen personality, who strolled through a number of tailor-made pictures, which made fantastic amounts of money.

An even better example of the talent cartel is Bob Hope. Mr. Hope is one of the nation's favorite radio performers and also one of the top draws in pictures. His radio program promotes the pictures (Mr. Hope manages to mention the name of his latest picture, which shall be nameless, at least three times in every script) and the pictures promote the radio program. In addition, he has a newspaper column and several books have appeared under his name, one of which sold 1,600,000 copies. How much of the books or the column Mr. Hope writes is any one's guess. At any rate, the public doesn't buy them for their literary qualities but because Mr. Hope's name is attached to them. Any moment I expect to see a nation-wide chain of Bob Hope restaurants. People will flock to them not because of the food but because there is a picture of Mr. Hope in the lobby.

Miss Bergman, Mr. Crosby and Mr. Hope are not to blame for their growing dominance in so many fields but they open up some interesting questions about the American public. Do people want talent or do they want names? Radio talent is not necessarily movie talent and movie talent is not necessarily radio talent—but no one seems to mind.

Radio and records and movies certainly expanded the entertainment field but they have contracted the reservoir of talent. Pictures and radio threw thousands of musicians out of work. The movies killed vaudeville and stock companies and ruined the road for the legitimate theater. But at least they opened some bright new horizons for singers and actors. Now the trend is for the leader in one field to be the leader in all fields; the second-place artists and the also-rans in one field are the second place and also rans in all of them.

The talent field is gradually becoming a select pool of one-man trusts who dominate the entire industry pretty much the same way Standard Oil dominated the oil business until a government anti-trust suit broke it up. The great money-makers of our time are not empire-builders but actors and darned if they aren't leaving in almost the same way.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 13—Dorothy Ford, the glamazon who made her screen debut with Mickey Rooney, is being sent on a three - month tour of the country to talk to editors about "A Miracle Can Happen". She'll do the same kind of job Anita Colby did when she walked into editorial offices and gave a selling talk about "Duel In The Sun".

Orson Welles

Let's hope "Miracle" doesn't have as much later trouble as "Duel" did. This is the Ben Bogeaus picture that has all the big stars—Jimmy Stewart, Henry Fonda, and a lot of others.

Bogeaus, by the way, is talking to King Vidor about directing a picture. Vidor and Tay Garnett have split partnership and Vidor will make a special deal with Bogeaus for a story to be named later.

Chatter in Hollywood: Orson Welles might be interested in knowing that Dolores Del Rio is not carrying a torch for him. He called her up a few days after she arrived in New York to see if there was anything he could do and then turned right around and gave the news of his telephone call to several reporters.

There's positively no rekindling in that direction. Dolores doesn't need him, nor is she interested. She received a telegram from Merian C. Cooper saying her performance is magnificent in "The Fugitive" and he believes John Ford has done one of the greatest directorial jobs of all time.

If Bill Boyd is actually thinking of putting up his cowboy togs and going "straight" for a few movies, millions of little boys are going to shoot off millions of B-B guns in protest.

Still, Bill has a point. For nearly 28 years on the screen, he's been ridin' and shootin' and hi ho-ing and the time has come when he is yearning for a change of pace. I can remember when Bill was a daggone good straight hero in such De Mille movies as "The Volga Boatman".

Bill, who is one of the handsomest actors on the screen with his white hair, heads for Canada in a few weeks to be grand marshal at the famed Calgary Rodeo and, of course, he'll wear that famous white cowboy finery that goes so well with his white locks.

Billy Ward pulled a funny one when he was cast as the son of Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara in "Foxes of Harrow."

"I think I look more like the son of Linda Darnell and Cornel Wilde," opined this kid who is the son of Perry Ward in real life. Yes, Billy played Linda's and Cornel's little boy in "Forever Amber" and there's nothing like picking out a set of parents you think you really resemble and sticking to them.

No matter whose son he plays, Billy is a very talented little actor.

Clifton Webb and his mother, Maybelle, have arrived in Hollywood and will live here while Clifton makes a movie for 20th.

Charlie Foy and John Lee Mahan will collaborate on the life story of Charlie's dad and the seven little Foys. They hope to make it into a movie.

Jane Withers' 70-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Charles Elble, underwent a major operation in Kentucky a few days ago. Jane will visit her after she presents the trophy to the winning driver at the annual Indianapolis Speedway classic. Didn't I hear there might be such a classic?

Barbara Britton's baby is due in two weeks.

Wayne Morris lost 12 pounds in three days for a new role. Terry Hunt did the trick.

Carl Esmond has flown to Rome about a British-Italian motion picture offer. I didn't know the Italians had enough money to be sparking their movie industry.

Burt Lancaster and his wife are at the Sherry-Netherlands in New York and Burt told an interviewer that at one time he didn't even have the 10 cents to ride past it on a bus. That's what I like about Burt—his honesty.

The rumor that Sally Rand has a bridegroom picked out is denied by the lady herself. I talked to her over the long distance telephone.

Dore Schary got the biggest turn out at the New York Press Club party at "21" than any executive has ever received. Even the New York drama critics showed up. They wanted to see what the bright new head of R.K.O. looks like.

Veronica Lake is back in town and she is not going to do the picture in London for 20th. She and Andre De Toth were at Ciro's. Near them were Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck. The four got together in New York.

Tom Hegin, author of "Mr. Roberts," has written an article on L. B. Mayer for one of the current magazines, telling something about how he became the highest salaried man in America.

Burns And Allen To Be Sinatra's Guests Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 13—After last week's Bob Hope, Frankie Sinatra is borrowing some more talent from the NBC list for his CBS program at 8 Wednesday night. It will be the man and wife time of Burns and Allen. Incidentally, B. and A. used to broadcast regularly on CBS.

On the recordings for Bing Crosby's 10 o'clock ABC show have been put the comedy voice of Groucho Marx and the baseball voice of Hank Greenberg, now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team in which Bing has an interest.

The Romance theater, in its current CBS revival at 6:30, is to have another radioing of "Kitty Foyle."

The United Nations program of NBC, formerly on Tuesday nights, now has the same 10:30 time on Wednesday. The format of drama and discussion is being continued.

Invitation to Music, CBS 10:30 concert, plans the "first performance in the US" of Symphony in C. minor by the eighteenth century German composer Joseph Martin Kraus. The orchestra conducting will be in charge of Edvard Fendler as Ben Hyams annotates. The symphony in four parts will take up the bulk of the program's allotted time of 30 minutes.

The Paul Whiteman (now called) assembly includes the songs of Johnny Thompson on ABC at 9. In the broadcast also will be a musical salute to the National Guard's Thirty-Sixth Texas division.

STRAWS IN WIND

BROADWAY

Incidental Intelligence

Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the old N. Y. World and creator of the Pulitzer Prize, who was recentlyhonored with a commemorative federal stamp may become the subject of a three-act play by Joseph K. Freeman, author of the Cavalcade of America radio series which will deal with Pulitzer's life. Pulitzer, Hungarian-born, was a soldier in the Union Army during the Civil War, a ferryboat stoker, railroad agent, mule hostler, roustabout and stevedore, among other things, before making history as a newspaper man. His younger brother, Albert, founded and operated the N. Y. Journal before selling it to Hearst.

Bill Tilden

Friends of Big Bill Tilden say he'll go to Europe to live after his release from a California clinic. . . . After all the publicity about Barbara Stanwyck taking lessons for her piano-playing scene in "The Other Love," which has its premiere here next week, it is Ania Dorfman who is tickling the ivoies. . . . Maria Palmer, a featured actress in that film, was an usher at the Fifth Avenue playhouse and a lingerie saleswoman at Stern's department store (where she recently held a reunion with her former co-workers) before becoming a protege of Max Reinhardt at his Vienna Theatre.

Lisa Kirk, singer who'll appear in "Open House," a comedy opening shortly on Broadway, is a niece of Admiral Ray Furlong, who headed the Pearl Harbor Fleet five days after the Jap bombing; a cousin of Pennsylvania State Senator Grant Furlong, and a descendent of Ulysses Grant. . . . Henry Hart, bartender at the Flamingo Cafe, is a cousin of the late W. C. Fields. . . . Arthur Blake, Hollywood mimic now playing the New York nite clubs (Greenwich Village Inn) is the son of a former editor of the Altoona (Pa.) Gazette and it was the late Conde Nast who persuaded him to abandon hat designing for grease paint.

Lynn Gilmore, sometimes called New York's most beautiful restaurateuse (she'll have to battle for that honor with Ann Bertoldo, of Tony's Trouville), appeared as a child actress with Al Jolson in "Hallelujah, I'm a um." . . . Solly Sarnartora, chef at Jimmy Kelly's, has named one of his dishes "Spaghetti a la Berlin" because (he claims) it was this savory specialty that brought about the romantic meeting of Irving Berlin and Ellen Mackay at Kelly's a couple of decades ago. . . . Ann Luther, widow of Ed Gallagher (of the famed Gallagher & Shean team) has a bit part in Paramount's forthcoming "Perils of Pauline," starring Betty Hutton. Miss Luther was a close friend of the original star of the series of that name, Pearl White.

Gags Made Part Of Health Report

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—This business of statistics for the State Health Department's communicable disease report would be awfully dull work except for a physician with a sense of humor whose name must be withheld.

On St. Patrick's Day, he reported:

Disease, nostalgia; name of patient, O'Brien; city, Limerick; county, Cork; color, green. Added touches were a festooned front and back with a liberal sprinkling of Shamrocks, a panoramic view of St Patrick ousting the snakes from Ireland and a derby-topped, pipe-smoking son of Erin.

Another report included a painting showing a puffy-checked, red-faced boy with the explanation: "Mumps galore."

An even better example of the talent cartel is Bob Hope. Mr. Hope is one of the nation's favorite radio performers and also one of the top draws in pictures. His radio program promotes the pictures (Mr. Hope manages to mention the name of his latest picture, which shall be nameless, at least three times in every script) and the pictures promote the radio program. In addition, he has a newspaper column and several books have appeared under his name, one of which sold 1,600,000 copies. How much of the books or the column Mr. Hope writes is any one's guess. At any rate, the public doesn't buy them for their literary qualities but because Mr. Hope's name is attached to them. Any moment I expect to see a nation-wide chain of Bob Hope restaurants. People will flock to them not because of the food but because there is a picture of Mr. Hope in the lobby.

Miss Bergman, Mr. Crosby and Mr. Hope are not to blame for their growing dominance in so many fields but they open up some interesting questions about the American public. Do people want talent or do they want names? Radio talent is not necessarily movie talent and movie talent is not necessarily radio talent—but no one seems to mind.

Radio and records and movies certainly expanded the entertainment field but they have contracted the reservoir of talent. Pictures and radio threw thousands of musicians out of work. The movies killed vaudeville and stock companies and ruined the road for the legitimate theater. But at least they opened some bright new horizons for singers and actors. Now the trend is for the leader in one field to be the leader in all fields; the second-place artists and the also-rans in one field are the second place and also rans in all of them.

The talent field is gradually becoming a select pool of one-man trusts who dominate the entire industry pretty much the same way Standard Oil dominated the oil business until a government anti-trust suit broke it up. The great money-makers of our time are not empire-builders but actors and darned if they aren't leaving in almost the same way.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 13—Dorothy Ford, the glamazon who made her screen debut with Mickey Rooney, is being sent on a three-month tour of the country to talk to editors about "A Miracle Can Happen". She'll do the same kind of job Anita Colby did when she walked into editorial offices and gave a selling talk about "Duel In The Sun".

Orson Welles

Let's hope "Miracle" doesn't have as much later trouble as "Duel" did. This is the Ben Bogeaus picture that has all the big stars—Jimmy Stewart, Henry Fonda, and a lot of others.

Bogeaus, by the way, is talking to King Vidor about directing a picture. Vidor and Tay Garnett have split partnership and Vidor will make a special deal with Bogeaus for a story to be named later.

Chatter in Hollywood: Orson Welles might be interested in knowing that Dolores Del Rio is not carrying a torch for him. He called her up a few days after she arrived in New York to see if there was anything he could do and then turned right around and gave the news of his telephone call to several reporters.

There's positively no rekindling in that direction. Dolores doesn't need him, nor is she interested. She received a telegram from Merian C. Cooper saying her performance is magnificent in "The Fugitive" and he believes John Ford has done one of the greatest directorial jobs of all time.

If Bill Boyd is actually thinking of putting up his cowboy togs and going "straight" for a few movies, millions of little boys are going to shoot off millions of B-B guns in protest.

Still, Bill has a point. For nearly 28 years on the screen, he's been ridin' and shootin' and hi ho-ing and the time has come when he is yearning for a change of pace. I can remember when Bill was a daggone good straight hero in such De Mille movies as "The Volga Boatman".

Bill, who is one of the handsomest actors on the screen with his white hair, heads for Canada in a few weeks to be grand marshal at the famed Calgary Rodeo and, of course, he'll wear that famous white cowboy finery that goes so well with his white locks.

Billy Ward pulled a funny one when he was cast as the son of Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara in "Foxes of Harrow."

"I think I look more like the son of Linda Darnell and Cornel Wilde," opined this kid who is the son of Perry Ward in real life. Yes, Billy played Linda's and Cornel's little boy in "Forever Amber" and there's nothing like picking out a set of parents you think you really resemble and sticking to them.

No matter whose son he plays, Billy is a very talented little actor.

Clifton Webb and his mother, Maybelle, have arrived in Hollywood and will live here while Clifton makes a movie for 20th.

Charlie Foy and John Lee Mahan will collaborate on the life story of Charlie's dad and the seven little Foys. They hope to make it into a movie.

Jane Withers' 70-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Charles Elble, underwent a major operation in Kentucky a few days ago. Jane will visit her after she presents the trophy to the winning driver at the annual Indianapolis Speedway classic. Didn't I hear there might be such a classic?

Barbara Britton's baby is due in two weeks.

Wayne Morris lost 12 pounds in three days for a new role. Terry Hunt did the trick.

Carl Esmond has flown to Rome about a British-Italian motion picture offer. I didn't know the Italians had enough money to be sparking their movie industry.

Burt Lancaster and his wife are at the Sherry-Netherlands in New York and Burt told an interviewer that at one time he didn't even have the 10 cents to ride past it on a bus. That's what I like about Burt—his honesty.

The rumor that Sally Rand has a bridegroom picked out is denied by the lady herself. I talked to her over the long distance telephone.

Dore Schary got the biggest turn out at the New York Press Club party at "21" than any executive has ever received. Even the New York drama critics showed up. They wanted to see what the bright new head of R.K.O. looks like.

Veronica Lake is back in town and she is not going to do the picture in London for 20th. She and Andre De Toth were at Ciro's. Near them were Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck. The four got together in New York.

Tom Hegin, author of "Mr. Roberts," has written an article on L. B. Mayer for one of the current magazines, telling something about how he became the highest salaried man in America.

Burns And Allen To Be Sinatra's Guests Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 13—After last week's Bob Hope, Frankie Sinatra is borrowing some more talent from the NBC list for his CBS program at 8 Wednesday night. It will be the man and wife time of Burns and Allen. Incidentally, B. and A. used to broadcast regularly on CBS.

On the recordings for Bing Crosby's 10 o'clock ABC show have been put the comedy voice of Groucho Marx and the baseball voice of Hank Greenberg, now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team in which Bing has an interest.

The Romance theater, in its current CBS revival at 6:30, is to have another radioing of "Kitty Foyle."

The United Nations program of NBC, formerly on Tuesday nights, now has the same 10:30 time on Wednesday. The format of drama and discussion is being continued.

Invitation to Music, CBS 10:30 concert, plans the "first performance in the US" of Symphony in C minor by the eighteenth century German composer Joseph Martin Kraus. The orchestra conducting will be in charge of Edvard Fendler as Ben Hyams annotates. The symphony in four parts will take up the bulk of the program's allotted time of 30 minutes.

The Paul Whiteman (now called) assembly includes the songs of Johnny Thompson on ABC at 9. In the broadcast also will be a musical salute to the National Guard's Thirty-Sixth Texas division.

STRAWS IN WIND

BROADWAY

Incidental Intelligence

Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the old N. Y. World and creator of the Pulitzer Prize, who was recentlyhonored with a commemorative federal stamp may become the subject of a three-act play by Joseph K. Freeman, author of the Cavalcade of America radio series which will deal with Pulitzer's life. Pulitzer, Hungarian-born, was a soldier in the Union Army during the Civil War, a ferryboat stoker, railroad agent, mule hostler, roustabout and stevedore, among other things, before making history as a newspaper man.

Bill Tilden

His younger brother, Albert, founded and operated the N. Y. Journal before selling it to Hearst.

Friends of Big Bill Tilden say he'll go to Europe to live after his release from a California clink . . . After all the publicity about Barbara Stanwyck taking lessons for her piano-playing scene in "The Other Love," which has its premiere here next week, it is Ania Dorfman who is tickling the ivoies. . . . Maria Palmer, a featured actress in that film, was an usher at the Fifth Avenue playhouse and a lingerie saleswoman at Stern's department store (where she recently held a reunion with her former co-workers) before becoming a protege of Max Reinhardt at his Vienna Theatre.

Lisa Kirk, singer who'll appear in "Open House," a comedy opening shortly on Broadway, is a niece of Admiral Ray Furlong, who headed the Pearl Harbor Fleet five days after the Jap bombing; a cousin of Pennsylvania State Senator Grant Furlong, and a descendent of Ulysses Grant. . . . Henry Hart, bartender at the Flamingo Cafe, is a cousin of the late W. C. Fields. . . . Arthur Blake, Hollywood mimic now playing the New York nite clubs (Greenwich Village Inn) is the son of a former editor of the Altoona (Pa.) Gazette and it was the late Conde Nast who persuaded him to abandon hat designing for grease paint.

Lynn Gilmore, sometimes called New York's most beautiful restaurateuse (she'll have to battle for that honor with Ann Bertoldo, of Tony's Trouville), appeared as a child actress with Al Jolson in "Hallelujah, I'm a um." . . . Solly Sarnartora, chef at Jimmy Kelly's, has named one of his dishes "Spaghetti a la Berlin" because (he claims) it was this savory specialty that brought about the romantic meeting of Irving Berlin and Ellen Mackay at Kelly's a couple of decades ago. . . . Ann Luther, widow of Ed Gallagher (of the famed Gallagher & Shean team) has a bit part in Paramount's forthcoming "Perils of Pauline," starring Betty Hutton. Miss Luther was a close friend of the original star of the series of that name, Pearl White.

Gags Made Part Of Health Report

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—This business of statistics for the State Health Department's communicable disease report would be awfully dull work except for a physician with a sense of humor whose name must be withheld.

On St. Patrick's Day, he reported:

Disease, nostalgia; name of patient, O'Brien; city, Limerick; county, Cork; color, green. Added touches were a festooned front and back with a liberal sprinkling of Shamrocks, a panoramic view of St Patrick ousting the snakes from Ireland and a derby-topped, pipe-smoking son of Erin.

Another report included a painting showing a puffy-checked, red-faced boy with the explanation: "Mumps galore."

FEELIN' LOW—LOW?

How often you have come to times in your life when you felt you couldn't take the setup any longer. Times when you felt you had come to the end of your courage and strength and even your faith.

Probably there were friends around you, doing all they could do, people who loved and sympathized with you. Or it may have been in some black moment of humiliation and regret to which there were no witnesses. In either case you have known just how far the human spirit can go in its desperate stumbling and many a time you have wondered if there was any answer to it all. I have wondered too and felt just as hopeless as you have felt. But today Elsie Glenn sent me an answer which I will never forget.

Elsie Glenn is a social worker in the State Department of Public Welfare in Eastland, Texas. Here is her letter:

"Dear Elsie Robinson:

"As one Elsie to another, I see a lot of things in my rounds as a social worker.

"Recently I was called to the cabin of Moses Smith, a coal black negro. Jennie, his old wife, lay dead in the next room. The children were clustered about the cabin, the neighbors screaming and crying. The white minister sat in the refuge of the barn with Moses.

"Horses quietly munched their oats, the morning sun streamed through the open door. Moses sat loosely on a barrel, his hands relaxed. I was struck by the utter calmness; his detachment from the whole tragic mess. He looked up and smiled, yet I saw the heartbreak in his soft, black eyes. In his grief he was not thinking of himself. He was trying to comfort the bitter futility which the minister and I both felt. And I am sure that the minister and I bowed our heads at the same time when Moses spoke.

"'I's all right, Missie. I jes' shifts my mind to neutral, takes de Lawd's hand and rests a while.'

"You're a nice person, Elsie. I like you.

"Sincerely,
"Elsie Glenn."

And I like Elsie Glenn more than I can tell. For she's given me an answer that would have sustained me through these last long years of pain and loss. She has told me and you the one thing we can do when we come to the end of our human resources—we can "jes' shift our minds to neutral, take de Lawd's hand and rest a while."

There, in the simple negro's words, lies the secret to all the heartache and confusion and fear that beset the world today. We human beings don't know the answer. We will never find the answer to our agony despite all our conferences and commissions. We will only find it if we have faith enough and resignation enough to shift our minds to neutral—to take the Lord's hand and rest a while.

For after all that we can possibly know of earthly wisdom there is one wisdom which we must take on faith and that is the mercy and love and everlasting purpose of the Creator. He who made us, He who gave us the capacity to love and grieve, will not let us go. None of our worldly wisdom will sustain us when we come to our black hours. We can only find peace if we, like poor old Moses, can shift our minds to neutral and take the Lord's hand and rest a while.

I do not think that anything I have ever read in the thousands of letters I have received has ever comforted me so much. For I am tired and heartsick and daily the hundreds of letters from those who bear far heavier burdens than mine come to my desk. I shall use old Moses's answer over and over again. I shall tell them to shift to neutral—to release their thoughts from their own personal grief and despair—to catch a glimpse of the wider plan of which we are a part—to go back once more to being little children—and take the Lord's hand and rest a while . .

For I am tired and heartsick and daily the hundreds of letters from those who bear far heavier burdens than mine come to my desk. I shall use old Moses's answer over and over again. I shall tell them to shift to neutral—to release their thoughts from their own personal grief and despair—to catch a glimpse of the wider plan of which we are a part—to go back once more to being little children—and take the Lord's hand and rest a while . . .

IN MEMORIAM

Sacred to the memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Laura E. Johnston, who passed away 2 years ago, May 14, 1945.

The memory of my mother, oh, it cometh everywhere;
It shineth in the darkness, and it floateth on the air,
It clings to me, it talks to me, through the livelong day,
It meets me in my daily task, my household work or play;
That blessed, blessed memory, that dear familiar tone,
As if her spirit watches still, and communes with her own.

Devoted daughter, Jaunita and grandchildren, Donald and Gary Lee.

HARPER—Hattie R.—In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, who departed this life one year ago today, May 14, 1946.

Nothing but memories,
As I journey on,
Longing for a smile,
From a loved one gone.

None knows the depths
Of my deep regrets,
But I remember when others forget.

Devoted daughter, FLORENCE A. M. HARPER

IN MEMORIAM

Sacred to the memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Laura E. Johnston, who passed away 2 years ago, May 14, 1945.

The memory of my mother, oh, it cometh everywhere;
It shineth in the darkness, and it floateth on the air,
It clings to me, it talks to me, through the livelong day,
It meets me in my daily task, my household work or play;
That blessed, blessed memory, that dear familiar tone,
As if her spirit watches still, and communes with her own.

Devoted daughter, Jaunita and grandchildren, Donald and Gary Lee.

HARPER—Hattie R.—In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, who departed this life one year ago today, May 14, 1946.

Nothing but memories,
As I journey on,
Longing for a smile,
From a loved one gone.

None knows the depths
Of my deep regrets,
But I remember when others forget.

Devoted daughter,
FLORENCE A. M. HARPER

Stocks Suffer Sharpest Stumble Of Past Month On Rising Volume

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—The stock market today suffered its sharpest stumble of the past month on rising volume as numerous leaders hit bottom for the year or longer on losses of fractions to 3 or more points.

There was little in the spot news to touch off liquidation but professional traders, as well as some brokerage customers, continued to trim accounts because of persistent doubts regarding the economic outlook and skepticism over wage-price problems, taxes and foreign relations.

Timid bidding, here and there, again was credited to the thought that selected issues may have been oversold and a possible business recession discounted to a certain extent.

The direction was downward from the start, attempted recoveries were short-lived in most cases. Intermittent slackening of sales succeeded a fairly active opening but offerings turned more urgent in the final hour. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares for small-quoted issues helped expand the day's total to 1,210,000 shares, largest since April 15.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 1.1 points at 60.4, a low since last Oct. 10. Both the rails and utilities also recorded lows for 1947. It was the broadest market since April 15 of 1,029 issues registering, 834 fell and only 71 advanced.

Johns-Manville dropped 3¾ at 114, Bethlehem 2½ at 79½, Norfolk and Western 3½ at 229, Union Pacific 1¾ at 125½, Chrysler 1¾ at 98¼, Monsanto Chemical 2 at 51½, General Motors 1¼ at 54⅜ and U. S. Steel 1⅛ at 65⅝.

Railroad issues dropped to the lowest average level since October 1944 in expanded trade in the bond market.

Losses of fractions to more than 3 points were spread liberally in the carrier group. Weakness extended to the industrial and utility sections although to a lesser extent.

Volume picked up to $5,020,000, largest in about a month, from $3,080,000 Monday.

Corporates closing lower included B. & O. stamped convertibles at 38¼, St. Paul convertibles at 51, North Western 41-2s at 66¼, and Rock Island convertibles at 15⅛.

U. S. Governments tended lower with the victory loan 2½s of Dec. 1967-'72 off 3-32 at 103 12-32 bid.

IN MEMORIAM

Sacred to the memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Laura E. Johnston, who passed away 2 years ago, May 14, 1945.

The memory of my mother, oh, it cometh everywhere;
It shineth in the darkness, and it floateth on the air,
It clings to me, it talks to me, through the livelong day,
It meets me in my daily task, my household work or play;
That blessed, blessed memory, that dear familiar tone,
As if her spirit watches still, and communes with her own.

Devoted daughter, Jaunita and grandchildren, Donald and Gary Lee.

HARPER—Hattie R.—In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, who departed this life one year ago today, May 14, 1946.

Nothing but memories,
As I journey on,
Longing for a smile,
From a loved one gone.

None knows the depths
Of my deep regrets,
But I remember when others forget.

Cosner's Fate In Wife's Slaying In Jury's Hands

Deliberations Resume Again This Morning

The fate of Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser, W. Va., letter-carrier, on trial for murdering his wife Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, 31, with a baseball bat, was placed in the hands of a Mineral County jury at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, following eloquent pleas and arguments by five attorneys.

There are seven possible verdicts on which the jury can agree, with an eighth possibility of complete disagreement, which would result in the jury being dismissed and the case set for retrial at the next term of Court.

Possible verdicts under the indictment are:

1. Guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation of mercy. Penalty, death.
2. Guilty of murder in the first degree with a recommendation of mercy. Penalty, life imprisonment.
3. Guilty of murder in the second degree. Penalty, imprisonment from five to 18 years.
4. Guilty of voluntary manslaughter, one to five years imprisonment.
5. Guilty of involuntary manslaughter, one year in jail or fine, or both.
6. Not guilty by reason of temporary insanity. Freedom.
7. Not Guilty. Freedom.

Shortly before 6 p. m. yesterday, the jury was recalled to the court room and informed the Court that a verdict had not been reached. Court was adjourned until 10 a. m. today, and the jury was placed in the custody of Sheriff James A. Dixon for the night. Deliberations will be resumed this morning, it was indicated.

Called Deliberate Killing

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin delivered the closing argument before the jury, summing up the state testimony as presented during the six-day trial, and asked the jury for a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

Rankin described the bludgeoning of Hazel Cosner as a "deliberate and premediated" killing. He said it was the bloodiest and most ruthless crime ever committed in the history of Mineral County.

After Rankin's plea, during which he was interrupted several times by defense counsel's objections to his argument, Judge See gave instructions to the jury as to the verdicts which they could return in the case. The jury began its deliberations at 3:30 p. m.

Herndon R. Athey, co-counsel with Rankin in the prosecution of the case, opened arguments of counsel as Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Athey, eloquent at times, told the 12 veniremen, "Insanity is not the defense of the innocent but the refuge of the guilty."

Pointing to Cosner, he said "This man is here pleading for his life because his life is precious to him. But the life of his wife, Hazel Cosner, snuffed out in the early morning of her existence, was also precious to her."

Athey attempted to belittle Cosner's story that he did it for the sake of his children, and said the story about Cosner's mother falling down the stairs was a "mere cover-up."

Cosner Described As Crafty

The assistant prosecutor recounted the events of September 2 and 3, and described Cosner as a crafty, willful killer who contemplated, planned and premeditated for nearly two hours before he crept into the basement for a baseball bat and returned and bashed his wife's brains out.

"If the stamp of approval is put on this defendant in this case," Athey exclaimed, "I hate to think what would happen in this county. There would either be a shortage of baseball bats, or there would be a lot of heads bashed in."

"If Oscar Cosner goes unwhipped of justice," Athey declared, "we might as well replace the statue of Justice atop our court house with the diseased form of the Hag of Hell."

Howard P. Shores was the first attorney to plead for Cosner. He re-read the statement of Cosner, as given to the State Police, and attempted to show that it contained only part of the story.

He showed the jury the two broken pieces of the bat and asked, "Is that the way a sane man kills?" Then he passed the state's exhibits of pictures of the dead woman and the murder-room, and exclaimed, "Does a sane man kill like that?"

Shores told the jury, "if you acquit this boy, thousands of people in Mineral County will say you were right, and few can say you were wrong."

Emory Tyler was the second defense attorney to make a plea before the jury and was followed by H. G. Shores, chief counsel for the defense, who summed up the case and also asked for an acquittal.

Appears As Friend

Tyler, talking calmly and in sharp contrast to the oratory of Athey and young Shores said, "I am appearing before this jury as a friend of the defendant. I am here against my doctor's advice because of my ill health, but I feel I must defend my friend.

"It has been proved here that Cosner's wife was unfaithful to him, and to her family," Tyler continued, "but it is not my intention to cast aspersions on Oscar Cosner's wife. You have been permitted to peep behind the scenes, and you must know she was unfaithful.

"There is nothing more deplorable than an unfaithful wife," Tyler told the jury as he described Cosner as a decent young man, "a timid and tender boy," unable to cope with the situation he had to endure.

Tyler called attention to the alarm clock that was in the bedroom where Cosner killed his wife and said Cosner had set the clock as usual to get up for work the next morning. "Does that look like premeditated murder?" he challenged.

"The mind of man can take so much, and this boy took all he could bear. His mind snapped when his wife goaded him by telling him of her infidelity.

"Place yourself in his place," he

County Board Asks For Accounting Of Savage Dam Funds

Prendergast Raises Question On Costs

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners adopted a resolution yesterday, by unanimous vote, asking for an accounting of funds spent on the Savage River Dam, and the publication of this accounting on or before June 30.

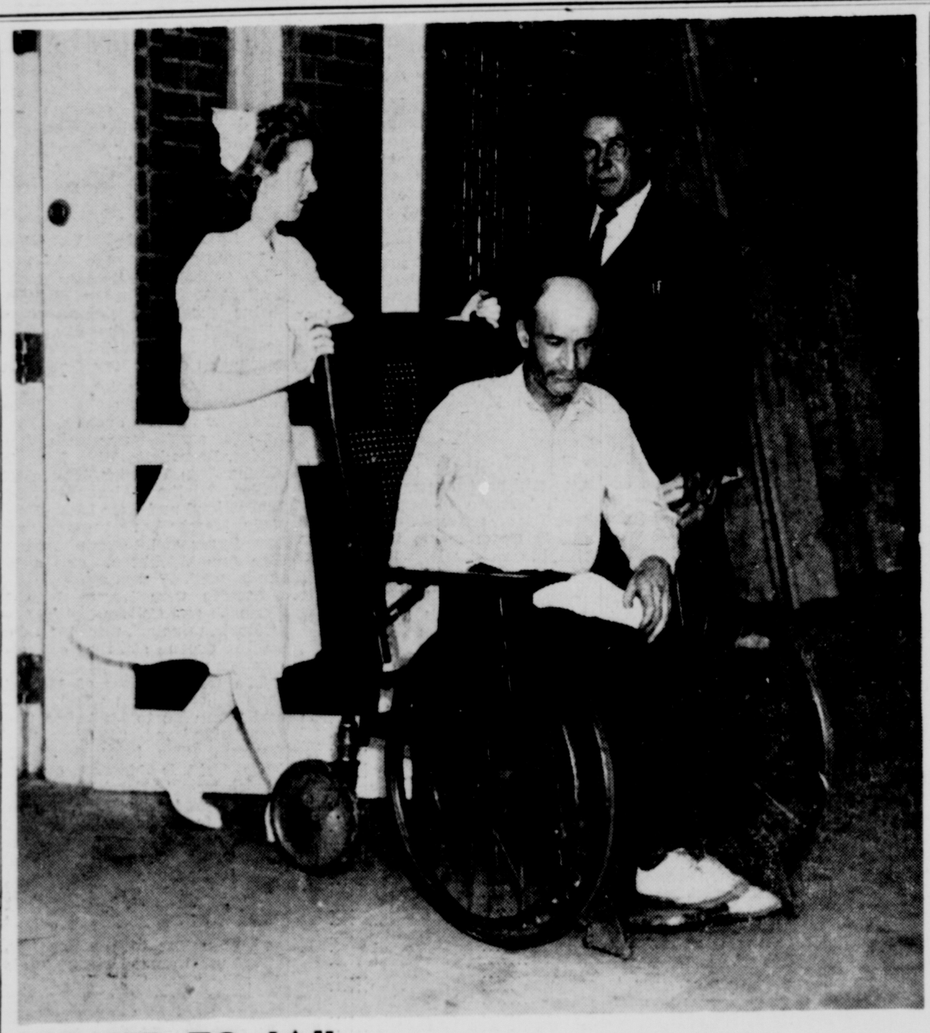

The action was taken after Michael F. Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, appeared before the Board and submitted a lette containing a copy of a letter published in a Baltimore paper. Prendergast reminded the Board it is required by law to make public accountings of all public funds it administers and expressed the view that the Savage River Dam Commission should make a detailed accounting before additional money is appropriated for completion of the project. Prendergast said, "I believe all boards, commissions and groups which handle public funds should make complete accountings."

Prendergast's letter, which was made a part of the Board's minutes, stated that the county appropriated $1,000,000 and the Federal government appropriated $2,000,000, to provide the three million needed as the estimated amount to complete the dam.

After these funds were expended, Prendergast said, an additional $2,225,000 was provided by the Federal government and the dam, at the time work was stopped was said to be 65 per cent completed.

Prendergast raised the question, "On the basis of what has been spent to bring the dam to its present stage, can this commission finish the job with $1,900,000," the amount now sought for finishing the project?

Prendergast, in his letter stated, "everyone in the Cumberand area favors the dam's completion." He also commented, "There is currently much concern over tax exemption requests by some industries in the county, —it would take quite a while for these tax exemptions to total the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Savage River Dam by the county. Let's see what happened to that, and to the $4,225,000 fund appropriated by the Federal government for a dam to aid the industries and the health conditions of the county."

MOVED TO JAIL—Stillman Snow Smith, of near Flintstone, who is accused of fatally shooting his 16-year old wife at their woodland home on Town Creek about two weeks ago, is shown here in a wheel chair as he was moved yesterday from Memorial Hospital to the County Jail, by Sheriff Edward Muir. Smith was hospitalized after he turned the shotgun he used on his wife, upon himself, necessitating the amputation of his right arm. The nurse wheeling Smith from the hospital to the sheriff's car, is Miss Marion Hardman. Deputy Sheriff Edgar J. Lewis, not shown in the photo, assisted in moving Smith to the jail. While in the hospital, Smith was kept under constant armed guard, with three special deputies working in three eight-hour shifts. Smith is being held for action of the next grand jury. Rubber Workers To Employ Full Time President

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, passed by a decisive majority a referendum vote on the proposal to employ a full time president for the 2,500 member local, William Plummer, chairman of the balloting committee reported last night.

Plummer said the membership action will be placed into effect as soon as details are worked out by the union's executive board.

A. E. Johnson, president of the local, who will become the first full time head of the Kelly local, is a charter member of Local 26 and is employed in the curing room of the Kelly plant.

The referendum vote was held beginning Monday night on the third shift and was completed yesterday afternoon.

The election committee, Plummer said, wishes to thank the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company management and police force for "wholehearted" support in conducting the election.

The union's contract, the committee said, allows the union the use of the outer gate for elections but plant officials arranged to make the old shell line employment office in the laboratory building available for the balloting.

Also serving on the committee were Roy E. Davy, Cecil Sampson, P. I. Hamilton and H. A. Jenkins.

68-Year-Old Man Is Found Dead In His Home Here

A 68-year-old retired B. and O. worker was found dead in the bedroom of his home, 414 Grand Avenue, yesterday afternoon and his 71-year-old brother was found bedfast in another room of the home, unable to summon help since he heard his brother fall Monday night.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the man, John T. Dulin, died Monday night about 7:30 o'clock as a result of a coronary occulsion and hardening of the arteries. He had been suffering from a heart condition for some time, he added.

Mr. Dulin, authorities said, was out of his home Monday and was taken home about 6 p. m. by J. R. Furstenberg, a friend, after he suffered a dizzy spell.

His brother, Charles T. Dulin, who made his home with him, told authorities that his brother went upstairs about 7 p. m. Monday, and that he heard him fall a short time later.

Charles Dulin, Dr. Deming said, was in a bed in a room off the kitchen and was unable to get up due to a severe attack of lumbago. He told authorities he tried to get up several times but finally gave up trying.

Authorities said Mr. Furstenberg and H. Moreland went to the home yesterday about 3:30 p. m. to see how Mr. Dulin was getting along and went upstairs only to find the body of the elderly man on the floor.

Officer L. H. Chambers and Sgt. R. R. Johnston, of the city police, aided in the investigation.

Mr. Charles Dulin was later taken to Memorial Hospital and is reported in a good condition.

Both of the brothers were retired. John Dulin, authorities said, was formerly employed as a switch tender at the B. and O. here. There are no immediate survivors.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home.

Complaints Made Regarding Grade Of New Highway

FROSTBURG, May 13 — The Mayor and City Council decided tonight to invite G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, to confer with them following several complaints of Frostburg citizens at a special meeting regarding the grade proposed for the relocation of Route 40 at Eckhart Flat.

Four residents who own property at Eckhart Flat claimed that the proposed grade would mean an elevation of from four to four and one-half feet above the present level in front of their properties, stating that serious damage to the value of their land would result. They asked the council to take action to have surveyors return and change the grade.

Robert Glotfelty, who said his home is valued at $20,000, and Chester Stewart, who said he has refused $12,000 for his home, declared that if the highway is built on the proposed grade seven steps would be necessary to descend from the highway to the level of their lawns.

Both stated that in 1941, when they built their homes, they were informed by the late Leo T. Downey, then district engineer for the State Roads Commission, that the present level of the highway would be lowered rather than raised.

Glotfelty and Stewart said that a representative of the State Roads Commission called at their respective homes today and offered them $1,000 each for a 16-foot width of land along the frontage of their lots, to allow for needed highway space. Both refused the offer pending their appearance at the council meeting.

Others who opposed the proposed grade were Art Carpenter, owner of a lot west of Glotfelty's home, and Edward Minnick who operates Stadium Inn on the opposite side of Eckhart Flat. The latter said he excavated a lot next to the inn six months ago to a depth recommended by State Roads Commission engineers, but that he was informed recently that he must fill in three feet of the excavation to reach the level of the new grade.

Other properties affected are two lots owned by J. Fred Dillon, and the new residence of Edgar Grose. They were not present at the meeting.

Four Frostburg Residents Hurt When Car Upsets

Accident Occurs At Allegany Grove

Four Frostburg residents were injured, none seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding overturned twice and came to rest on its left side in a field along Route 40 at Allegany Grove at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

State Trooper William F. Baker, who investigated, said the car was operated by James D. Aldridge, 62, an employe in the Frostburg postoffice, and that Aldridge lost control of the vehicle on the slippery highway while passing another car and a C. and W. bus.

Aldridge, his wife, Mrs. Janet Aldredge, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Simons, passengers, were pinned in the car for a short time, Baker said. He added that a passerby removed Mrs. Aldridge from the machine and that he, Lt. Charles W. Magaha and Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, of the State Police, removed the other three persons.

One Admitted To Hospital

At Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where the injured were taken for treatment, attaches reported all of them suffered from bruises and abrasions. Mrs. Aldridge was admitted to the hospital but the other three were discharged after being treated.

Trooper Baker said Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge and Mr. and Mrs. Simons had left Frostburg for Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club to attend a dinner but turned about a quarter of a mile from the accident scene and started back to Frostburg for something they had forgotten.

At Allegany Grove, Aldridge was passing another car and the bus when the rear of his car started to weave on the highway, described as "greasy" as a result of a light rain, Baker explained, and then overturned.

Sgt. O'Hara took the injured women to the hospital and Baker drove Aldridge and Simons, who also is a Frostburg postoffice employe, to the hospital.

No Charges Filed

No charges have been filed pending completion of the investigation.

Vocke Road Bids To Be Asked Soon

The State Roads Commission will advertise for bids shortly on resurfacing and improving Vocke Road, County Engineer Albert S. Paye said yesterday.

Cost of the project will be shared equally by the county and the federal government under the federal roads program, and when the work is completed the road will be incorporated in the state highway system, Paye said.

All rights-of-way for the work have been acquired at no cost, he added, since residents along the road gave the land without charge. The state had estimated the right-of-way cost at $8,000.

The right-of-way will be widened from 30 to 50 feet and the road surfaced with blacktop under joint supervision of the State Roads Commission and the county, Paye stated.

The road to be improved extends from Braddock Road at Allegany Grove to Winchester Road at the C. and P. underpass, a distance of about three-fifths of a mile.

Bids were asked for the work last year but were rejected because they were excessively high, Paye said. He added that bids to be asked shortly will be on a different design.

Winstanley To Play For Optimist Club

Harold Winstanley, Winchester Road, a junior at Allegany High School, will be guest entertainer at the Optimist Club dinner tomorrow at 6:15 p. m., Central YMCA.

An accomplished musician on several instruments, Winstanley plans to present a program of selections with his xylophone, playing both classical and modern music.

AFL Groups Appoint Convention Delegates

C. E. Stutzman, president, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh, secretary, and W. J. Jones, Boilermakers Union, were named delegates of the Allegany Trades Council to the annual Maryland-D. C., Federation of Labor convention to be held in Baltimore beginning May 26.

George D. Cline, B. E. DeBolt and W. Henry Frazier were named to represent Cumberland Typographical Union No. 244 at the convention.

Board Explains School Problem To Mt. Savage

County Can't Build At Present Costs

County Commissioners yesterday replied to a letter and resolution from trustees of the Mt. Savage School, explaining the situation surrounding proposals to build a new school for Mt. Savage.

The Commissioners were requested by Harry Poland, Dr. B. O. Coberly, and Charles T. Burch, to proceed with plans to build the proposed building and to borrow necessary funds as authorized by the Maryland General Assembly.

In the Commissioners' reply to the resolution, it is explained that the County Board opposed the pasage of the bond issue bills for this school, and that building costs at the present time make construction costly and prohibitive. It is also explained in the letter that the School Board has advised the Commissioners that the school program is not hindered at Mt. Savage because of existing structures, and that no action can be taken at the present time.

"Declared Unsafe"

The resolution cited that the present building was declared "unsafe" in 1941 by a registered state architect, and that in the same year a special committee from the legislature inspected the school and agreed with the report. During the 1941 session, House Bill 678 was passed, authorizing the board to borrow $800,000 by issuing bonds, to build schools at Mt. Savage, Ellerslie and Lonaconing.

Work was prevented, however, during the war years, due to lack of materials and labor, it was pointed out.

The trustees also pointed out that House Bill 629 was approved during the recent session of the Legislature, under which the commissioners are authorized to borrow an additional $2,000,000 to build the three schools. It was cited that state aid would also be provided in event the projects are undertaken.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to the Allegany County Board of Education, Tasker G. Lowndes president of the State Board of Education, and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools.

Seeks Another Constable

Magistrate John J. Cullen, Midland, requested the board to appoint a constable for that town, asserting he is "handicapped" because none has been named. The commissioners said a constable at Lonaconing handles the work at Midland, and that "the limit" in constables for the county has been appointed.

Donna Eror requested repairs to the Fairgo Road, off the McMullen Highway, and County Engineer Albert S. Paye, was instructed to investigate.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, advised the board that a dwelling on the East Side School property, located at 532 Central Avenue, has been turned over to the commissioners, since it cannot be used for school purposes.

Bids were accepted on a quantity of materials stored in the County Office Building, Union Street Abe Feldstein bought paints and varnishes for $290, while some electrical equipment was sold to the Queen City Electric Company for $252.50.

Earl Groves, Oldtown Road, purchased a 1939 Chevrolet dump truck for $900. Other bidders on the vehicle were R. E. Nickel, $480; William P. Roeder, $500; Carl W. Martin, $405; Joseph Laurie, $525. Feldstein bid $240 for the electrical equipment.

J. Leon Bozman, of Baltimore, certified public accountant, was notified that county books are ready for the annual audit.

Arbitrator Rules For Employe In Celanese Case

Question Involved Man Employed While AWOL

In a case involving a situation termed "novel and interesting," Arbitrator Herman A. Gray, of the American Arbitration Association, handed down an opinion in which he said a Celanese employe is entitled to reinstatement in the employe of the company without loss of seniority or any of his other rights, but without back pay.

Gray, in his opinion, said the employe got his job while he was absent without leave from the Army, worked for 20 months and then turned himself in to superior officers, was imprisoned in an Army camp for discipline and subsequently fought through a number of major campaigns in World War II to earn an honorable discharge, the Good Conduct medal and other decorations.

The claim for any wage loss the employe, identified as Wilbert H. Smith, may have suffered was waived, according to Gray, who conducted arbitration proceedings between the Celanese Corporation and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, in the matter at the Court House here on February 21.

"Perpetrated A Fraud"

It is true, as the company contends, that Smith "perpetrated a fraud" when he first entered its employ, Gray said, but he added that the fraud was against the United States government and not against the company.

The government exacted a penalty in full and regards the wrong done "as atoned for" since it sent Smith "into the front lines" and "thereafter conferred upon him a Good Conduct medal and granted him an honorable discharge, Gray's opinion stated.

It added that the company "waived any complaint it may have had" when it took Smith back into its employ after his discharge from the Army.

A former employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Smith enlisted in the Army in 1937 for three years and re-enlisted for a similar period on February 29, 1940, Gray said, pointing out that Smith at that time received a 30-day furlough but did not return to the Army at its expiration.

On April 30, 1940, Smith, while "still under duty to return to the Army," applied for employment at the Cumberland plant of the Celanese Corporation and received a job, not disclosing to the company that he "had deserted from the Army," according to the opinion.

"Had Change of Heart"

Smith subsequently worked for the company for 20 months and then "had a change of heart," Gray stated, leaving Cumberland and reporting to his superior officers at Fort Meade.

He said Smith was disciplined by the Army and sent to Camp Shelby, Miss., where he served a term of imprisonment, but later was sent abroad and fought through a number of campaigns.

On December 27, 1945, Smith applied for reemployment in the spinning engineering department in which he had previously worked, but was refused until he exhibited his discharge papers, which he did on February 12, 1946, Gray stated.

He pointed out that the discharge papers revealed that at the time Smith was first employed by the company he was an enlisted man and was away from the Army without leave. On the basis of this information, Gray stated, the company took the position that Smith was not entitled to reemployment rights and refused to reinstate him in his old position although he later was employed in the cellulose acetate department as a new employe, which resulted in the loss of his seniority standing and other rights "flowing from the length of his prior service."

Whether Smith is entitled to the benefits of the Selective Service Act regarding reemployment rights of veterans is a matter "open to debate," Gray said, but he added that the case could be decided on the basis of provisions contained in the collective labor agreements entered into between the company and the union during the period involved.

He added that one company of the battalion will be formed in Oakland and one possibly in Frostburg.

Golladay Completes Design For New All-Plastic Plane

Will Present Idea To Army Air Force

A. Derr Golladay, 403 Washington Street, president of the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, Mexico Farms, here, has completed the design of a new, heavier-than-air craft, with radical departures in plane construction, and will leave this weekend to exhibit his drawings and model at the Army Air Force Development Laboratories, Dayton, Ohio.

Golladay, rated as a top-notch airplane designer and aeronautical engineer, worked on the development of the famed B-29 during the war. For some months past, he has been putting the finishing touches on his idea of a new type ship, which is designed to speed production, increase safety and efficiency, and at the same time lower production costs and retail price of commercial ships.

The ship Golladay has designed is not only a departure from present airplanes in type and design, Golladay explained, but is to be constructed entirely of reinforced plastic.

Whole Plane Is Plastic

All the structure of the plane, including even the "skin", will be contact pressure-molded. In manufacture, he proposes to mold and bake the ship for "cure" in a large oven. Details of performance and construction must remain secret, he explained last night, because of the government's interest.

Golladay said this new type of construction, if successful, would propably reduce the development time of a new airplane from between the usual three to seven years, to less than one year. This would mean a tremendous saving in manpower and time, especially in time of war, he declared.

As it now stands in the field of aviation, he explained, nearly all planes being test flown, are obsolete as far as experimental work is concerned, since additional data is discovered faster than the planes can be produced. The methid Golladay has been working on, will put drawing board ideas into actual test-flight much quicker and at reduced cost, he believes.

Stronger Structural Members

Numerous parts of planes are now being constructed of plastic substances, Golladay continued. Most of these have proven highly successful. However, at present, no plane has been built using plastics entirely in construction throughout, especially in the highly loaded structural members, where strength and stress and strain are considerations. Golladay, in discussing his model, showed how he has attempted to make this construction possible, with plastic substances.

An entirely new design technique has been made necessary to use plastic for construction, and he terms his design "radical to present day conceptions."

Golladay has designed the ship to house powerplants of the near future, rather than present type engines, and it can also be used as an engineless sail-plane or glider, to be towed aloft. Likewise it

Revised Estimate On Bridge Cost May Be Sought

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission yesterday made arrangements with Gustav Requardt, partner in the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, to supply the local group with information regarding the cost of preparing revised estimates on funds needed to build the proposed crosstown overhead viaduct and of supplying preliminary sketches of the structure.

At a conference with the commission and members of the City Council in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, Requardt advised the group to secure the new estimates and sketches preliminary to approaching the State Roads Commission regarding its share of the total cost. He said the commission is "amenable" to the Cumberland project because of the traffic bottleneck which exists in the city.

Although in January, 1946, estimated cost of building the viaduct amounted to $2,440,000, construction costs have increased from 20 to 25 per cent since then, Requardt said. He pointed out that detailed plans will have to be drawn before any construction can start, estimating the cost of such plans to amount to about four or five per cent of the total cost of building the four-lane overhead bridge.

H. W. Smith, commission secretary, pointed out that the total cost would be borne by the city, the railroads, the State Roads Commission and the federal government if the plans are approved. He added that Baltimore Street merchants favor the plan, and that the State Roads Commission has informed

Petitions Circulated Seeking Voting Machine Referendum

County Group Wants To Delay Purchase

An effort is being made by a group of county employees and other individuals, to obtain enough signatures to petitions, to provide for a referendum on the laws which would provide for the purchase of voting machines in Allegany County.

William A. Gunter, former state senator and local attorney and Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners were identified yesterday at the Court House as the sponsors of the movement. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county board of commissioners is distributing copies of the petitions to those who volunteer to obtain signatures.

There are copies of the petitions at the County Tax Collector's office, where visitors to the Court House are being asked to sign them. Other county employes are soliciting signatures.

The Board of County Commissioners opposed the passage of legislation providing for use of voting machines in this county, and protested on numerous occasions the expenditure of $140,000 for the necessary machines. The county delegation to Annapolis, acting on advice from many local citizens who think the machines desirable, voted the bills through and Governor William P. Lane signed them into law.

There are actually two petitions. One is to refer Chapter 675 of the Acts of 1947 to the voters for approval or rejection; and the other is to refer Chapter 669 of the acts of 1947 to the voters for approval or rejection.

Chapter 675, provides, "In the next primary and general election to be held in 1948 and thereafter in all elections in Allegany County, the use of voting machines shall be mandatory, and it shall be the duty of the Board of Election Supervisors of Allegany County to provide a sufficient number of voting machines to equip every polling place."

Chapter 669, provides, "the County Commissioners of Allegany County are hereby authorized and directed to borrow upon the faith and credit of the County, the amount of $140,000," for the purpose of buying voting machines.

The Act further provides that the County Commissioners shall sell bonds not exceeding three per cent per annum interest, or issue promissory notes or other indebtedness up to the amount of $140,000 with $7,000 to be retired each year until all the indebtedness is repaid.

In other words, one Act makes the purchase and use of voting machines in the 1948 elections mandatory, and the other Act provides the necessary authority for the County Commissioners to borrow money with which to buy the machines.

Sponsors of the petitions to offset this mandatory action, say that a referendum on such measures can be demanded by the voters, if 10 per cent of those who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election sign the petition. This means that 2,500 persons must sign the two petitions before June 1, the date the new laws become effective.

Stocks Suffer Sharpest Stumble Of Past Month On Rising Volume

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—The stock market today suffered its sharpest stumble of the past month on rising volume as numerous leaders hit bottom for the year or longer on losses of fractions to 3 or more points.

There was little in the spot news to touch off liquidation but professional traders, as well as some brokerage customers, continued to trim accounts because of persistent doubts regarding the economic outlook and skepticism over wage-price problems, taxes and foreign relations.

Timid bidding, here and there, again was credited to the thought that selected issues may have been oversold and a possible business recession discounted to a certain extent.

The direction was downward from the start, attempted recoveries were short-lived in most cases. Intermittent slackening of sales succeeded a fairly active opening but offerings turned more urgent in the final hour. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares for small-quoted issues helped expand the day's total to 1,210,000 shares, largest since April 15.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 1.1 points at 60.4, a low since last Oct. 10. Both the rails and utilities also recorded lows for 1947. It was the broadest market since April 15 of 1,029 issues registering, 834 fell and only 71 advanced.

Johns-Manville dropped 3¾ at 114, Bethlehem 2½ at 79½, Norfolk and Western 3½ at 229, Union Pacific 1⅝ at 125½, Chrysler 1¾ at 98¼, Monsanto Chemical 2 at 51½, General Motors 1¼ at 54⅜ and U. S. Steel 1⅛ at 65⅝.

Railroad issues dropped to the lowest average level since October 1944 in expanded trade in the bond market.

Losses of fractions to more than 3 points were spread liberally in the carrier group. Weakness extended to the industrial and utility sections although to a lesser extent.

Volume picked up to $5,020,000, largest in about a month, from $3,080,000 Monday.

Corporates closing lower included B. & O. stamped convertibles at 38¼, St. Paul convertibles at 51, North Western 41-2s at 66¼, and Rock Island convertibles at 15⅛.

U. S. Governments tended lower with the victory loan 2½s of Dec. 1967-'72 off 3-32 at 103 12-32 bid.

Cosner's Fate In Wife's Slaying In Jury's Hands

Deliberations Resume Again This Morning

The fate of Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser, W. Va., letter-carrier, on trial for murdering his wife Hazel E. (Alt) Cosner, 31, with a baseball bat, was placed in the hands of a Mineral County jury at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, following eloquent pleas and arguments by five attorneys.

There are seven possible verdicts on which the jury can agree, with an eighth possibility of complete disagreement, which would result in the jury being dismissed and the case set for retrial at the next term of Court.

Possible verdicts under the indictment are:

1. Guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation of mercy. Penalty, death.

2. Guilty of murder in the first degree with a recommendation of mercy. Penalty, life imprisonment.

3. Guilty of murder in the second degree. Penalty, imprisonment from five to 18 years.

4. Guilty of voluntary manslaughter, one to five years imprisonment.

5. Guilty of involuntary manslaughter, one year in jail or fine, or both.

6. Not guilty by reason of temporary insanity. Freedom.

7. Not Guilty. Freedom.

Shortly before 6 p. m. yesterday, the jury was recalled to the court room and informed the Court that a verdict had not been reached. Court was adjourned until 10 a. m. today, and the jury was placed in the custody of Sheriff James A. Dixon for the night. Deliberations will be resumed this morning, it was indicated.

Called Deliberate Killing

Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin delivered the closing argument before the jury, summing up the state testimony as presented during the six-day trial, and asked the jury for a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

Rankin described the bludgeoning of Hazel Cosner as a "deliberate and premediated" killing. He said it was the bloodiest and most ruthless crime ever committed in the history of Mineral County.

After Rankin's plea, during which he was interrupted several times by defense counsel's objections to his argument, Judge See gave instructions to the jury as to the verdicts which they could return in the case. The jury began its deliberations at 3:30 p. m.

Herndon R. Athey, co-counsel with Rankin in the prosecution of the case, opened arguments of counsel as Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Athey, eloquent at times, told the 12 veniremen, "Insanity is not the defense of the innocent but the refuge of the guilty."

Pointing to Cosner, he said "This man is here pleading for his life because his life is precious to him. But the life of his wife, Hazel Cosner, snuffed out in the early morning of her existence, was also precious to her."

Athey attempted to belittle Cosner's story that he did it for the sake of his children, and said the story about Cosner's mother falling down the stairs was a "mere cover-up."

Cosner Described As Crafty

The assistant prosecutor recounted the events of September 2 and 3, and described Cosner as a crafty, willful killer who contemplated, planned and premeditated for nearly two hours before he crept into the basement for a baseball bat and returned and bashed his wife's brains out.

"If the stamp of approval is put on this defendant in this case," Athey exclaimed, "I hate to think what would happen in this county. There would either be a shortage of baseball bats, or there would be a lot of heads bashed in."

"If Oscar Cosner goes unwhipped of justice," Athey declared, "we might as well replace the statue of Justice atop our court house with the diseased form of the Hag of Hell."

Howard P. Shores was the first attorney to plead for Cosner. He re-read the statement of Cosner, as given to the State Police, and attempted to show that it contained only part of the story.

He showed the jury the two broken pieces of the bat and asked, "Is that the way a sane man kills?" Then he passed the state's exhibits of pictures of the dead woman and the murder-room, and exclaimed, "Does a sane man kill like that?"

Shores told the jury, "if you acquit this boy, thousands of people in Mineral County will say you were right, and few can say you were wrong."

Emory Tyler was the second defense attorney to make a plea before the jury and was followed by H. G. Shores, chief counsel for the defense, who summed up the case and also asked for an acquittal.

Appears As Friend

Tyler, talking calmly and in sharp contrast to the oratory of Athey and young Shores said, "I am appearing before this jury as a friend of the defendant. I am here against my doctor's advice because of my ill health, but I feel I must defend my friend.

"It has been proved here that Cosner's wife was unfaithful to him, and to her family," Tyler continued, "but it is not my intention to cast aspersions on Oscar Cosner's wife. You have been permitted to peep behind the scenes, and you must know she was unfaithful.

"There is nothing more deplorable than an unfaithful wife," Tyler told the jury as he described Cosner as a decent young man, "a timid and tender boy," unable to cope with the situation he had to endure.

Tyler called attention to the alarm clock that was in the bedroom where Cosner killed his wife and said Cosner had set the clock as usual to get up for work the next morning. "Does that look like premeditated murder?" he challenged.

"The mind of man can take so much, and this boy took all he could bear. His mind snapped when his wife goaded him by telling him of her infidelity.

"Place yourself in his place," he

County Board Asks For Accounting Of Savage Dam Funds

Prendergast Raises Question On Costs

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners adopted a resolution yesterday, by unanimous vote, asking for an accounting of funds spent on the Savage River Dam, and the publication of this accounting on or before June 30.

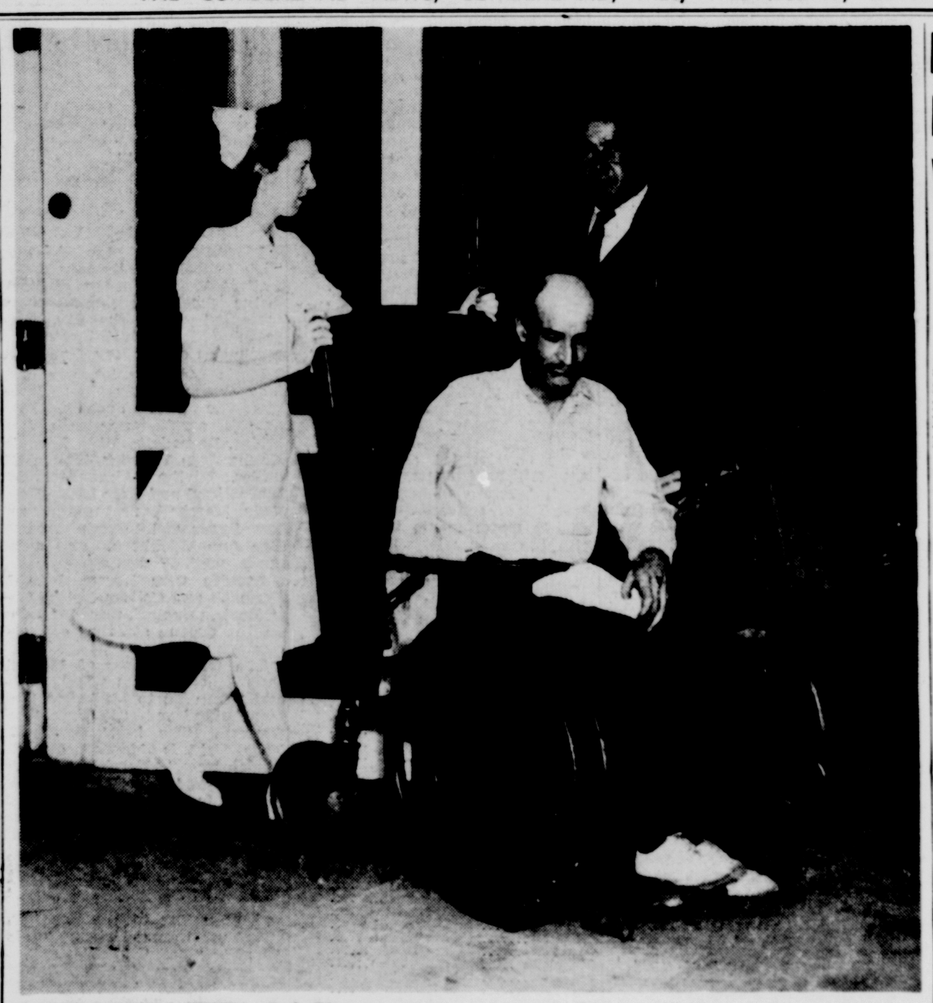

The action was taken after Michael F. Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, appeared before the Board and submitted a lette containing a copy of a letter published in a Baltimore paper. Prendergast reminded the Board it is required by law to make public accountings of all public funds it administers and expressed the view that the Savage River Dam Commission should make a detailed accounting before additional money is appropriated for completion of the project. Prendergast said, "I believe all boards, commissions and groups which handle public funds should make complete accountings."

Prendergast's letter, which was made a part of the Board's minutes, stated that the county appropriated $1,000,000 and the Federal government appropriated $2,000,000, to provide the three million needed as the estimated amount to complete the dam.

After these funds were expended, Prendergast said, an additional $2,225,000 was provided by the Federal government and the dam, at the time work was stopped was said to be 65 per cent completed.

Prendergast raised the question, "On the basis of what has been spent to bring the dam to its present stage, can this commission finish the job with $1,900,000," the amount now sought for finishing the project?

Prendergast, in his letter stated, "everyone in the Cumberand area favors the dam's completion." He also commented, "There is currently much concern over tax exemption requests by some industries in the county, —it would take quite a while for these tax exemptions to total the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Savage River Dam by the county. Let's see what happened to that, and to the $4,225,000 fund appropriated by the Federal government for a dam to aid the industries and the health conditions of the county."

MOVED TO JAIL—Stillman Snow Smith, of near Flintstone, who is accused of fatally shooting his 16-year old wife at their woodland home on Town Creek about two weeks ago, is shown here in a wheel chair as he was moved yesterday from Memorial Hospital to the County Jail, by Sheriff Edward Muir. Smith was hospitalized after he turned the shotgun he used on his wife, upon himself, necessitating the amputation of his right arm. The nurse wheeling Smith from the hospital to the sheriff's car, is Miss Marion Hardman. Deputy Sheriff Edgar J. Lewis, not shown in the photo, assisted in moving Smith to the jail. While in the hospital, Smith was kept under constant armed guard, with three special deputies working in three eight-hour shifts. Smith is being held for action of the next grand jury. Rubber Workers To Employ Full Time President

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, passed by a decisive majority a referendum vote on the proposal to employ a full time president for the 2,500 member local, William Plummer, chairman of the balloting committee reported last night.

Plummer said the membership action will be placed into effect as soon as details are worked out by the union's executive board.

A. E. Johnson, president of the local, who will become the first full time head of the Kelly local, is a charter member of Local 26 and is employed in the curing room of the Kelly plant.

The referendum vote was held beginning Monday night on the third shift and was completed yesterday afternoon.

The election committee, Plummer said, wishes to thank the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company management and police force for "wholehearted" support in conducting the election.

The union's contract, the committee said, allows the union the use of the outer gate for elections but plant officials arranged to make the old shell line employment office in the laboratory building available for the balloting.

Also serving on the committee were Roy E. Davy, Cecil Sampson, P. I. Hamilton and H. A. Jenkins.

68-Year-Old Man Is Found Dead In His Home Here

A 68-year-old retired B. and O. worker was found dead in the bedroom of his home, 414 Grand Avenue, yesterday afternoon and his 71-year-old brother was found bedfast in another room of the home, unable to summon help since he heard his brother fall Monday night.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the man, John T. Dulin, died Monday night about 7:30 o'clock as a result of a coronary occulsion and hardening of the arteries. He had been suffering from a heart condition for some time, he added.

Mr. Dulin, authorities said, was out of his home Monday and was taken home about 6 p. m. by J. R. Furstenberg, a friend, after he suffered a dizzy spell.

His brother, Charles T. Dulin, who made his home with him, told authorities that his brother went upstairs about 7 p. m. Monday, and that he heard him fall a short time later.

Charles Dulin, Dr. Deming said, was in a bed in a room off the kitchen and was unable to get up due to a severe attack of lumbago. He told authorities he tried to get up several times but finally gave up trying.

Authorities said Mr. Furstenberg and H. Moreland went to the home yesterday about 3:30 p. m. to see how Mr. Dulin was getting along and went upstairs only to find the body of the elderly man on the floor.

Officer L. H. Chambers and Sgt. R. R. Johnston, of the city police, aided in the investigation.

Mr. Charles Dulin was later taken to Memorial Hospital and is reported in a good condition.

Both of the brothers were retired. John Dulin, authorities said, was formerly employed as a switch tender at the B. and O. here. There are no immediate survivors.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home.

Complaints Made Regarding Grade Of New Highway

FROSTBURG, May 13 — The Mayor and City Council decided tonight to invite G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, to confer with them following several complaints of Frostburg citizens at a special meeting regarding the grade proposed for the relocation of Route 40 at Eckhart Flat.

Four residents who own property at Eckhart Flat claimed that the proposed grade would mean an elevation of from four to four and one-half feet above the present level in front of their properties, stating that serious damage to the value of their land would result. They asked the council to take action to have surveyors return and change the grade.

Robert Glotfelty, who said his home is valued at $20,000, and Chester Stewart, who said he has refused $12,000 for his home, declared that if the highway is built on the proposed grade seven steps would be necessary to descend from the highway to the level of their lawns.

Both stated that in 1941, when they built their homes, they were informed by the late Leo T. Downey, then district engineer for the State Roads Commission, that the present level of the highway would be lowered rather than raised.

Glotfelty and Stewart said that a representative of the State Roads Commission called at their respective homes today and offered them $1,000 each for a 16-foot width of land along the frontage of their lots, to allow for needed highway space. Both refused the offer pending their appearance at the council meeting.

Others who opposed the proposed grade were Art Carpenter, owner of a lot west of Glotfelty's home, and Edward Minnick who operates Stadium Inn on the opposite side of Eckhart Flat. The latter said he excavated a lot next to the inn six months ago to a depth recommended by State Roads Commission engineers, but that he was informed recently that he must fill in three feet of the excavation to reach the level of the new grade.

Other properties affected are two lots owned by J. Fred Dillon, and the new residence of Edgar Grose. They were not present at the meeting.

Four Frostburg Residents Hurt When Car Upsets

Accident Occurs At Allegany Grove

Four Frostburg residents were injured, none seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding overturned twice and came to rest on its left side in a field along Route 40 at Allegany Grove at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

State Trooper William F. Baker, who investigated, said the car was operated by James D. Aldridge, 62, an employe in the Frostburg postoffice, and that Aldridge lost control of the vehicle on the slippery highway while passing another car and a C. and W. bus.

Aldridge, his wife, Mrs. Janet Aldredge, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Simons, passengers, were pinned in the car for a short time, Baker said. He added that a passerby removed Mrs. Aldridge from the machine and that he, Lt. Charles W. Magaha and Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, of the State Police, removed the other three persons.

One Admitted To Hospital

At Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where the injured were taken for treatment, attaches reported all of them suffered from bruises and abrasions. Mrs. Aldridge was admitted to the hospital but the other three were discharged after being treated.

Trooper Baker said Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge and Mr. and Mrs. Simons had left Frostburg for Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club to attend a dinner but turned about a quarter of a mile from the accident scene and started back to Frostburg for something they had forgotten.

At Allegany Grove, Aldridge was passing another car and the bus when the rear of his car started to weave on the highway, described as "greasy" as a result of a light rain, Baker explained, and then overturned.

Sgt. O'Hara took the injured women to the hospital and Baker drove Aldridge and Simons, who also is a Frostburg postoffice employe, to the hospital.

No Charges Filed

Baker said Aldridge suffered numerous lacerations of the face and head; his wife a laceration of the right eye and lacerations of both legs; Mrs. Simons a laceration of the left knee and that Simons complained of pain in his chest.

No charges have been filed pending completion of the investigation.

Vocke Road Bids To Be Asked Soon

The State Roads Commission will advertise for bids shortly on resurfacing and improving Vocke Road, County Engineer Albert S. Paye said yesterday.

Cost of the project will be shared equally by the county and the federal government under the federal roads program, and when the work is completed the road will be incorporated in the state highway system, Paye said.

All rights-of-way for the work have been acquired at no cost, he added, since residents along the road gave the land without charge. The state had estimated the right-of-way cost at $8,000.

The right-of-way will be widened from 30 to 50 feet and the road surfaced with blacktop under joint supervision of the State Roads Commission and the county, Paye stated.

The road to be improved extends from Braddock Road at Allegany Grove to Winchester Road at the C. and P. underpass, a distance of about three-fifths of a mile.

Bids were asked for the work last year but were rejected because they were excessively high, Paye said. He added that bids to be asked shortly will be on a different design.

AFL Groups Appoint Convention Delegates

C. E. Stutzman, president, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh, secretary, and W. J. Jones, Boilermakers Union, were named delegates of the Allegany Trades Council to the annual Maryland-D. C., Federation of Labor convention to be held in Baltimore beginning May 26.

George D. Cline, B. E. DeBolt and W. Henry Frazier were named to represent Cumberland Typographical Union No. 244 at the convention.

Board Explains School Problem To Mt. Savage

County Can't Build At Present Costs

County Commissioners yesterday replied to a letter and resolution from trustees of the Mt. Savage School, explaining the situation surrounding proposals to build a new school for Mt. Savage.

The Commissioners were requested by Harry Poland, Dr. B. O. Coberly, and Charles T. Burch, to proceed with plans to build the proposed building and to borrow necessary funds as authorized by the Maryland General Assembly.

In the Commissioners' reply to the resolution, it is explained that the County Board opposed the pasage of the bond issue bills for this school, and that building costs at the present time make construction costly and prohibitive. It is also explained in the letter that the School Board has advised the Commissioners that the school program is not hindered at Mt. Savage because of existing structures, and that no action can be taken at the present time.

"Declared Unsafe"

The resolution cited that the present building was declared "unsafe" in 1941 by a registered state architect, and that in the same year a special committee from the legislature inspected the school and agreed with the report. During the 1941 session, House Bill 678 was passed, authorizing the board to borrow $800,000 by issuing bonds, to build schools at Mt. Savage, Ellerslie and Lonaconing.

Work was prevented, however, during the war years, due to lack of materials and labor, it was pointed out.

The trustees also pointed out that House Bill 629 was approved during the recent session of the Legislature, under which the commissioners are authorized to borrow an additional $2,000,000 to build the three schools. It was cited that state aid would also be provided in event the projects are undertaken.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to the Allegany County Board of Education, Tasker G. Lowndes president of the State Board of Education, and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools.

Seeks Another Constable

Magistrate John J. Cullen, Midland, requested the board to appoint a constable for that town, asserting he is "handicapped" because none has been named. The commissioners said a constable at Lonaconing handles the work at Midland, and that "the limit" in constables for the county has been appointed.

Donna Eror requested repairs to the Fairgo Road, off the McMullen Highway, and County Engineer Albert S. Paye, was instructed to investigate.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, advised the board that a dwelling on the East Side School property, located at 532 Central Avenue, has been turned over to the commissioners, since it cannot be used for school purposes.

Bids were accepted on a quantity of materials stored in the County Office Building, Union Street. Abe Feldstein bought paints and varnishes for $290, while some electrical equipment was sold to the Queen City Electric Company for $252.50.

Earl Groves, Oldtown Road, purchased a 1939 Chevrolet dump truck for $900. Other bidders on the vehicle were R. E. Nickel, $480; William P. Roeder, $500; Carl W. Martin, $405; Joseph Laurie, $525. Feldstein bid $240 for the electrical equipment.

J. Leon Bozman, of Baltimore, certified public accountant, was notified that county books are ready for the annual audit.

Arbitrator Rules For Employe In Celanese Case

Question Involved Man Employed While AWOL

In a case involving a situation termed "novel and interesting," Arbitrator Herman A. Gray, of the American Arbitration Association, handed down an opinion in which he said a Celanese employe is entitled to reinstatement in the employe of the company without loss of seniority or any of his other rights, but without back pay.

Gray, in his opinion, said the employe got his job while he was absent without leave from the Army, worked for 20 months and then turned himself in to superior officers, was imprisoned in an Army camp for discipline and subsequently fought through a number of major campaigns in World War II to earn an honorable discharge, the Good Conduct medal and other decorations.

The claim for any wage loss the employe, identified as Wilbert H. Smith, may have suffered was waived, according to Gray, who conducted arbitration proceedings between the Celanese Corporation and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, in the matter at the Court House here on February 21.

"Perpetrated A Fraud"

It is true, as the company contends, that Smith "perpetrated a fraud" when he first entered its employ, Gray said, but he added that the fraud was against the United States government and not against the company.

The government exacted a penalty in full and regards the wrong done "as atoned for" since it sent Smith "into the front lines" and "thereafter conferred upon him a Good Conduct medal and granted him an honorable discharge, Gray's opinion stated.

It added that the company "waived any complaint it may have had" when it took Smith back into its employ after his discharge from the Army.

A former employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Smith enlisted in the Army in 1937 for three years and re-enlisted for a similar period on February 29, 1940, Gray said, pointing out that Smith at that time received a 30-day furlough but did not return to the Army at its expiration.

On April 30, 1940, Smith, while "still under duty to return to the Army," applied for employment at the Cumberland plant of the Celanese Corporation and received a job, not disclosing to the company that he "had deserted from the Army," according to the opinion.

"Had Change of Heart"

Smith subsequently worked for the company for 20 months, and then "had a change of heart," Gray stated, leaving Cumberland and reporting to his superior officers at Fort Meade.

He said Smith was disciplined by the Army and sent to Camp Shelby, Miss., where he served a term of imprisonment, but later was sent abroad and fought through a number of campaigns.

On December 27, 1945, Smith applied for reemployment in the spinning engineering department in which he had previously worked, but was refused until he exhibited his discharge papers, which he did on February 12, 1946, Gray stated.

He pointed out that the discharge papers revealed that at the time Smith was first employed by the company he was an enlisted man and was away from the Army without leave. On the basis of this information, Gray stated, the company took the position that Smith was not entitled to reemployment rights and refused to reinstate him in his old position although he later was employed in the cellulose acetate department as a new employe, which resulted in the loss of his seniority standing and other rights "flowing from the length of his prior service."

Whether Smith is entitled to the benefits of the Selective Service Act regarding reemployment rights of veterans is a matter "open to debate," Gray said, but he added that the case could be decided on the basis of provisions contained in the collective labor agreements entered into between the company and the union during the period involved.

Finan To Command 83rd ORC Battalion

Major Thomas B. Finan has been named commanding officer of the 83rd Infantry Battalion, 208th Composite Group, Officers Reserve Corps, by headquarters of the Second Army, Capt. Thomas Stafford, unit instructor, announced last night following a meeting of battalion officers.

Finan will announce staff officers and their assignments at a later date, Stafford said.

He added that one company of the battalion will be formed in Oakland and one possibly in Frostburg.

Col. Walter L. McCormick, senior instructor for the ORC in Maryland, and Lt. Col. Frank J. Burks, ordnance instructor for Maryland, attended the meeting along with Lt. Col. John L. Delaney, commanding officer of the 208th Composite Group, and Lt. Col. Justin D. Paddleford, commanding officer of the 82nd Battalion.

To Attend Meeting

Commissioner William J. Edwards and Charles J. Bruce, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, will attend a joint meeting in Washington, D. Golladay Completes Design For New All-Plastic Plane

Will Present Idea To Army Air Force

A. Derr Golladay, 403 Washington Street, president of the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, Mexico Farms, here, has completed the design of a new, heavier-than-air craft, with radical departures in plane construction, and will leave this weekend to exhibit his drawings and model at the Army Air Force Development Laboratories, Dayton, Ohio.

Golladay, rated as a top-notch airplane designer and aeronautical engineer, worked on the development of the famed B-29 during the war. For some months past, he has been putting the finishing touches on his idea of a new type ship, which is designed to speed production, increase safety and efficiency, and at the same time lower production costs and retail price of commercial ships.

The ship Golladay has designed is not only a departure from present airplanes in type and design, Golladay explained, but is to be constructed entirely of reinforced plastic.

Whole Plane Is Plastic

All the structure of the plane, including even the "skin", will be contact pressure-molded. In manufacture, he proposes to mold and bake the ship for "cure" in a large oven. Details of performance and construction must remain secret, he explained last night, because of the government's interest.

Golladay said this new type of construction, if successful, would propably reduce the development time of a new airplane from between the usual three to seven years, to less than one year. This would mean a tremendous saving in manpower and time, especially in time of war, he declared.

As it now stands in the field of aviation, he explained, nearly all planes being test flown, are obsolete as far as experimental work is concerned, since additional data is discovered faster than the planes can be produced. The methid Golladay has been working on, will put drawing board ideas into actual test-flight much quicker and at reduced cost, he believes.

Stronger Structural Members

Numerous parts of planes are now being constructed of plastic substances, Golladay continued. Most of these have proven highly successful. However, at present, no plane has been built using plastics entirely in construction throughout, especially in the highly loaded structural members, where strength and stress and strain are considerations. Golladay, in discussing his model, showed how he has attempted to make this construction possible, with plastic substances.

An entirely new design technique has been made necessary to use plastic for construction, and he terms his design "radical to present day conceptions."

Golladay has designed the ship to house powerplants of the near future, rather than present type engines, and it can also be used as an engineless sail-plane or glider, to be towed aloft. Likewise it

Revised Estimate On Bridge Cost May Be Sought

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission yesterday made arrangements with Gustav Requardt, partner in the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, to supply the local group with information regarding the cost of preparing revised estimates on funds needed to build the proposed crosstown overhead viaduct and of supplying preliminary sketches of the structure.

At a conference with the commission and members of the City Council in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, Requardt advised the group to secure the new estimates and sketches preliminary to approaching the State Roads Commission regarding its share of the total cost. He said the commission is "amenable" to the Cumberland project because of the traffic bottleneck which exists in the city.

Although in January, 1946, estimated cost of building the viaduct amounted to $2,440,000, construction costs have increased from 20 to 25 per cent since then, Requardt said. He pointed out that detailed plans will have to be drawn before any construction can start, estimating the cost of such plans to amount to about four or five per cent of the total cost of building the four-lane overhead bridge.

H. W. Smith, commission secretary, pointed out that the total cost would be borne by the city, the railroads, the State Roads Commission and the federal government if the plans are approved. He added that Baltimore Street merchants favor the plan, and that the State Roads Commission has informed

County Group Wants To Delay Purchase

An effort is being made by a group of county employees and other individuals, to obtain enough signatures to petitions, to provide for a referendum on the laws which would provide for the purchase of voting machines in Allegany County.

William A. Gunter, former state senator and local attorney and Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of County Commissioners were identified yesterday at the Court House as the sponsors of the movement. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county board of commissioners is distributing copies of the petitions to those who volunteer to obtain signatures.

There are copies of the petitions at the County Tax Collector's office, where visitors to the Court House are being asked to sign them. Other county employes are soliciting signatures.

The Board of County Commissioners opposed the passage of legislation providing for use of voting machines in this county, and protested on numerous occasions the expenditure of $140,000 for the necessary machines. The county delegation to Annapolis, acting on advice from many local citizens who think the machines desirable, voted the bills through and Governor William P. Lane signed them into law.

There are actually two petitions. One is to refer Chapter 675 of the Acts of 1947 to the voters for approval or rejection; and the other is to refer Chapter 669 of the acts of 1947 to the voters for approval or rejection.

Chapter 675, provides, "In the next primary and general election to be held in 1948 and thereafter in all elections in Allegany County, the use of voting machines shall be mandatory, and it shall be the duty of the Board of Election Supervisors of Allegany County to provide a sufficient number of voting machines to equip every polling place."

Chapter 669, provides, "the County Commissioners of Allegany County are hereby authorized and directed to borrow upon the faith and credit of the County, the amount of $140,000," for the purpose of buying voting machines.

The Act further provides that the County Commissioners shall sell bonds not exceeding three per cent per annum interest, or issue promissory notes or other indebtedness up to the amount of $140,000 with $7,000 to be retired each year until all the indebtedness is repaid.

In other words, one Act makes the purchase and use of voting machines in the 1948 elections mandatory, and the other Act provides the necessary authority for the County Commissioners to borrow money with which to buy the machines.

Sponsors of the petitions to offset this mandatory action, say that a referendum on such measures can be demanded by the voters, if 10 per cent of those who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election sign the petition. This means that 2,500 persons must sign the two petitions before June 1, the date the new laws become effective.
